DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine they know, it is COMPLETELY TOLERABLE, and this becomes obsolete. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o214w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that leave the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.—Tennessee is not given to poesy as a rule, but still Tennessee has a poet. His name is W. F. Peffer, and Clarksville is where he has a local habitation. Among other things Mr. Peffer treats of the capital question. He thinks the seat of government ought to be removed. His views in this regard are sound, as attested by the following taken from his new book entitled "Miriorama."

And stop not here. The seat of government
Potomac's placid banks must bid adieu,
That marble pile within whose walls were heard
The wisdom of a Madison, a Webster's sense;
An Adams' strength, a Clay's bold eloquence;
The threats of a Calhoun, a Jackson's ring;
A Randolph's pungent wit, a Butler's sting;
A Hayne's menace, a Brooks' burning hate;
A Clem's honor, and a Douglas's strong debate;
A Benton's energy, a Sumner's love;
A Seward's prophecy, a Stephens's war;
To day is left behind this moving age
Which westward flies and still goes west.
Yes, from the statue emblem on its dome
To deep foundation stone, each part
Must be removed and westward of
The parent stream be built anew.
If this may not be done, in peace then let
It rest—a monument of freemen's work;
A where the nation's heart so long has beat;
Where name of Washington the world has learned
In reverence and admiration to repeat.
There let great National Schools arise wherein Columbia's youth may learn the art
Of all impartial and wise government.
"Go west? Go west?" you ask; "Then where?"
Upon the soil of fair young Kansas was
The first great battle for the right fought out;
And fit commemoration of that noble work
Would be give her the Nation's Capitol.
She's central and she's safe; she's true.

Isaiah L. Robinson, of Fremont, has nearly completed a three story carriage warehouse of wood with a brick basement, on Elm street, Nashua. Mr. R. manufactures his carriages at Fremont, but will remove his establisment to N. if he finds encouragement, his present building being intended for a store and sale house.

Misses Sarah J. Cole and Marianna and Sarah Sanborn of Rochester, have recently gone to Halifax County, Viaginia, where they are to engage in teaching the children of the freedmen.

An association has been formed in Rochester, composed of men who have formed the habit of using intoxicating liquor. They band themselves together for the purpose of aiding each other in abstaining from its use.—This is the Washingtonian system revived.

HOW DEXTER IS SHOD.—Each shoe is carefully balanced. The surface which comes in contact with the ground slightly curves from heel to toe, so that when the horse is standing firm the principal weight is borne by heel and center, no heavy pressure being felt upon the toe. Just as a line drawn from the heel to the toe of a man's boot would demonstrate a slight curve, so is the natural curve given to each of Dexter's shoes. When a man walks there is a rising, sloping action from heel to toe, and when a horse is trotting there is a rolling motion from the back part of a hoof to the front. Acknowledging this principal to be correct, it stands to reason that a horse will gather more quickly and with less friction if, instead of the heel and toe being forced to the same level, the former is raised a little higher than the latter.

To secure exact proportion to this cure, Mr. Bonner takes each shoe and places it on the smooth surface of a marble slab, and weighs it with a critical eye. In the toe of each shoe a slight excavation or sloping indenture is made, for the purpose of giving firmness to the step of the horse. By the force of concussion the soft earth is forced up into this excavation, so that in rising from heel to toe the shoe does not slip backward. This sloping indenture must be carefully proportioned to the size and weight of the shoe, for otherwise it might create friction and prove a positive drawback, instead of an assistant.

This mode of shoeing certainly has worked well in Dexter's case, for the marvel is still a marvel, and all of his recent performances, which have so astonished the world, have been made in shoes constructed after the pattern described.—Turf, Field and Farm.

RECLAIMING MEADOWS.—The most profitable labor a farmer can engage in after the haying season is over, is to plow and drain low and meadow lands, manure them and seed down to grass. Full remuneration for cost and labor is often received in the grass crop the succeeding season. For several years we have been engaged in this work, and have found no kind of labor upon the farm pay so promptly and generously as this. Last year we had a small piece of meadow, one and a half acres, which had lain for may years worthless; it was full of hassocks, rushes, wire grass, stumps and rocks—a miserable waste. We put three men into it, with a yoke of heavy oxen, in September, and before the month was out it was drained, pulverized, seeded, and made as mellow and level as a prairie.

This year, in July, we cut the heaviest swath of timothy on that meadow of any upon the farm. Farmers, your neglected lowlands are the best part of your farms; do not allow them to remain the home of tadpoles and bullfrogs; with proper care, they will fill your barns with the rich grasses of the uplands.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

THE GAZETTE for 1870.—New Subscribers paying $2 for the New Hampshire Gazette for the year 1870, will receive the paper free until Jan. 1st.

DISASTERS.—The British Schooner Mary A. Kelly, a good vessel of 300 tons, Kelley master, from St. Andrews for Boston, with lumber, was struck by the gale of Wednesday night, off the Eastern Jaffrey, about twenty miles outside the Shoals, and was completely dismantled—masts carried away, decks swept, and hull filled with water. The crew subsisted on raw vegetables without (fresh) water until Friday noon, when they were taken off by British brig Devonshire and taken to Portland, thoroughly exhausted.

Capt. Elias Tarlton, of the schooner Willie Seavey, and Capt. Thomas White of the schooner Lone Star, (two Newcastle fishing vessels,) took the disabled hulk in tow, and after great exertions, during which a new 9-inch hawser was snapped, they succeeded in bringing her to an anchor in Portsmouth lower harbor, about midnight of Friday, just in season to escape the new gale. Their prize, loaded, is estimated to be worth $8000 to $10,000, of which we believe the salvage in such cases is one-half.

A barn at Newington was blown down, killing a horse and cow.

THE BANK ROBBER.—Last week we mentioned the fact that a person had been arrested in Boston, having burglar's tools in his possession, and also suspected of having been engaged in the attempt to rob the Rochester bank. On Saturday last, the suspected person, John Poxley, was brought before the Superior Court in Boston, charged with having burglar's tools in his possession.

At the time for his examination, officers from New York made their appearance, and announced the prisoner to be an escaped convict from N. Y. State prison at Sing Sing, with an unexpired term of four years for breaking and entering. As this sentence would have to be concluded, and probably five years more for the escape, the District Attorney consented to the indictment being laid on file, and Poxley, who has several aliases, was turned over to the authority of the New York officers.

PENSION FRAUDS. — We learn that Wm. F. O'Niel and Geo. T. Wentworth, of Dover, were arrested by the U. S. Marshal, and taken to Concord on Wednesday for examination for defrauding the Pension office, by obtaining a pension for the widow of John Smith, late of Ossipee, on the pretence that she was dependent on her son, who was killed in battle in one of our New Hampshire regiments, for her support. Rumor says $1200 pension money was obtained, $450 of which was taken by O'Neil and Wentworth for their services. Rumor also says that the witnesses to the widow's dependence are well known in that capacity in our County Courts; also, that Pension matters are to be overhauled and looked into generally.—Rochester Courier.

☞ Benjamin Shelbonan and John Watts of Louisville, have instituted a suit against Robert Carruthers, John Allen, and others, claiming $60,000 damages. The plaintiffs state that the defendants, acting as a vigilance committee, in order to exort some confession regarding crimes committed in Jefferson and Spencer counties, hanged them till they were about dead, and upon the plaintiffs refusing to reply to the demands of the defendants, they were ordered to leave the county under penalty of death.

☞ They keep Thanksgiving down East. The Bangor Jeffersonian cautions its readers, "Don't spice the victuals too much, and don't eat yourselves blind," and the Aroostook Sunrise suspends publication for a week, until "after Thanksgiving is over and we get well," says the editor.

—"But if I put my money in the savings-bank," inquired one of the newly arrived, "when can I draw it out again?" "Och," replied his friend, "sure an' if you put it in to-day, you can draw it out again to-morrow by giving a fortnight's notice."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, bringing a variation of from ninety to one hundred degree of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conducive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of due care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is pre-disposed to contract them. The most and most annoying of these disorders is dyspepsia, once supposed to be incurable, but which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been provided in the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure the old native whiskey formerly prescribed by physicians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, has effectually exploded this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by some of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known, and, unlike most new things it was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this generation to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by pharmaceutic art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the nauseous and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Cronp, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new candy; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the pale of question of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "truth is strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to submit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

I have also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—when used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An encrose of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom, I was reluctant to part and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope so long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I throw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harassing cough abated; the hectic flush upon the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and vigor. From a mere to life I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I can bless with an apetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, these wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. As cures seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was plied beside and on all sides. I had to listen daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for hand consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine, that I might be of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to the diseases of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order that I may satisfy myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as my mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the brink of the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and I think I may modestly and arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefited as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, Philadelphia, every Tuesday.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is Fifty Dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

NAVY YARD DISCHARGES.—49 Laborers and 50 Carpenters were discharged from the Constructor's Department; and 16 Laborers, 15 Machinists, 6 Boiler Makers, 6 Foundrymen, 4 Blacksmiths, 2 Pattern Makers, 2 Painters and 1 Plumber,—in the Steam Engineering Department, on Saturday. 151 in all.

THE REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES, Saturday evening, were largely attended and harmonious—though the friends of the various candidates urged their favorites with zeal. In Ward One, the whole number of votes thrown for Aldermen was 223; necessary for a choice, 112. Geo. W. Pendexter had 220; John Pender, 177; Albert A. Fernald, 111; Richard H. Waldron, 93; John S. Harvey, 37; Joseph Spinney, 13. Albert A. Fernald was then nominated as the third candidate, by acclamation. For members of the Common Council, 214 votes were cast; necessary for a choice, 108. John G. Tibbetts had 168; Israel P. Miller, 161; James A. Waterhouse, 158; James H. Thompson, 108; A. F. Dixon, 59; scattering, 7; and Messrs. Tibbetts, Miller, Waterhouse and Thompson were nominated.

In Ward Two, 145 votes were cast for Aldermen; necessary for a choice, 73. Frank W. Miller had 125; Thomas E. O. Marvin, 105; Thomas S. Nowell, 86; C. Dwight Hanscom, 48; scattering, 49. Messrs. Miller, Marvin and Nowell were declared the nominees. For members of the Common Council, 132 votes were thrown; necessary for a choice, 67. John T. French had 76; Chas. E. Plaisted, 71; Cooledge Perry, 69; Robert C. Sides, Jr., 68; Chas. H. Sides, 65; Samuel H. Kingsbury, 57; Selwin B. Plummer, 54; John Woods, 46; scattering, 3;—and Messrs. French, Plaisted, Perry and R. C. Sides, Jr., were nominated,

It will be seen that four of the present Aldermen have been renominated—Messrs. Slater and Spinney retiring after two years' service; the new candidates being Messrs. Fernald of Ward One and Marvin of Ward Two. Mr. Chas. E. Plaisted of Ward Two is the only member of the Council re-nominated—all having served two years or more.

WHO SHALL BE MAYOR? For three successive years the Republicans, (?) so called, of Portsmouth, have aided or allowed the Opposition party to defeat the Republican candidate at the polls; and for the past two years, this faction have had the Mayor. For a party having a clear majority, to thus set up three different candidates, and then desert or oppose them to defeat, is so absurd and insulting, that it might soon cease to be matter for wonder, if it should come to be that no respectable man with a decent self-regard would consent to be candidate for such usage.

In the present contest, as in the others alluded to—nothing that we can see will justify any single republican in deserting the party standard he professes to regard. Mr. Adams is a Republican, fairly nominated; and between him and any copperhead whomsoever, no Republican worthy the name should hesitate an instant in choosing.

But there are really no questions at issue between the two parties, (not to mention the third,) except the endorsement of the late war policy and the action inevitably growing out of it—and to aid and support the Opposition candidate, is to approve all the Copperheads have done or would do. Politically, there is no doubt as to how Republicans should select; morally and socially, the Republican candidate is at no disadvantage; nor need any one imagine that Mr. Adams would be one the whit less able, diligent and efficient Mayor than any of his predecessors.

Let, then, every man who wishes well for the Republican party, and the city, see to it that his action at the polls to-morrow, agrees with his profession,—which cannot be the case, should he be found among the stayaways or the bolters. And to our mind, a man who cannot sink all personal and private considerations in regard for the public welfare and his party success, has but a narrow idea of the responsibilities of a popular government. We hope all, even those who have been most earnest at caucuses, will vote the whole ticket.

The gale of Saturday blew down the Boston Coliseum—all that had not been taken down.

☞ Particularly complimentary—the unanimous vote given Capt. Thacher at the largest Republican caucus ever held in Portsmouth.

☞ The Gale of Saturday morning, though brief, is said by many to have been the most severe in our harbor since 1861. The tide ran very high, and the breakers were grand. We hear of few accidents as yet. The schooner Abigail Haynes, Albert Smith master, dragged her anchor in the harbor, and went ashore on the rocks at Kittery Point.

—A circus proprietor in Ohio, whose living wild beasts of prey were seized for debt, claimed exemption of his performing mules from attachment on the ground that they were his homestead. The claim was not allowed.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them, at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

Since closing the GREAT CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD LOAN, which meets all these requirements, we have carefully examined many others, but have found no other which would fully do so, until the following was placed in our hands:

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

This Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 1md&wn22

A PACIFIC RAILWAY

GOLD LOAN $6,500,000.

We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the

KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,

For the sale of its

NEW SEVEN PER CENT.

Thirty Year Gold Loan,

Free from Tax.

This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.

First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds,

secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 337 miles of which 13 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchise of this first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas,

And in successful operation for 437 miles west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all its expenses and existing obligations, besides MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the

extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 30th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 7 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 120 in U. S. Bonds, as

A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.

The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of

and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covered by this mortgage at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.

The Bonds have

THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,

from May 1, 1869, and will pay

SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.

The principal of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be PAYABLE IN FRANKFORT, LONDON OR N. YORK at option of the holder, with notice, at the following rates:

On $1,000 Bond in N. Y. $35 (gold) each half year.
" London....£7 s5. 10. "
" Frankfort..87 fir. 30 krtzs., "

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a

FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT, in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even Better than Government Securities.

The Bonds will be sold for the present at

96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency,

the Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.

The attention of investors is invited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.

Morning Chronicle.

THE PINE-TREE SHILLINGS.

A Story of the Olden Time.

Captain John Hull was the mint-master of Massachusetts, and coined all the money that was made. His was a new line of business; for, in the early days of the colony, the current coinage consisted of the gold and silver money of England, Portugal and Spain. These coins being scarce the people were enforced to barter their commodities, instead of selling them. For instance, if a man wanted to buy a coat he perhaps exchanged a bearskin for it; if he wished a barrel of molasses, he might purchase it for a pile of pine boards. Musket balls were used instead of farthings.

The Indians had a sort of money they called wampum, which was made of clamshells, and this strange sort of specie was likewise taken in payment of debt by the English settlers. Bank-bills had never been heard of. There was not money enough of any kind, in many parts of the country, to pay their ministers, so that they had sometimes to take quintals of fish, bushels of corn, or cords of wood instead of silver and gold.

As the people grew more numerous, and their trade with one another increased, the General Court passed a law for establishing a coinage of shillings and sixpences. Capt. Hull was appointed to manufacture this money, and was to have one shilling out of every twenty, to pay him for his trouble of making them.

Hereupon, all the old silver in the colony was handed over to Captain Hull. The battered silver cans and tankards, I suppose, and silver buckles, and broken spoons, and silver hilts of swords that had figured at court—all such curious old articles—were doubtless thrown into the melting-pot together. But by far the greatest part of the silver consisted of bullion from the mines of South America, which the English buccaneers (who were little less than pirates) had taken from the Spaniards and brought to Massachusetts.

All this old and new silver being melted down and coined, the result was an immense amount of splendid shillings, sixpences and threepences. Each had the date of 1653 on one side, and the figure of a pine-tree on the other. Hence they were called pine-tree shillings; and for every twenty shillings that he coined, you remember, Captain John Hull was entitled to one shilling in his pocket. The magistrates soon began to suspect that the mint master would have the best of the bargain.

They offered him a large sum if he would give up that twentieth shilling which he was constantly dropping into his pocket. But Captain Hull declared that he was perfectly satisfied with the shilling; and well he might be, for so diligently did he labor, that in a few years, his pockets, his money bags, and his strong box were overflowing with pine-tree shillings. This was probably the case when he came into possession of his grand-father's chair; and, as he worked so hard at the mint, it was certainly proper that he should have a comfortable one to rest himself on.

When the master was grown very rich, a young man—Samuel Sewell, by name—came courting his only daughter. His daughter,—whose name I do not know, but we will call her Betsey—was a fine hearty damsel, by no means as slender as some young ladies of our days. On the contrary having always fed heartily on pumpkin pies, doughnuts, Indian pudding and other puritan dainties, she was as round and plump as a pudding. With this round, rosy Miss Betsey did Samuel Seward fall in love, and as he was a young man of good character, and industrious in his business, and a member of the church, the mint-master readily gave his consent.

"Yes, you may take her," said he, in a rough way, "and you will find her a heavy burden enough."

On the wedding day, we may suppose honest John Hull dressed in a plain coat, all the buttons of which were made of pine-tree shillings. The buttons of his waistcoat were sixpences, and the knees of his small-clothes were buttoned with silver threepences. Thus attired he sat with great dignity in his grandfather's chair; and being a portly old gentleman, he completely filled it from elbow to elbow. On the opposite side of the room, between her bridesmaids, sat Miss Betsey. She was blushing with all her might and looked like a full-grown peony, a great red apple, or any round and scarlet object.

There, too, was the bridegroom, dressed in a fine purple coat, and gold lace waistcoat, with as much other finery as the Puritan laws would allow him to put on—his hair cropped close to his head, because Gov. Endicott had forbidden any man to wear it below his ears. But he was a very personable young man and so thought the bridesmaids and Miss Betsey herself.

The mint-master was much pleased with his new son-in-law, especially as he had said nothing at all about her portion. So, when the marriage ceremony was over, Capt. Hull whispered a word or two to his men servants, who immediately went out and returned lugging in a large pair of scales. They were such a pair as wholesale merchants used for weighing a bulky commodity was now to be weighed in them.

"Daughter Betsey," said the mint master, "go into one side of the scales."

Miss Betsey—or Mrs. Sewell as we must now call her—did as she was bid, like a dutiful child, without any questions of why or wherefore. But what her father could mean, unless it was to make her husband pay for her by the pound (in which case she would be a dear bargain) she had not the least idea.

"And now," said honest John Hull to his servants; "bring me that box hither."

The box to which the mint-master pointed was a huge square, iron-bound oak chest; it was big enough, my children, for you all four to play hide-and seek in.

The servants tugged with might and main, but could not lift this enormous receptacle, and were finally obliged to drag it across the floor.

Captain Hull then took a key out of his girdle, unlocked the chest, and lifted the ponderous lid. Behold! it was full to the brim of bright pine tree shillings, fresh from the mint, and Samuel Sewell thought that his father-in-law had got possession of all the money in the Massachusetts treasury; but it was the mint-master's honest share of the coinage.

Then the servants, at Captain Hull's command, heaped double handfuls of shillings; handful and handful were thrown in, till plump and ponderous as she was, they weighed the young lady from the floor.

"There, son Sewell," cried the honest mint-master, resuming his seat in his grandfather's chair, "take these shillings for my daughter's portion Use her kindly, and thank heaven for her, for it is not every wife who is worth her weight in silver."

The children laughed heartily at this legend, and would hardly be convinced that grandfather had not coined it out of his head. He assured them faithfully, however, that he had found it in the pages of a grave historian, and had merely tried to tell it in somewhat funnier style.

—An Indian preacher was asked what pay he received. "Some whisky, little tobacco, something to eat sometimes." "Don't you get any money?" "No money." "Isn't that rather poor pay?" "Yes, poor pay, but poor preach."

—"Why don't you limit yourself?" said a physician to an intemperate person. "Set down a stake that you will go so far and no farther." "I do," replied the other; "but I set it so far off that I always get drunk before I get to it."

—"Your wife's fat, but she's not handsome, Smith," "Well, Jones, that's expressing your opinion plump and plain, anyhow." "You are right, Smith; that's exactly my notion; she's very plump and very plain."

From the Journal.

AN INCIDENT IN THE LIFE OF THE RAMBLER.—In the Biographical notice of the "Rambles about Portsmouth," which has been prepared for the second series, the writer, W. H. Y. Hackett, Esq., gives the following amusing incident in the history of the earlier life of the author. He says:

"It was formerly the custom among the publishers of newspapers, to circulate, in or with the number of the paper issued on the first of January in each year, a poetical address to their patrons, called the Carrier's Address. Many years ago, and while the late Isaac Hill published the New Hampshire Patriot, he offered a set of Sir Walter Scott's Poetical Works for the best "Carrier's Address" for the then approaching first of January. Mr. Brewster with several others competed for this prize. Among the many Addresses offered was one to which Mr. Hill, himself a poet, gave the decided preference, and it was the same to which the Committee afterwards awarded the prize. Mr. Hill, supposing the successful Address to have been the production of a lady, remarked that this circumstance would somewhat moderate the disappointment of the unsuccessful competitors. When the award was made and the opening of the envelope revealed Mr. Brewster as the writer, Mr. Hill was quite as much disappointed as any of the authors of the "rejected addresses." He was not more surprised to find that the prize was not to be given to a lady than that it was to be given to an editor and political opponent. The reader will see that he judged much better of the merits than of the source of the successful Address. The prize was duly forwarded, and is now a cherished treasure in the library of Mr. Brewster."

This successful Address was the "History of News—Birth of the Press;" and is given in full in the second series of the Rambles, just issued, as being appropriate, alike from its origin and subject, to the profession of the writer, and as giving a fair specimen of his poetical writings.

TOPPAN DINNER.—The usual Thanksgiving dinner to the unfortunate poor at the Portsmouth Alms House, provided by funds derived from the bequest of the late Hon. Christopher Toppan, was furnished on Thursday. The interest of the fund for some years past has not been sufficient to furnish the necessary supply of poultry for the large number usually at the house, and the deficiency has been supplied from the city treasury. This year however the family is much smaller than in former years, whole number of paupers at the house being only twenty-two.

No crowned king could with this fowl compare
In his majestic step and stately air.

Messrs. Butler & Leighton disposed of a monster Turkey on Wednesday, weighing twenty-two and a half pounds, to a gentleman of Salem, Mass.

He whose sweet gobbles have so oft been heard,
Is gobbled up himself by human jaws—
So goes the world, what's happiness to me,
Another's direst curse, perchance may be.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.

The fine clipper ship Semiramis, Capt. Gerrish, with a full cargo, has just left for San Francisco. It was most pleasant to see so many familiar Portsmouth faces among her officers and crew. Favoring gales attend them, a successful voyage, and safe return.

The Chronicle.

TAKING HIS PAY IN TRADE.—A lathy looking fellow entered a down-east restaurant, and ordered a double stew of oysters. The man who kept the restaurant was a small red-headed individual, evidently very high-tempered. He prepared the stew in quick time, and the lathy fellow sat down to his repast, and ate with an enviable relish; after which he selected a first-class cigar, regaled himself with a mug of foaming ale, sitting with his feet lifted upon the top of the stove.

He was very deliberate, and perfectly self-possessed.

After the cigar had mostly disappeared in smoke, he called for his bill.

"Sixty-five cents," said the proprietor.

"How is that?' asked the lath.

"Fifty cents for the double stew and fifteen cents for the cigar."

"You forgot the ale," remarked the lathy fellow, looking quite serious.

"Ah, yes, that is ten cents more—seventy-five cents."

"Well, I am ready to pay it."

The red-headed man made no reply, and the fellow kept his seat.

"I tell you I am ready to pay the bill."

"Well, pay it, then," said the proprietor.

"I ain't got any money."

"Hain't got any money?" repeated the man of refreshments.

"Not a darned cent."

The red-headed man opened his eyes.

"Then how do you expect to pay your bill?"

"Well, I'll tell you—I'll stand seventy-five cents worth of your jaw—so go ahead!"

The red-headed man was the maddest individual ever seen. He seized the nut-cracker and let fly at the head of the offender with a will; but it only hit the chair back, and broke its own handle.

The lathy fellow had gone. He vacated his seat at the nick of time, and the last seen of him, he was walking very leisurely down the street.

ONIONS FOR POULTRY.—It is a fact well known to owners of poultry that the occasional use of onions, to be mixed and fed to poultry with their other food, is one of the surest ways of keeping a yard of poultry in health. I am afraid it has not received the attention and use that its merits really demand. I am well satisfied that the use of this vegetable would prevent three-fourths of the disease that a poultry yard is subject to.

Not that it is a cure-all after disease has once secured a hold, but I know that I cured cases of most severe croup by its use after standard remedies had failed. I became convinced that an article like this would cure. The occasional use of it would be a preventive, and such I have found it to be not only in croup, but in all those diseases that poultry are liable to under carelessness and mismanagement. Fowls will readily eat it if it is sliced fine and mixed with their food. Give it as often as once a week—oftener if you choose—it will do them good. Make a trial of this vegetable, breeders of poultry, and then you will know for a certainty how to appreciate it.

"IT IS AN ILL WIND THAT BLOWS NOBODY ANY GOOD."—The New York Observer says:—

We joined the Irish Rebellion last week, so far as the Irish proposition to refuse to drink whiskey goes. We now go one step forward in the Rebellion; a Fenian organization in Ireland says tobacco pays so much revenue to the British Government that it will seriously cripple its income to give up the use of it. All patriotic Irishmen are therefore called on to abstain from the use of tobacco. We wish to be counted in for that also. At this rate the Irish Rebellion will prove a great blessing to Ireland.

—A London letter states that Mr. George Leigh, whose mother, Hon. Augusta Leigh, half-sister of Byron, is charged with incest in Mrs. Stowe's famous article, has begun or immediately will begin an action at law, laying the damages at a very large figure, against the publishers of Macmillan's Magazine, who not only published Mrs. Stowe's article, but prefaced it with a very strong endorsement of their own. There is a strong probability that a similar action will be brought against the publishers of the Atlantic Monthly.

—There is no custom which is more annoying to quiet folks who go to lectures, concerts or theatres than that of "taking drinks" between the parts or acts. The moment the first pause in the performance occurs, away go an eager crowd of men, as if they had but five minutes to live, and the loss of a moment would be an irreparable misfortune. The concert or play is generally resumed before they come rushing back, bringing with them a fine odor of whiskey and rum, and disturbing decent people who can manage to go an hour at a time without recourse to the bottle.—N. Y. Times.

Wholesale Suicide.—A "drama of the sea" that, in scenes of horror and incidents of death, stands forth with unfortunate prominence, has just been brought under public notice. Since Sunday, two vessels carrying coolies have arrived—the Salvadorian ship Macao, with 400 Colonos Asiatioas, and the French bark Tamaris, with only sixty-eight. It is upon the latter vessel that the "drama" occurred. Having left Macao for Havana on February 6th, with three hundred indentured Chinese, a Chinese doctor, Portuguese interpreter, a captain and a crew of eighteen men, the vessel sailed to within 270 miles of Java without anything notable happening on board; but, then and there, the identured Chinese revolted and killed the captain (Rannie) and the interpreter. The crew, powerless to resist the infuriated Celestials, took to the boats, which they launched and then abandoned the vessel. They were fortunate enough to reach Java in a few days, and reported the affair to the Dutch authorities. A Dutch war vessel was at once sent in pursuit of the Tamaris, but had to search for her thirty days before meeting her.

After a slight resistance the mutinied Chinese in possession of her surrendered, and the Chinese captain and other Chinese officials installed on board after the crew abandoned her, as well as the majority of the other Chinese on board, were loaded with chains and kept in the hold. The Tamaris was then conveyed to Padang, where a new captain (Casolis) and the old crew of eighteen men were put on board, and then she started once more for Havana.

Of the 300 coolies taken on at Macao, fifty-five perished in the mutiny and in resisting the Dutch war vessel, so that the second start was made with only 245 coolies on board. When these coolies ascertained that they were after all to be taken to Cuba, they became desperate, and at every opportunity jumped overboard. Many deprived of the opportunity to drown themselves, committed suicide by actual starvation. This felo-de-se-ing continued nearly the whole voyage, so that when the Tamaris reached Havana she had, as stated, only sixty-eight Chinese on board—no less than 232 having perished during the eventful voyage of nine months' duration. It is useless to add that the trip has been a losing one to those who chartered the vessel and indentured the coolies.—N. Y. World.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degree of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conducive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of due care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is pre-disposed to complaints. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is dyspepsia, once supposed to be incurable, but which, since the introduction of HOSETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been provided in the powerful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure, all the old palliatives formerly prescribed by physicians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, has effectually exploded this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by nine of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—North, East, South and West. Its sales of medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. THE LATEST DISCOVERY

in Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been effected, a vegetable Cathartic Preparation more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which the dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this potent remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feeble sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

The enormous sale and ever steadily increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paralleled properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be induced to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their family practice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would give detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these small minded people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their number are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that when once the lungs are diseased, hope is given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim earliest attention. If these were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harm ful assertions, I should feel justified in the take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor opinion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had best at once make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom, I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, instinctively do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but there still was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for the dreadful disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—but not myself, I did, the tide of life commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the hectic and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly emaciated frame, and that recovery was full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained my health and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an apprette vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beset on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought this wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent their messengers to me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The results of my investigations fully convinced me that as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proved so effective upon me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The world was not well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidence of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been cured but be too grateful to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ Let the tune be to-day, Adams and liberty from a Copperhead Mayor and a mongrel City Government.

☞ Who shall B our next Mayor? Why, J. B., of course. Then let him have the prestige of a full vote and heavy majority.

☞ The Democratic City Committee delayed their nomination for Mayor until Monday evening, and finally selected Frank Jones as their candidate.

☞ We are glad Frank Jones is nominated again for Mayor by the Opposition. It will be all the better for Adams, to beat their most popular candidate.

☞ The Monday morning train from Concord for this city, was partially run off the track in Manchester; but leaving the engine and taking another in its stead, arrived here only about half past eleven.

☞ Fields, Osgood & Co., have published T. B. Aldrich's juvenile "Story of a Bad Boy," which is one of the most interesting of books to old and young. It is just the thing for a holiday present, and J. F. Shores, Jr., is just the man who has it for sale—at the Congress Block Bookstore. The story is a record of what might have happened in Portsmouth in years agone.

☞ Mr. G. J. Greenleaf of this city, at his Carriage manufactory on State Street, turns out quite a number of good vehicles of all sorts, for burden or riding, in the course of a year—mainly farm and business wagons, draft wagons, horse carts, sleighs, pungs, and the like. We noticed there last week, just completed, a very long platform wagon, to accommodate five bales of hay in a tier, or a great stack of wood—built for Mr. Louis L. DeRochement of Newington.

PRIZE CATTLE.—Mr. Charles E. Smith of South Newmarket has disposed of his Cattle, which took the first premium at the last annual State and Rockingham County Fairs, to Stokell & Co., of Portsmouth, for $550. Fanciers of fine stock should avail themselves of a last opportunity to take a look at these cattle.—Exeter News Letter.

Messrs. Stokell & Co. have this noble pair of steers in their stable for a few days, and will have their prime beef on the shambles directly. They are said to be the finest yoke ever slaughtered in these parts, and of course the epicures will look out to secure a choice cut.

☞ Look out for split tickets, to-day. The Opposition threaten to run a Citizen's ticket in Wards One and Two, with Republicans and Democrats as candidates for city officers. Their aim is to create discord in Republican ranks and defeat Republicans most objectionable to them. By the new law, which went into effect last year, a plurality elects—whereas heretofore, a majority was necessary. The indication are that Adams and the entire Republican tickets in both Wards will be chosen, but it is best to make it sure. Scrutinize every ticket. Take none from any friend, if he be not a true Republican.

☞ If there be one Republican who attempts to justify himself for voting against, or failing to vote for, Mr. Adams for Mayor to-day—just let him remember that Jonathan Dearborn, Ezra A. Stevens and Joseph H. Thacher have each and all been betrayed, deserted and defeated by just such bolting "Republicans" as he; and of course those who caused or allowed these successive failures, had to their own minds, equal justification for their action with the proposed bolter of to-day. But it would seem a strange sort of Republican party, that would not be satisfied with some one of these men named, after nominating them.

The fact is, that no Republican who can do so, has the least excuse for not voting the full and entire Republican ticket to-day; and to our idea, his so voting is a test of his Republicanism. On such occasions, the cause of good government and party ascendancy, demands that all private and personal matters be sunk in regard for the public and general welfare. And the Republicanism of any man who does not vote the clean ticket to-day, may well be doubted.

APPLES.—Mr. D. H. Spinney of this city, a very successful fruit-grower, for market,—gives the preference to the Bartlett Pear and the Hubbardston Norwich Apple, over all other varieties he has tried. We recollect hearing him say that if he was going to plant 100 apple trees, 90 of them would be the Nonsuch, and but for the tenderness of the tree to cold, he should care for no other pear save the Bartlett. This for the profit of the thing we suppose he meant, in large part. The Hubbardston is certainly a delicious apple, and we always regarded it the best grown; but a recent thorough trial of a barrel of Nodheads, (from Butler & Laighton's well supplied grocery) have caused us to nod our heads that way most decidedly, and we pronounce the Nodhead by far the best apple we ever ate. Of its yield we know nothing; but we hope somebody's tree will furnish us with at least one barrel each year.

☞ Mr. John I. Rand of Rye has left at our office a small Russet Apple two years old, which has kept in his common cellar in a barrel over two winters and summers, and is yet in a good state of preservation, though a little wrinkled and softening now.

FOWL PROCEEDINGS.—The hen roost of Mr. J. P. Cilley of Exeter was robbed on Monday night last week of about 60 nice Brahma fowls.

THE THESPIANS are requested to meet at Grand Army Hall, Friday evening at 8 o'clock, to decide on important measures. Per Order of the President.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them, at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary security to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves; with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received. Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 1md&wn22

A PACIFIC RAILWAY

GOLD LOAN $6,500,000.

We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY, For the sale of its NEW SEVEN PER CENT. Thirty Year Gold Loan. Free from Tax.

This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.

First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds,

secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 237 miles of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchise of this first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas,

And in successful operation for 437 miles west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 7 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 120 in U. S. Bonds, as A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.

The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of

Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas,

and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covered by this mortgage at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.

The Bonds have

THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,

from May 1, 1869, and will pay SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.

The principal of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be PAYABLE IN FRANKFORT, LONDON OR N. YORK at option of the holder, with notice, at the following rates:

On $1,000 Bond in N. Y. $35 (gold) each half year.
" " London....£7 8s. 10.
" " Frankfort..fl 7 fr. 10 krtzs.,"

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT, in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even the Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.

Better than Government Securities.

The Bonds will be sold for the present at

96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency,

The attention of investors is in vited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.

OPERATIC.—Mr. Boucicault, the playwriter, when criticized by a correspondent of the London Times, for the immoral features of his new play of Formosa, made this rejoinder in his defence to which the Chicago Advance newspaper calls the attention of Christian people who patronize the opera:

"I turn from the press to contemplate a place of entertainment especially devoted to the young females of the class to which your correspondent evidently belongs—I mean the Italian Opera. There I am sure I must have seen him with his girls on many occasions during last season, when the list of favorite operas consisted of Norma, Don Giovanni, Rigoletto, Traviata, Lucrezia Borgia, Faust, and the Sonnambula. Has he anxiously examined each play-bill of that theatre? I must take leave to do so.

Norma is a vestal priestess who has been seduced. She discovers her paramour in an attempt to seduce her friend, another vestal priestess, and in despair contemplates the murder of her bastard children.

Don Giovanni is the proverbial hero whose career represents the romance of successful adultery and debauchery.

Rigoletti exhibits the agony of a father obliged to witness the prostitution of his own child.

Traviata is the progress of a transcendental harlot.

Lucrezia Borgia is a history of adultery not unassociated with incest.

Faust is the most specious apology for seduction, ending with the apotheosis of crime—Margaret, who murders her mother and her illegitimate child, is carried up to heaven.

The Sonnambula is the most idylic, the most innocent of the Italian repertoire, and perhaps the most popular. In this play we see a young girl, on the night before her marriage, entering the bedroom of a gentleman just as he is retiring to rest. She is in her nightdress and carries a flat candlestick. She gets into his bed. In this situation she is found by her intended husband. The difficulties arising out of this condition of affairs constitute the plot.

The daughters of your correspondent possess charming voices. He is proud of them. How often have they delighted him and his friends with the choice morsels of these operas? I may have heard his elder girl with passionate expression warbling to some young tenor gentleman, "No, no, I am not guilty," in the duet from the Sonnambula, or I may have listened to the younger daughter in the character of the Traviata, breathing in impassioned accents the confession of her frailty. Yet these young ladies, who are encouraged to practise such scenes daily at the family pianoforte, would be outraged by attending a performance of Formosa!

TIMELY HINTS ON THE USE OF COAL. A common fault is to use too coarse wood for kindling, and too much of it. This, while it generally succeeds in lighting the coal, makes a large amount of ashes, which interferes with the draught unless raked out; an operation which always retards the combustion of ignited coal. The wood should be of some rapidly-burning variety which gives a quick high heat, and should be split fine. It should be so placed that the coal will remain on top of it, and not fall through to the grate, leaving the kindling on the top of any part of the coal. The amount of kindling wood required depends much upon the size of the coal. A common mistake is to use too large sized coal. A good rule, where stoves or furnaces have good draught, is to use coal as small as can be used without inconvenience from its sifting too freely through the grate.

Grates should have their bars closely set for stoves that are cleaned out daily, and have fires lighted in them each morning, while those which are intended to have fires kept in them continuously for days or weeks will not admit of fine grates, on account of the accumulation of ashes and small "clinkers." There is much difference in coal in regard to the formation of clinkers. These are nothing but the vitrified, or partially vitrified, earthy matters, and only can form when a high heat is maintained; they are apt to be troublesome when there is too great draught.

A coal stove or furnace should be so constructed that its draught can be perfectly controlled. The bottom draught should admit of being closed air-tight, as nearly as is possible to make it, and there ought always to be provision made for a top draught. If, however, the draught of a chimney should be so strong that air in too great quantities is drawn in at the bottom when the dampers are closed, a damper in the pipe which will close it partially must be employed, though in sluggish chimneys such a damper is apt to force the gases of combustion into the room, and therefore it ought always to be avoided when possible.

The practice of putting ashes on the top of a fire to keep it, is very productive of clinkers, although it answers the purpose very well in other respects. Damp coal screenings are better, and may be economically burned in this manner. If a coal fire gets very low, the quickest way to extinguish it is to rake it at the bottom. To preserve a fire under such circumstances, a little coal should be placed on the fire, and when it has caught, more may added, and the raking deferred until it has got well ignited. When the fire-bricks have become burdened with clinkers which have fused and adhered, they may be cleaned by throwing oyster or clam shells into the fire box when the fire is very hot, and allowing the fire to go out. The clinkers will generally cleave off without the use of much force the next morning. From two quarts to one-half a peck will be sufficient for most stoves, and the operation can be repeated if some of the clinkers still adhere.—Scientific American.

THE BROKEN HOME.

"Truth Stranger than Fiction."

In San Francisco, on the north side of Folsom street, overlooking Mission Bay, stands a palatial residence.

The interior of this house is even more beautiful than its exterior, every apartment being in its way a gem of magnificence and refinement.

The library especially realizes the most perfect ideal of an elegant and cultured home.

And yet, at the moment we look in upon him—one August afternoon, as he occupied his library—the proprietor of all this wealth appeared of all men the most miserable.

He was Mr. Morton Preble, for many years a leading banker of San Francisco.

It was in vain that the broad bay-window at the south end of the room had been opened, giving ingress to the sunshine and the fragrance of rare flowers—in vain that the walls were lined with richly carved book-cases and paintings—in vain that soft couches and luxurious chairs had been gathered around him.

He was wretched.

He lay on a sofa, in the depths of the great bay-window, the wreck of a once powerful man. His figure was thin and gaunt; his face white as marble; his eyes having an expression of woful apprehension, of harrowing anxiety, of dreadful expectancy.

It was evident at a glance that no merely physical ailment had made him what he was.

By what withering secret, by what destroying affliction, had he been thus agonized! thus haunted! thus hunted! he so noble and good! he so wealthy and distinguished!

As he moved restlessly upon his luxurious cushions the pretty clock on the mantel-piece struck five, every stroke seeming to fall like a hammer upon the hears of the nervous invalid. He aroused himself, struggling feebly to a sitting posture.

"Oh, will this fatal day never, never pass?" he murmured; "nor bring us relief?"

Noticing with a nervous start that he was alone, he touched a bell upon a table before him, and called:

"Helen, Helen! where are you?"

Before the echoes of his voice had died out a step was heard, and his wife entered his presence.

"I left you only for a moment, Morton," she said, advancing to the banker's side. "You were dozing, I think. I wished to send for the doctor!"

She was a beautiful woman, of some six and thirty years, graceful, with broad white brown and loving eyes, in which the brightness and sweetness of a sunshiny nature were pererceptible, under a grief and anxiety not less poignant than that evinced by her husband.

"The doctor!" he echoed, half-reproachfully.

"Yes, dear," she said, in a calm and cheerful voice, as she drew a chair to the side of the sofa and sat down, stroking the corrugated forehead of the invalid with a magnetic touch. "He will be here immediately. Your last nervous crisis alarmed me. You may become seriously ill!"

Mr. Preble bestowed an affectionate look upon his wife, but said despondently:

"The doctor! He cannot 'minister to a mind diseased!' Oh, if these long hours would only pass! If I only knew what the day has yet in store for us!"

"Look up, Morton!" enjoined Mrs. Preble, with a reverently trustful glance upward through the open window at the blue sky, and as if looking beyond the azure clouds therein. "Let us appeal from the injustice and wickedness of earth to the goodness and mercy of heaven!"

The banker gave a low, sobbing sigh.

"I cannot look up, Helen," he answered with a passionate tremor in his voice—"only down, down at the grave that is opening before me!"

Mrs. Preble continued to stroke his fore head softly, while she lifted her pale face to the sunlight streaming into the apartment.

"Look up, Morton—always look up!" she again enjoined upon the invalid. "During all these fourteen years of agony, I have not once doubted either the goodness or the justice of Heaven. 'Blessed are they that mourn; for they shall be comforted.' I believe that we shall yet rejoice more keenly than we have mourned, and that we shall come to a glorious day of joy beyond all this long night of sorrow!"

The face of the invalid lighted up with an answering glow, and he murmured:

"Glorious faith! My wife, you are indeed a blessed comforter! Perhaps, after all, you are right!

A knock resounded on a side-door at this juncture, and the next moment Dr. Hutton the family physician, for whom Mrs. Preble had sent, entered the room.

He was an old man, portly in figure, with white hair and beard, but with a fresh and ruddy complexion, a pair of shrewd blue eyes, and with an exuberant boyishness of manner that sat well upon him. He had a kind heart and a clear head. He approached the sofa, after greeting the husband and wife, and lifted the thin restless hand of the invalid feeling his pulse.

"Quite a high fever," he said, after a brief pause. "Worrying again, eh, Mr. Preble? You are wearing yourself out. Medicine will do you no good so long as your mind is in its present condition. I must give you an opiate—"

"Not now, doctor," interposed the banker. "I cannot—must not—sleep to-day! I need to be broad awake now, for I cannot tell at any moment what the next may bring forth. I am looking for the culmination of all my years of anguish—for the crowning agony of the whole. Perhaps even now—Ah, what was that?"

He started up wildly, and then, as the sound that had disturbed him was not repeated, he sank back again on his cushions, pallid and panting.

The doctor looked at Mrs. Preble with an anxious, questioning glance.

"It is the anniversary," she replied to his unspoken inquiry—"the anniversary of our loss."

"Ah, yes," said the doctor. "I remember."

"Yes, its another of those terrible days," cried the banker, in a hollow whisper. "Sit down, doctor, and I will tell you the whole story. I can think of nothing else to-day, and am almost wild with apprehension and anxiety. Sit down."

Dr. Hutton drew up a chair and seated himself, his face expressing the double solicitude of a friend and physician.

"You know us fourteen years ago, doctor," said Mr. Preble. "We lived then where we do now, in a cottage on the site of this great mansion. There were but the three of us—Helen and I, and our three-year old Jessie. And it was fourteen years ago to-day that our little Jessie was stolen from us."

"I remember it," said the doctor softly. "Yet might she not have been lost, Mr. Preble? She went out to play in the garden, if I remember rightly, and was never seen by you again. She might have strayed away—"

"So we thought for a whole year, doctor," interrupted the banker. "We never dreamed that she had been stolen. We searched everywhere for her, and offered immense rewards for her recovery. I employed detectives, but all to no purpose. When our lost Jessie ran down the steps into that flower garden," and he pointed to the front of the house, "as if the earth had opened and swallowed her up, we never saw her again."

"She must have found the gate open, and wandered out," suggested Dr. Hutton. "She might have strolled down to the waters and been drowned."

The banker fixed his burning eyes upon the physician's face, and whispered:

"I said we never saw the poor child again. I did not say we had not heard of her. She was lost on the 9th of August, 1854. For a year we thought her dead. But on the anniversary of our loss we received a written message concerning her."

"A message!" cried Dr. Hutton, starting.

"A mere scrawl—a single line in a hand evidently disguished," said the banker.—"Here it is."

He produced a dingy scrap of paper from a drawer in the table, and held it up to the view of the physician, who read as follows:

"August 9, 1855. Jessie, ha! ha! Jessie."

Dr. Hutton looked, with a puzzled air, from the scrap of paper, which he turned over and over, to the countenance of the banker.

"I can make nothing of this," he declared. "It is merely a date, with the name of your lost daughter. It tells me nothing."

"Nor did it us, at first," said Mr. Preble. "Then that name and that date, with the demon laugh connecting them, set us to thinking. A whole year we agonized over the dreadful problem, and then we received another message, which you shall see."

He thrust a second slip of paper, identical in shape and appearance with the first, before the gaze of Dr. Hutton, who read it aloud:

August 9, 1865. Your Jessie still lives!

The physician started, as if electrified.

Ah, this is more definite—something decisive, he muttered. It convinced you that your daughter was still living.

"Yes, doctor, said Mr. Preble, 'and every anniversary of that day has brought us some message. The disappearance of the child, mysterious as it is, does not seem to me half so strange as that the villain who took her away could contrive to communicate with us every year since, and always on a particular day—the anniversary of that on which she was stolen—without our being able to discover who the villain is! A still greater wonder to me is what can be his motive. It seems incredible. If it was stated in a novel many people would not believe it. But 'truth is stranger than fictions!'"

Mrs. Preble drew from her husband's breast-pocket his note-book, opened it to the proper page, and presented it to the physician.

Dr. Hutton adjusted his spectacles, glanced over the page, and then slowly read the group of entries aloud. The entry the first year is as follows:

"August 9, 1865. Jessie, ha, ha! Jessie!"
And the next year it is—
"Aug. 9, 1856. Your Jessie still lives!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1857. She is in good hands!,
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1858. She is well as ever!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1859. I saw her yesterday!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1860. She's growing rapidly!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1861. She continues to do well!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1862. I've seen her again!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1863. She's becoming a woman!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1864. Your child is thirteen!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1865. She's lovlier than ever!"
And the next—
"Aug. 9, 1866. She's really charming!"
And last year it is—
"Aug. 9, 1867. My reward is at hand!"
And what shall we get to-day!

The physician looked up and fixed his thoughtful gaze upon the bereaved husband and wife.

"How did these messages come to you?" he demanded.

"Invariably by post," replied Mr. Preble. "Usually to the house, but sometimes to the office!"

"And you have never seen their author?"

"Never!"

"The last of them is dated, I see, a year ago to-day!"

"Yes, yes," faltered the banker, "and the time has come for another message. This is the 9th of August, 1868!"

"I see," said Dr. Hutton. "And this is the secret of your terrible excitement! You are expecting to receive to-day another of these strange messages!"

There was a brief silence. Mrs. Preble's hand fluttered in its task, and her face grew very pale. The banker breathed gaspingly. The physician regarded them both in friendly sympathy.

"We shall hear of her again to-day," said Mr. Preble, "and what will the message be?"

The mother averted her face. Her brave heart faltered as that question echoed in her soul.

"The writers of these letters is unquestionably the abductor of your child!" said Dr. Hutton. "Have you any suspicion as to his identity?"

"Not the slightest," said Mr. Preble. "We have puzzled over the problem for many years, but we cannot guess who he is."

"Think," said the doctor. "Have you no enemy? I do not mean people with whom you are not friendly—every stirring man has plenty of these—but a downright enemy! Is there no man whom you knew in the East who hated you? No one against whom you had called upon to testify—no one whom you possibly injured?"

The banker shook his head. He had asked himself all these questions repeatedly.

"I have no such enemy, doctor," he answered with sincerity of voice and manner.

"And Mrs. Preble?" suggested the doctor, turning to her. "Have you no rejected suitor who might be revengeful enough to desolate your home?"

"No," said the lady. "I was married early. Morton was my first lover!"

"This is strange—very strange!" muttered the doctor. "You are not conscious of having an enemy in the world, and yet you have an enemy—a hidden foe—a fiend in human form—who is working out against you a fearful hatred! And you have not the slightest suspicion as to whom he is!"

"Not the slightest," declared the banker. "Not the slightest!" echoed Mrs. Preble. "My husband had a step-brother who might have been capable of this infamy—but he is dead!"

"The handwriting is not familiar!"

"No. It is merely a rude scrawl, as you see," said the banker. "It suggests nothing—except that it is evidently disguised!"

Again there was profound silence.

"Our child is seventeen years old now," at length murmured Mrs. Preble, her voice trembling. "She is on the threshold of womanhood. No doubt, during all these years, she has yearned for us, wherever she may be, as we have yearned for her!"

"But where is she?" asked the physician—and how his voice was broken up by his deep sympathy with the agonized parents. "Where can she be?"

"Heaven only knows,' answered the mother. "Perhaps in San Francisco—perhaps in some rude hut in the interior, with some obscure farmer, and under a name that is not hers! I think her abductor would have carried her to some lonely region of the interior, among the valleys and mountains. Yet I never see a young girl in the streets without turning to look at her. I never hear a girlish voice without listening eagerly, half fancying that it may prove the voice of my lost Jessie!"

"Oh, pitying heaven!" sighed Dr. Hutton, dashing a flood of tears from his eyes. "Will this long agony never be over?"

"We hope so, and even believe so,' answered Mrs. Preble, with the firmness of an unfaltering trust in God's mercy. 'The last message we received from our enemy seems to point to some kind of a change.'

"True,' assented Dr. Hutton, looking at the message in question. 'It is unlike the others. It says that his reward is at hand.' He means either that he intends to marry your daughter, or that he intends to demand money of you for bringing it back—or both.'

"We shall soon know,' said Mrs. Preble, with forced calmness. 'To-day we shall have another message, no doubt. What will it be?'

The banker turned restlessly on his sofa, and his face grew even paler.

'Whatever it is, let it come!' he murmured. 'Anything can be borne better than this awful suspense. Let it come!'

As if his impatient words had precipitated a crisis, a step was heard on the walk at this moment, and a ring at the front door followed.

'Another message!' breathed the banker.

A servant soon entered, bearing a letter, which he extended to Mr. Preble, saying:

'The bearer is in the hall.'

With an eager gaze, the banker glanced at the superscription of the missive.

'It is from him!' he faltered.

He tore the envelope open.

It contained a slip of paper, of well-known shape and appearance, upon which was scrawled a single line, in an equally well-known handwriting, which the banker exhibited to his wife and physician.

This line was as follows:

'August 9, 1868. At six I will call!'

A shock of wonder and horror shook the three simultaneously.

'Will call!' cried Mr. Preble, starting to his feet, and glaring wildly around.

'Is coming here!' cried Mrs. Preble, also rising.

'It seems so,' said Dr. Hutton, his eyes again reverting to the message. 'He will be here at six o'clock, and see! It is six already'

As he spoke, the clock on the mantelpiece commenced striking the appointed hour, and at that instant heavy footsteps resounded in the hall, approaching the library.

"It is he! cried the doctor, also arising.

As the last stroke of the hour resounded, the door leading from the hall again opened.

One long and horrified glance cast the banker and his wife in that direction, and then she fell heavily to the floor.

Her senses had left her. The above we publish as a specimen chapter; but the continuation of this story will be found only in the N. Y. A SEA-SIDE SKETCH.

The sun sinks down, a round red disc;
And seen against it, tapering thin,
(Relieved of all the cares or risk),
The fishing-smacks come riding in.

Slow sinks the orb beyond the bay,
Or so, at least, it seems to sink—
A thirsty charger, shall I say?
Low stooping in the sea to drink.

And beating shoreward, sea-gray gulls
Come sailing up the Sound in flocks,
Then clean their wings, and seek their holes
Aloft amid the rifted rocks.

The soft winds play round poop and prow,
Too weak to climb the rocky cliff,
Within whose deepening shadow now
Lie bulky barge and tiny skiff.

And over all the scene anon
A denser darkness draws around;
The village lights show one by one,
And night comes hushing every sound.

☞ The correspondent of the Chicago Tribune at Cheyenne tells the following amusing story of Governor Campbell's first appearance before the people of Wyoming:—

"It appears that the governor and his suite arrived at Cheyenne late in the week, and on the following Sunday these gentlemen, as was their custom, appeared in their best clothes and longest faces. The governor inquired if there were services, and was informed by a citizen that "they didn't do that sort of thing out there much." On further inquiry the pious man learned there was 'a sort of meetin' house up town, but it was not used very often, though they had 'spiled one of the best lots in the city to build it.' Soon after breakfast a committee called on the governor and informed him there was to be a big Sunday 'hoss race,' and they would like to have him act as 'judge.' The governor declined, bowed the committee out, and they at once held a consultation, when it was unanimously agreed that as the 'governor did not like hoss racin' they would arrange a prize fite,' and the chairman returned and addressed his excellency thus;

'I say, guvner, we hav konklooded not to hav a hoss race, but hev a prize fite, and wood like you to jedge it.' The governor again declined, with thanks, when the committee departed in high dudgeon, and one of them said: 'That feller is mighty stuck up, and is tryin' to play Grant on us, by refusin' of all our honors; but he kin go to the devil, for all we keer, so he kin.'

All day committees kept calling, inviting the governor to foot races, dog fights, cock pits, and other Sunday games peculiar to the frontier, when, at length, worn out and disgusted, his excellency put on his hat, and, accompanied by his staff, walked out to stroll about the city and escape annoyance. Going about the town, the party entered the grave-yard, and was surprised to notice but a few grave-stones put up, while a large number of boots were seen sticking out of the ground. The governor inquired what it meant, and a citizen explained that when a man was hung by the vigilanties they buried him so as to have his feet sticking out, while only those who died naturally were buried in the regular way and entitled to grave-stones! The governors gave a look at the many boot-soles sticking up all around him, and then at the scattering head-boards, and with a shake of the head, left the place, evidently not very favorably impressed with the peaceful and orderly character of the people he had come to preside over."

SUMMING UP.—The following charge was lately delivered to an American jury:—"If the jury believe from the evidence that the plantiff and defendant were partners in the grocery, and that the plaintiff bought out the defendant, and that the defendant paid the note by delivering to the plaintiff a cow, which he warranted not breachy; and the warranty was broken by reason of the breachiness of the cow, and he drove the cow back, and tendered her to the defendant, but he refused to receive her, and the plaintiff took her home again and put a heavy yoke on her to prevent her from jumping fences, and by reason of her yoke she broke her neck and died; and it the jury believe that the defendant's interest in the grocery was worth anything, the plaintiff's note was worthless and the cow good for nothing, either for beef or milk, then the jury must find out for themselves how they will decide the case; for the court—if she understands herself, and she thinks she does—don't know how such case should be decided.

—A young man and his intended presented themselves before the city clerk of Davenport, Iowa, the other day, for a marriage license. It was found that the intending bridegroom was under age and had neither parents nor guardian. In order to make the proceedings regular, the lady suggested that she herself should be appointed guardian. As she was over eighteen, she was eligible, was duly appointed guardian, and then gave her consent that her ward should marry herself.

—What is the greatest curiosity to be seen at the South? A knee-grow out at the elbow.

☞ Tom McLaughlin, Frank Mulvey and John Flannagan, of Lawrence, are charged with poisoning the horse Wonder, or Frenchman, with croton oil on potatoes. The horse was engaged in a race at Lowell, and detectives who watched, caught Flannagan in the stall, while McLaughlin played drunk outside to keep the hostler away. Each of the trio was held in $7500 bonds for trial. The horse was valued $3000, and was owned by John W. Porter of Lawrence, who bought him of D. C. Whittemore of Manchester.

New Publications Received.

The Galaxy for December has the last instalment but one of "Susan Fielding," with an announcement from the publishers that they have already secured Mrs Edward's next novel, which will probably be begun during 1870. It has another of Mr. Anthony Trollope's clever short stories, with a promise of more. It has the first of a series of articles on "The Morals and Manners of Journalism," by Richard Grant White. It has an account of the late Cardinal d'Andrea, by his private secretary. It has a complete story, "A November Afternoon," by Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis. It has several poems, short essays, sketches of travel, an anonymous contribution to the woman question, and an instalment of Charles Reade's novel.

The Children's Hour, for December, is an elegantly printed number of a child's magazine, which forms a good stepping stone from Childhood to Youth. By T. S. Arthur, Philadelphia.

Arthur's Home Magazine, and Once a Month, for December, are the closing numbers of two excellent volumes: each has a good prospectus for 1870, with improvements. T. S. Arthur & Sons, publishers, Philadelphia.

Several hundred people assembled at Christ Church, Exeter, on Wednesday, to witness the marriage of Mr. David L. Banning and Miss Carrie Lane, of New York. The News Letter says "the ceremonies were preceded by an elegant wedding dejeuner at the residence of the bride's mother."

As Mr. A. J. Fogg, of Exeter, was assisting in taking down an old building, a portion of the boarding, lined with brick, and weighing about 1200 pounds, fell on him, crushing him to the earth. Fortunately his head escaped, the weight falling mostly on his body, and he was not much harmed.

The new cotton factory of the Newmarket Manufacturing Company is a handsome and substantial building, 252 feet by 60, three stories, high posted, and containing 260 large windows, with granite sills and caps. It is built of what is technically termed "mortar-stone," a large portion of which was procured from the bed of the river in the immediate vicinity, excellent for building. This factory, except when there is a surplus of water, will be run by steam. It will be devoted entirely to weaving and dressing. With this mill, which is nearly ready for the machinery, the Company will run 37,000 spindles, producing upwards of seven million yards of cotton goods annually, and giving employment to 500 operatives, whose monthly pay will amount to $17,000. The new mill, which will be designated as No. 4, is located in the south part of the Company's yard, and presents a very imposing appearance from the street. The stone and brick work, including a handsome chimney 90 feet high, was performed by Messrs J. A. Blaisdell & Co., of Greenland, successors to the well known contractor, Albert Blaisdell. In addition to this desirable enterprise, the Company have built, this season, a wooden dwelling-house containing eight tenements, and a large brick boarding-house that will accommodate eighty boarders.

Darius Towle & Co., of Kingston, successors to Albert Brown, have just sold and delivered twenty wagons for the Southern market. They employ twenty-five men, which number they expect shortly to increase.

☞ Auction of Wrecked Vessels, Lumber, &c., at Hampton to-day, (Wednesday.)

☞ Mr. Main is preparing to erect a large barn on his premises on Lafayette Road, 60 feet by 40, with 20 feet posts.

☞ E. A. Batchelder has Harper's Monthly for December, trimmed ready for reading. Noticed in a former issue, as a good number.

☞ Among the most gratifying results of Tuesday's contest is the reelection of Alderman Pender of Ward One by nearly 200 majority.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—U. S. S. Benicia will go into commission next Monday. A part of her crew arrived Monday night in a steamer.

U. S. S. Narragansett arrived from quarantine in the lower harbor, in tow of U. S. tug Potflire, on Tuesday.

☞ Relative to a new public Hall,—we understand that the proposed sale of land on Fleet Street by the Mechanic Association, to Messrs. F. Jones and others, has not been consummated by their acceptance, and it is said there seems little likelihood that it will be at present. There are one or more leases in the way, which may be a difficulty.

☞ Mr. Leonard Cotton has had three pieces of the old houses he bought on High Street, of Messrs. Came, removed and located on his lot corner of Fleet and Hanover Streets. A fourth section, half of the largest house, he had torn down, as the expense of moving is great. The tenements are placed back, so as to allow the widening of Fleet Street; but increasing the number of such old huts can be little if any benefit to a city.

☞ The "Seavey's Island Aquaduct," of which we gave a description a few days since, was put in operation on Monday for the first time. The gate at the reservoir was raised at twenty-two minutes past one, admitting the water to the main pipe (four inches in diameter,) the opening of the pipe being protected by a strainer. The water passed through the entire length of the pipe—1800 feet—in nine minutes, thence through 500 feet of 2 1-2 inch leading hose, discharging at the rate of 50 gallons per minute; at which rate 72,000 gallons of water can be conducted to the reservoirs on the Yard in a day,—all of which will necessarily require the employment of only three men. The trial of the Aqueduct since its completion has been delayed, owing to the indisposition of Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler, who has been confined to his quarters on the Yard for several days, with a severe attack of erysipilas in the face.

On the night of the 14th, in Hanover, the room of N. H. Wilson and Chas. E. Hall, at the Powers House, was entered, and $126 in money and small articles of jewelry taken. Wilson lost $105 and his chum the rest.

On the 15th, in Lake Village, Levi B. Wilkinson, while at work at a saw mill, placed his right hand in such a position as to bring it in contact with a cutting-off saw. He lost two fingers.

The following patents have been issued to citizens of New Hampshire for the week ending Nov. 16: Henry A. Gage, Manchester, machine for cutting pasteboard; David J. Hunter, Exeter, brick machine; Clovis Lowe, Randolph, fence; Charles E. Smith, Goffstown, blind-rack; Hiram F. Snow and James H. Davis, Dover, composition for pavements; George W. Wheeler 2d, New Ipswich, vehicle for transporting machines.

On the forenoon of Thanksgiving, in Claremont, Edward, son of Frank Clark, went skating on the pond of the Sugar River Mills Co., broke through the thin ice, and, though great exertions were made for his rescue, it was half an hour before he was taken from the water. He could not be resuscitated. His age was fourteen.

On Friday afternoon, when the train passed up over the Suncook road, in the town of Allenstown, a quanity of posts were found piled up on the track, and on the return a post was found set at an angle so that the engine would strike it and throw off the train. Fortunately no harm followed, as the post was discovered and removed.

"THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT."—A law suit having grown out of the building of this house, it may be properly asked if the people have not been jockeyed by Jack, hoodwinked by Hood, robbed by Robinson and bill'd by "Billy Boy," seeing that certain men have received good pay for their services.—Exeter News Letter.

Danville.—Alonzo Ferrin to John W. Arnold, Land and buildings, for $1100.

Derry.—Sarah F. Adams to Hazen R. Underhill, Land for $100.

☞ It is reported that Hon. Frank Jones has bought the five stores on Pleasant Street known as Exchange Buildings, extending between Rockingham Bank and the millinery store of C. N. Shaw & Co., exclusive of both corner buildings. The price has not transpired, but is understood to be between $20,000 and $25,000. This is probably the largest sale of real estate ever made in the city.

Mr. Jones is investing very largely in real estate, here and elsewhere; and is even now one of the heaviest owners of this sort of property in the city and vicinity. This is doing pretty well, as the world has it, and so far as money is concerned,—for a young man, less than forty years old, whose first visit to Portsmouth was made, we believe, in driving a charcoal cart from Barrington, and who for a long while drove a tin-pedler's wagon here. And all who know him will be sure he did these things well; as he does more important and extended business now. Much as we have had occasion to differ with him, we never hesitated to pronounce him one of our most enterprising and thriving citizens. Nor was his fortune won without a long and hard struggle at first, and unceasing industry and application even up to this time — which remark we add for the benefit of those who are seeking a royal road to success. Wealth, fame or knowledge come to few without great effort.

☞ One of the firm of Lazarus & Morris will be at Mr. Shores' Bookstore, Nov. 30th and Dec. 1st. All persons who have trouble in finding Spectacles to fit their eyes, please notice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conducive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of due care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is pre-disposed to contract them. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is dyspepsia, once supposed to be incurable, but which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and listless and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been provided in the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure, all the old palliatives formerly prescribed by physicians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, has effectually exploded this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by some of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

DEAR SIRS:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

This great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It possesses the botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined to this pleasant form to supersede and banish from genecal use the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than Fifty thousand of these Lozenges have been sold, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timeliness.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the infant or young or aged child. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the paradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that they cannot, in the spirit of Holy Writ, "would fall to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that it is important to his well being as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun shines in a clear heaven at to-day to controvert these random and unfrequently repeated assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which, neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that my medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases, effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid facts is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the portion who this affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope so longhas a single vestige oft remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not, in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of my physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete change. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I relished the plain food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration decreased, I fleshed, I gained in vigor, vanished, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a perfect, robust man, and I have ever maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite voracious to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally believed on all sides. I had visitors daily who beseeched me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores imploring me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too ill to write, or not satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my fellowing fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them which I to the fearful disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not a solitary one, and that the closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate, and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and tolerable form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the brink of the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ Sad about the "spendthrift clique"—is'nt it?

THANKS to Messrs. Jas. R. Morrison, E. Washington Brown and Augustus Walden, ward clerks, for election returns.

THE ELECTION. — Tuesday was a rainy, disagreeable day and the election was carried on quietly. It will be seen that Mr. Adams the Republican candidate for Mayor is chosen by a rousing majority. The Board of Aldermen is Republican, 6 to 2; the Council will consist of 8 Republicans and 3 Democrats: a Republican gain of one from last year.

Wards One and Two are heavily Republican, and Ward Three Democratic by a small majority. Another year, we trust, will bring Sebastopol right side up again. The Democrats ran bogus tickets in all the wards, but didn't defeat any one by the trick.

The Republicans, rejoicing at their success, hired the Cornet Band and marched in procession to the residence of Mayor elect Jos. B. Adams, Tuesday evening. Being greeted with cheers Mr. Adams responded, thanking them heartily for this additional test of their kindness. They then called on the Republican Aldermen elect (or all they could find about town) and finally visited the Chronicle office cheering for Alderman Miller and Councilman elect Israel P. Miller. As our respected associate had left for Lincoln Hill several hours previous, wholly unconscious of the honors done him, "Pakeha" alone responded, thanking them for their suffrages, and apologising for the absence of his brother—making, we are quite sure, his maiden speech. The people shouted, the band played, the multitude went their way and the Chroniclers resumed their work for the night. G.

OPPOSITION TACTICS.—The Copperheads of Portsmouth are a selfish set of fossils. They first nominated Mr. Frank Jones for Mayor (in 1866) because of his large fortune. Being defeated that year, it was natural that he should receive their support in 1867, when he was elected, and again in 1868 for re-election. Having found that the Mayor ran ahead of his ticket every time, (by what means it is not necessary here again to mention,) they nominated him for State Senator in 1868 and again in 1869. Both times he was defeated after severe contests, and it was supposed that they would have some gratitude for the use of his name and money, and forbear to squeeze their lemon for a while.

The nomination of Hon. Joseph B. Adams for Mayor by the Republicans, last week, filled them with trembling and fear. Mayor Jones left town, refusing, it is said, to be their candidate; and afterwards wrote home, asking as an act of justice, that his friends would not allow his name to be used again.

The superannuated leaders deliberated, and were lost. They postponed their nomination to the evening previous to election. Mr. Jones' refusal to run was point blank. The progressive men of the party urged the nomination of an unobjectionable candidate, a war Democrat, whose vote would have been larger than that of his party. The cowardice of the nominating committee in postponing action repelled some who might have gone with them, but did not.

The committee, on meeting, were found to be nearly if not quite unanimous for Mr. Jerome C. Butler for their candidate, when up rose the chief pudding-head of the tribe of fossils, and protested against such action. Mr. Butler did not represent the copperhead element, and of course could not receive the old hunker's support. (So much the better for Mr. Butler.)

The committee desired harmony in the party, Mr. Butler was not nominated, and their last show of success depended on the chief who had thrice been vanquished, and twice victorious. So the mud-heads triumphed, and Frank Jones was led to the slaughter—not willingly, as they knew. The result is seen. Portsmouth has once more chosen a Republican Mayor and a City Council to back him.

Frank Jones' Democratic friends had no gratitude, and they sacrificed him for their own selfishness. We do not say that any other nominee of theirs could have been chosen. They might have done as well or better—or they might have done worse. They knew, however, that Portsmouth was a Republican city, and would probably not tolerate longer a copperhead Mayor. They stupidly urged on their former favorite to a fourth defeat. Well may Frank Jones exclaim. "Save! oh! save me from my friends."

How nice it is to be a lemon, and get squeezed! isn't it?

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and increasing local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 1md&wn22

Morning Chronicle.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

DEERFIELD CENTRE, N. H. Nov. 20.

Messrs. Editors:—I have in my possession the "New Hampshire Gazette and General Advertiser" which was printed Saturday March 30th 1782, (Vol. XXVI, No. 1326,) in which is the following marriage:

"Portsmouth, March 30th 1782. Last Sunday morning was married at Kittery, the Rev. Mr. Buckminster of this town, to Miss Salley Stevens, an agreeable young lady, and the only daughter of the Rev. Mr. Benjamin Stevens of that place."

And there is also the following death in the same paper:

"Friday the 22 inst., died at his house in Newington, Mr. Dependence Bickford, about 58 years of age. In his younger days he was a man of more than middle size, and followed the farming business, and has for some years past increased in bulk till he grew so fat that he could not rise out of his chair without help. He measured seven feet and a half over the breast, weighed about 700 wt; his arms and legs were in proportion to his body. As he lived some distance from the place of interment, he was drawn with four oxen on a sled near to his grave, when twelve men put him therein. [This is a true copy of the original.]

Messrs. Editors, I saw a piece in the last Gazette in relation to Deacon Samuel Haines, who came from Bristol, England, June 4th, 1635, and was wrecked at Pemaquid, August 15th, 1635. Dea. Samuel Haines was born near London, England, 1611; came to New England with John Cogswell senior, merchant, of London; William Furber senior, and others, in the ship Angel Gabriel, of 240 tons. Of the Angel Gabriel, Richard Mather says in his journal:

"We were yt set sayle together yt morning, five shipes; three bound for Newfoundland, viz; the Diligence, a ship of 150 tunne, the Mary, a small ship of 80 tunne, and the Bess; and 2 bound for New England, viz; the Angel Gabriel of 240 tunne, and the James of 220 tunne."

The Angel Gabriel was wrecked at Pemaquid, (now Bristol) Maine, in the great hurricane of the 15th of August, 1635. Dea. Haines came from Pemaquid to Ipswich, Mass., in Goodnow Gallap's bark of Boston, with John Cogswell senior and family, with the goods saved from the wreck. He was at Northam (now Dover) from 1637 to 1650, with the exception of one year and a half in Old England for supplies and a wife, as it is supposed he was married to Eleanor Noate at Dilton, England, near Westbury, on the first of April, 1638, for when he be first came over he was unmarried. He removed to Portsmouth, parish of Greenland, in 1650, where he continued to reside on his farm on the Great Bay, at the mouth of the Winnicut River, until his decease, which was subsequent to 21st of May, 1684.

His dwelling stood near where Enoch H. Clark did reside in Greenland, but now a Mr. Chapman, whose farm was a portion of the old Haines homestead. He was one of the nine original founders of the First Congregational Church at Portsmouth, and was ordained Deacon at its organization in 1671. He was Selectmen at Portsmouth from 1658 to 1663. From him nearly all of the name in New Hampshire and Maine have descended.

He had 3 children, Mary, Samuel and Matthias. Mary married Leonard Weeks in 1667. Leonard Weeks was born in England 1633, and died about 1707. Leonard Weeks and Mary (Haines) Weeks were the ancestors of all the Weekses in New Hampshire. Weeks was Sheriff of Portsmouth in 1680.

Samuel Haines Jr married Mary Fifield of Hampton, their daughter Eleanor married her cousin Cousin Samuel Weeks. Matthias Haines married Jane Brackett, daughter of Anthony Brackett, Esq., of Hampton, whose descendants are in Maine.

Samuel Haines Jr. and his brother Matthias died within a week of each other, between the 20th Dec. 1868 and 15th of Feb. 1689; it was considered a remarkable providence. They were young men with large families. The grave-yard where they were buried is on the bank of the Winnicut River, in the woods north of the saw-mill in Greenland. As tradition has it, Matthias dropped dead as he was going from where Daniel Lunt once resided to where George Weeks, Esq., late of Greenland, now deceased, resided.

The ship Angel Gabriel, that Dea. Samuel Haines came over in, was a strong ship and well furnished with 14 or 16 pieces of ordnance, and therefore, as Richard Mather says in his Journal,

"Our seamen rather desired her company, but yet she was slow in sailing, and therefore we went with three sailes less then we might have alone yt, so we might not overgoe her."

I think it was John Cogswell instead of John Casswell that came over in the ship Angel Gabriel with Dea. Samuel Haines. I was very much pleased in reading the Old Time Letter in the Gazette. I have my ancestry back to Dea. Samuel Haines, every link, and back of him into England.

At the conquest A. D. 1066, William the Conqueror bestowed no less than 793 manors on his brother Robert, and created him Earl of Cornwall, who at once made over the manor of Stonpard and other lands in that neighborhood to his son Hugo, who finally settled there and called the castle appertaining to it by his own Norman name, Del Eaulne-Delaron. This in time came to be corrupted into Eaune-Ayne, and Hayne and Haynes, and Haine and Haines, Hayne, by which last title it is known at present. But enough of genealogy. I am respectfully and fraternally yours,

SAMUEL G. HAINES.

NEW YORK.—For the first time in fifteen years the Democrats have the entire control of the State of New York. This is brought about by the fraudulent vote of the city, but even this would not have elected a Democratic Legislature. That is attributed to the bad policy of the "temperance party." New York has an excise law, enacted by the Republicans, and the utmost in the direction of temperance legislation that public opinion in that State (which is behind New England), would justify the Republican party in shouldering.

It is not a prohibitory law, but only a step removed from it, and makes New York city as quiet and as orderly as it is possible for law to make it. It allows no Sunday selling, makes the Sabbath a quiet day, prevents dram-selling from becoming the public nuisance that it would be with unrestricted sale, and has yielded a splendid revenue. But it was not all that could be desired, and the leading and active temperance men of the State thought to secure something better.

The motive was a good one, with which we entirely sympathize. We are not fully posted as to what was asked, but have the general impression it was that the towns might have the power to prohibit at discretion,—certainly a very reasonable demand. But the Republican party, which has given all the laws restricting rum-selling that have ever been enacted in any State, could not safely further the project in the present state of public opinion, and enough temperance men withdrew their support to give the Legislature to the Democrats, the sworn enemies to all practical interference with the liquor traffic.

The consequence will be that the excise law will be repealed, and New York City will become what it was in the worst days of the Fernando Wood reign. The State has exercised a wholesome control over the city. Now the city will be given up to itself. Pray what is gained to the cause of temperance? If any man can tell us, we should be happy to know. Shall New Hampshire learn anything from New York? We shall see.—Lebanon Free Press.

It was the bad policy of the well-meaning temperance party, above mentioned, we think, which caused a New York editor to say, "we know 'the children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light,'—but then we don't think it necessary that the children of light should be fools."

A RIDICULOUS MISTAKE.—A mistake, which came near being quite as serious in its consequences as ridiculous in its character, happened in New Haven, Conn., a day or two since. It appears that a lady in that city, feeling indisposed, procured two prescriptions of a physician. One was for a liniment, composed of aconite (poison) and chloroform and various medicaments, and the other was for some tonic medicine which was to be taken in water. By some error, the lady mixed the aconite and chloroform liniment with water and took it internally, at the same time rubbing the tonic on outside. She felt queer and strange and not at all like herself after having taken the liniment; but somehow struggled against these feelings and got better. So she, like a good Samaritan, recommended the mixture to all her sick neighbors and friends. One poor lady, who was an invalid, took the strange medicine. She felt queer, too, and did not get better. A doctor was called in, and then the ridiculous mistake was discovered. Prompt remedies were applied, and at last accounts the lady appeared to be recovering, both from the malady and liniment.

DRINK THE SOURCE OF MURDER.—The Dean of Carlisle, in a late sermon on the sixth commandment, after speaking of different sources of murder, then said; There is yet another, more fruitful source of murder and of all other crimes, and that is drink. The statics of crimes prove that three-fourths of all the crimes brought before the magistrates is committed through drink. The Dean then proceeded to recite the many offences committed through drink, and said it was not the man who was drunk who committed murder, for he was a helpless creature, but the men who put him under the influence of drink. When would the nation come to take a proper view of the subject, and learn that wealth gained by such traffic was not honest wealth?

—A Western paper announces the illness of the editor, piously adding, "All good paying subscribers are requested to mention him in their prayers. The others need not, according to good authority."

—An old lady, being asked by her minister what she thought of the doctrine of "total depravity," replied that she thought it a very good doctrine if people would only live up to it.

—"Tom, I hear you are broke?" "Yes," said Tom, with a sigh, "and so broke that if steam-boats were selling at a cent a-piece, I couldn't buy a plank!"

THURSDAY, NOV. 25, 1869.

CAUSES OF DEAF-DUMBNESS.—Dr. H. P. Peet, of New York, gives statistics from which he deduces the striking conclusion that in Europe, generally, the chances of the birth of a deaf-mute child are more than twice as great as in the United States, or six hundred and fifteen in a million there, against two hundred and seventy-eight in a million here; while the chances of the loss of hearing after birth are, in Europe, except in Germany, much less than in the United States, to wit, one hundred and fifty-four in a million there, and two hundred and twenty-two in a million here. Such statistical results as these form the data from which we must study the causes of deaf-dumbness.

This striking contrast between the Old World and the New may be owing, in part, to climate; in part to the severe out-door labors imposed upon women of the laboring classes in many countries in Europe; in part to the idiosyncracies of race. The European returns which show such a preponderance of congenital cases are chiefly from countries where the bulk of the population is of the Celtic or Latin races. We have very few such returns from European populations of the Anglo-Saxon or Teutonic races, and most of those we have agree with the American returns in presenting a large proportion of accidental cases.

The causes of congenital deafness are as yet but very imperfectly understood. When deafness is the apparent result of a known disease, or accident, it is comparatively easy to judge with probability of the mode of operation; but in most cases of congenital deafness we are left wholly in the dark, even as to the condition of the organs of hearing. They are too deeply seated for more than a very superficial examination in life, and opportunities for dissection of subjects known to have been deaf-mutes rarely occur.

FARMERS' MEETING IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—A very pleasant and instructive meeting of farmers, it will be remembered, was held last year at Manchester. A committee are now making arrangements for another meeting in December, at the same place. Practical men, those who know what should be said and how to say it, are to be invited to take a part in the meeting, and such subjects are to be discussed as will awaken a new interest in the work of the farm and the prosperity of the farmer. Suggestions as to topics, &c., are solicited, and may be addressed to J. O. Adams, Manchester.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

PORTSMOUTH BANKS.—The First National Bank are extending their accommodations, by building a Directors' Room out in the rear of their banking-house, partly on land just purchased of the Pearse estate for this purpose. They will then have nice quarters.

The old Portsmouth Savings Bank, in the same building, but now entirely separate, is a very neat and cosy room; and as for getting at the funds, burglars might about as well try to break through the kingdom of heaven, as to defy all the steel doors, modern locks, bolts and bars,—not to mention that a watchman sleeps in each of these Banks, as in all others in the city. What with all the precautions, and a vigilant police, villains don't flourish so well in Portsmouth as in some other, both larger and smaller, places. So mote it be.

The Rockingham Ten Cent Savings Bank are to commence shortly the fitting of their new building on Market Street (formerly the noted Jones' dry goods store,) for a banking house. The four stories will be made into three, and the lower room fitted for the Bank, while above will be a good tenement for a family, with entrance by stairs both in front and rear,—for the better convenience of which the Bank has purchased the rear lot on Penhallow street. The brick addition at the rear is to be taken down, for better light; and at the front, iron pillars will be substituted for stone; and with pressed brick for facing, freestone window-caps, and modern doors and windows, the new building will be as much an ornament to the street, as the institution itself has proved a benefit to the city.

☞ The election of Tuesday was one of the most quiet ever known here. No exertion was made on either side to get out voters, except, perhaps, on the part of the Ward Three coppers, who found the Republicans ahead about all day. The polls were kept open until about 8 o'clock in the evening, to enable them to save themselves from defeat by waking the dead and urging the dying to come to life long enough to vote.

☞ The Republican candidate for Mayor being elected,—Brothers Butler & Laighton, of the Daniel Street Grocery, will please send that barrel of best flour and box of choicest raisins, to the Chronicle Office; or better, to Lincoln Hill Cottage. "You bet" on the wrong man, that time, friends. We like to "lay" raisins with this firm,—and win—for they have some of the best bloom lay-ers we ever saw. F.

☞ If some of the Democrats of Portsmouth had supported the Republican candidate for Mayor on Tuesday last with as much interest as they took at the Republican caucuses, Mr. Adams' majority for Mayor would have been over 400.

☞ Two pack-peddlers were in our counting room within an hour of each other on Wednesday afternoon — one was a deaf mute, and the other was tight, but his tongue was loose enough, though a little thick.

☞ Among the scattering votes for Aldermen, in Ward Two, on Friday, two ballots were thrown for a lady at the West End. She would make a good official.

CHANGE OF CAR TIME.—The morning train for Boston which leaves this city at 8.30, will leave five minutes earlier on and after Monday next. Remember the time, 8.25.

☞ Referring to a recent item stating that "at a recent family gathering in Dover seven old ladies were present, the average of whose ages was 76,"—a correspondent says 'Portsmouth can beat that. At a child's birth-day party held on Middle Street last month, five ladies were present, the average of their ages being 79, and the sum 395.' W.

☞ This (Thursday) evening, the P. I. W. A. Society, having completed their arrangements, will open their series of Assemblies at Irving Hall. If the managers—five ladies and five gentlemen—continue as they have begun, their reunions will be occasions of genuine enjoyment to the lively Society and their guests—as they promise.

☞ The Manchester Mirror says: "Portsmouth is plump into line once more." "Bully for Portsmouth! Big for Adams, a man of the people and for the people, and an up and down good fellow all the time."

☞ A severe Democratic joke—nominating a man to whom they are indebted for all their local victories of late years, and deliberate by deserting him.

☞ Hon. J. B. Adams will be Mayor January 4, 1870.

New Hampshire Items.

The great northeast gale of Saturday was fatal to the flagstaff on Merrimack Square, Manchester. A powerful gust broke it off about 30 feet from the ground. This flagstaff was erected for the city in 1859. It was surmounted by a gilded figure of a fireman, the top of which was 210 feet from the ground. This figure fell off in a gale two or three years ago. The flagstaff was erected at a cost of about $1000 for the accommodation of the firemen, who assembled there from all parts of New England.

Three years ago Messrs. Darling & Clark commenced in a small way, the manufacture of carriage bodies and seats, at Exeter. During the present year they have turned out 500 bodies, of all kinds, and 2000 seats, together with a large quantity of bent seat rails. They have also built several fine Concord wagons. They have now eight men at work, and one of Burt's improved horse powers, by which they do their sawing, planing and "sticking," and will soon add a gig-saw and an irregular planer. A large portion of their work is sold to dealers in Boston, whence it is sent to all parts of New England.

C. C. Gibson, the celebrated violinist, when a lad 15 years of age, walked from Henniker to Boston and back again, a distance of one hundred and fifty miles, to attend one of Ole Bull's concerts.

Geo. D. Woodman, a practicing attorney in Lowell, and son of Hon. Dana Woodman of New Hampton, died very suddenly on Friday evening at the residence of his father, where he had gone to spend Thanksgiving. He was thirty years of age, and apparently in good health.

On Thanksgiving Day, we learn from the Telegraph, the family of the late William Campbell, of Windham, met at the house of Mrs John Hayward, one of the family, in Nashua. The family originally consisted of sixteen children, fourteen of whom are living, and twelve of whom, with their husbands or wives, were present on this occasion. The mother, eighty-four years old, and thirty-three grandchildren, swelled the party to the number of fifty-eight.

Nashua has laid over two miles of sidewalk this season, mostly concrete.

On Thanksgiving evening two lumber sheds at Trickey's mills in Barrington, near Rochester line, were burned, and some $1500 worth of lumber destroyed.

The lead mines in Madison, on the eastern side of Six Mile pond, are very rich. The success in their working the last year, has induced the company owning one of them to increase its capacity for working. The product of these mines is now transported by horse teams to Portland.

San Francisco has body snatchers.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conducive to health and longevity, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of due care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is pre-disposed to contract them. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is Dyspepsia, once supposed to be incurable, but which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been provided in the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure, all the old palliatives formerly prescribed by physicians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, has effectually exploded this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by some of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento, California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,
Capt. D. FOSTER.

Capt. FOSTER is a ship owner and builder, residing at Port Burwell, Canada.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring to overcome for centuries, has at length been obviated. A vegetable cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as sugar candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two powerful cathartics, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destroed in this pleasant form to suspicion and bantle the prejudices of men nauseous pils and portions of which that dangerous cathartic is the main ingredient. More than a thousand dollars in gold was offered were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the paradventure of doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the merits of such remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the world's population, their numbers are small, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased may be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert those random and frequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with testimonials—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to show that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the skill of physicians, and yet to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned, and relished such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pains departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength in full health. From a mere skelton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and health to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an apetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all these wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beside-od on all sides. I had visitors daily who brought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for fand consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I felt fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prempted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption who, if their cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results were well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogance or conceit, that I have done a little more than my due, that I have had as much of a reputation for the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fanciled statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, and that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 for a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

In Remote Settlements of United Value.

Food makes blood; blood makes the body. If the blood be pure, the body is healthy. So if we keep the blood free from all those impurities are lurking about, which must be removed, and the sooner the better.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at long intervals. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full Directions are with each box.

MECHANIC ASSOCIATION.—For many years it was the custom of this Association to hold a public celebration annually, including a procession with music and banners, oration, dinner, &c.; but of late years this has been omitted. From the interesting little compendium of the Association, as drawn up from the records by Secretary Parker, and recently printed by Mr. Brewster, we learn that the first celebration was on the third anniversary, Oct. 1805, when Bro. Charles Pierce was the orator, and dinner was served in Davenport's Hall, in his hotel where Leonard Akerman's store now stands; there were then 111 members. The next year, procession with music again, oration by Bro. Joseph Clark Jr., and dinner spread in the same popular landlord's hall.

In 1807, the Association attended their first funeral—87 members being present, which is more than triple the number that usually assemble now. There was a celebration this year in October, the oration by Bro. Benjamin Akerman, and dinner at Mr. Davenport's; 136 members then. In 1808, celebration, address by Bro. Thomas P. Drown, dinner at Davenport's. 1809, procession, &c., address by Bro. Chas. Peirce, and dinner by Mr. Davenport. 1810, address by Bro. Wm. Weeks, dinner at Davenport's; 1811, address by Bro. Abner Greenleaf and dinner by Mr. Davenport; 1812, address by Bro. Dan'l P. Drown, dinner at Davenport's —which is the last time his name appears.

In 1813 and '14, there appears to have been no celebration, probably because of the war then pending with England, which often came within sight and sound of the city. Number of members then 103. In 1815, Feb. 23d, the Association celebrated the Peace by a procession under escort of the L. I. Co. 1st. Regt., with the Exeter Band; an address was delivered at the North Church by Bro. Benj. Akerman, and dinner at Mr. Treadwell's hotel, which then stood on the present site of Dr. Kimball's store. In October of the same year the Association "celebrated" again, the inevitable address this time by Bro. David C. Foster, and the not less inevitable dinner at Mr. Treadwell's again. Only 97 members at this time, being one less than the original number; this the thirteenth anniversary.

1816, no celebration recorded. 1817, July 16th, a committee and delegation of the Association waited upon President Monroe, then in town, and Bro. Abner Greenleaf addressed him with fitting compliments and good wishes. In October there was also the annual celebration, with address by Bro. Thos. S. Bowles in Jefferson Hall, and dinner served by Mr. Peduzzi. 94 members; $1020.60 funds.

From 1818 to 1825 there appears to have been no celebrations. In 1823 the Apprentices' Library was instituted, by donations of money from citizens, and 480 vols. of books. This was continued till 1847, when for lack of use, the books were sold at auction among the members. In 1826 there was a celebration, — procession with music, address at the Universalist Meeting House by Bro. A. Greenleaf, and collation spread in Jefferson Hall. 100 members.

In 1827 and '28 no display. 1829, address by Bro. T. H. Miller at the Pleasant Street Church, and collation served in Jefferson Hall by R. S. Rand. 1830, none; funds $1917.01. In 1831 address by Presdt. John Smith at the Universalist Church, and collation by Mr. Hadley at Jefferson Hall. 1834, address at Middle Street Church by Bro. C. W. Brewster, and dinner at "Mr. Hadley's hotel," (afterwards Piscataqua House, by J. G. Hadley.) 1836, addre by Bro. Zara Tompson, at what is now the Temple, and dinner at Neal's Hotel, now the Franklin House. 138 members.

In 1837, address by Bro. Abner Greenleaf at Universalist Church, and dinner at Neal's Hotel. 1840, address by Rev. Moses Ballou at his church.—(the first given by other than a member,) and dinner at Franklin Hall by Mr. Barnabee. 151 members, and $3191.72 funds. 1843, celebration, address by Br. Alfred M. Beck, and this time supper at Franklin Hall by Mr. Barnabee, with the "wives, daughters and sweet-hearts" of the members—and about three hours were spent in social converse, short speeches, singing, &c. 150 members. 1845, funds $3640. 1847, procession as heretofore, address at North Church by Hon. Ichobod Bartlett, and supper (with ladiers) at the Court House by Mr. Barnabee.

In 1848, the celebration was in the evening; address at the Temple by Jeremiah Young, and supper with ladies at Franklin Hall by Mr. Barnabee. In 1849, the Constitution was so changed that members after forty years payment should be free from assesment: which term was shifted in 1866 to 35 years payment. In 1850 the treasurer reports $5,000 funds, invested in railroads, factories, banks,—part of which formed a sunken fund.

"1855 was the 50th anniversary, and was "celebrated"—processsion, address at the Middle Street Church by Bro. C. W. Brewster, and supper with ladies at the Piscataqua House by J. G. Hadley. And this appears to have been the last regular celebration by the Association —the only turn-out since being when they marched to the Rockingham Fair on Middle Street in 1857. In 1864 the number of members had dwindled to 120; funds constantly increasing

In 1865, at one of the thinly-attended meetings in the dingy old Court House —at the suggestion and on motion of Bro. Frank W. Miller, seconded by Bro. E. M. Brown, and supported by remarks of Bros. L. W. Brewster, B. M. Parker and others, — a committee was appointed to consider and report on the establishment of special quarters, a Reading Room &c., for the Association—from which movement has resulted the growth and developement of the old Society to its present dimensions of about 190 members, with bright prospects. The funds in 1868 were about $8000, since invested in real estate. In 1867 the Association made an excursion to Portland per rail, which was highly enjoyed. Long may the staunch old Association increase.

☞ A very pleasant social occasion was made of the organization of the new Board of Officers of the Mechanic Association, at the Franklin House, Wednesday evening. The hospitality of President John T. Dame was highly enjoyed by the new officers, several past officers, &c., comprising quite a party—for which mine host Col. W. S. Hadley, of the Franklin, catered in his usual liberal and satisfactory manner. The old Mechanic Association was never so flourishing as now,—which is mainly owing to the good management of its officers, prominent among them for several years being the active and efficient President.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 159 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

and the amount of the mortgage is

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

Morning Chronicle.

THE INCOME TAX.—This odious tax expires by the terms of the act imposing it, in 1870; and it is to be hoped that it will not be again forced upon the people. It is the most oppressive and unequal of all the taxes, because it falls mainly upon persons of comparatively small means, while the wealthy do not feel it.—Concord Patriot.

Truly all things are great or small, by comparison. But it does not appear, (says Uncle Toby,) that the Income Tax falls on the Poor at all. When a man has an income of over $1000 per annum, then (and not till then) he is taxed on the overplus. And so we have but few tears to shed over the victims of the income tax.

It may be unequal,—for it is next to impossible to make and collect a strictly equal tax: but we cannot see, when a man enjoys an income of $2000 a year, that it oppresses him at all to tax him for $1000.

Income taxes are modern things. The moneyed aristocracy of England used to get along almost tax free—but the Income Tax of the last few years, has reached them, and compelled them to bear a share of the public burdens. No good reason can be given against the income tax there;—and as yet, we see none here.

The taxes that affect the poor, should be repealed, or reduced, before we relieve those persons of small means, who have clear incomes of over $1000.

The two largest income taxes paid in this city the last year, were paid by our two great Brewers! Did they feel the oppression?—We think not.

SINGULAR SPIRIT OF REVENGE IN A SPIDER.—The Bangor Whig tells a singular story which shows that spiders are revengeful as well as sly and wary foes. It says: "A friend of ours noticed a large and smaller spider in pursuit of a fly. The small one caught the fly and was carrying it off; the large one attacked him, took possession of the fly and marched off. The little one crept up behind the large one, bit him on the leg, and ran away for dear life. Instantly the large spider commenced swelling and in five minutes was dead. Possibly the bite of a spider may not be dangerous to the human system, but it evidently effects one of the same species unfavorably."

Our files bear testimony to the same singular spirit of revenge in the spider, only to a more remarkable degree, inasmuch as the attack in this instance was made upon a man instead of a fellow spider, and was made some time after the offence. The Telegraph of July 2, 1834, says: "On Saturday last a compositor in our office heard that peculiar noise made by a fly when attacked by a spider, proceeding from a web on the opposite side of the room. He proceeded to the spot, liberated the fly, and returned to his case. Some time after, he felt a severe bit upon his neck, and upon looking for the cause, perceived the identical spider from which he had taken the fly, making its way off with all possible haste, and notwithstanding the efforts made to catch it, it eventually by means of a thread which it had attached to his dress previous to making its attack, escaped. The place bitten swelled to the extent of half an inch in diameter, but had entirely disappeared on Monday. It is almost impossible to conceive of a spider's watching a person, descending from its elevation, crossing the floor, and actually attacking him with intent to kill, but nevertheless it is absolutely true, and we have no doubt the little fellow retreated, exulting in the success of the experiment. We will only add that it must have had a most horrid temper."—Gloucester Telegraph.

—Barnstable county, Massachusetts, is a happy county. Its jail is a superfluity, an ornament, and an evidence of its high moral character; for, with the exception of the keeper, there has been nobody in that dreary abode for the last month. Just to keep up appearances, they hired "a vagrant" to go to the jail and live at free quarters, but even he eloped after a residence of ten days. He couldn't stand the dreadful solitude.

—An important improvement in the manufacture of horse collars has just been devised by a Philadelphia mechanic. The collar being stuffed with elastic cork, is light in weight, and adapts itself to the shape of the animal as readily as if it was moulded. It is highly elastic, does not chafe or gall the neck, and, the cork being a non-conductor, injury from the heat is prevented.

—A Kansas correspondent of the Rural World writes:—I will give you an infallible remedy for galls and sores of all kinds on horses, including what is generally called scratches: Two ounces extract of lead, two ounces spirits of wine, once ounce sal ammoniac, half ounce white vitriol, four ounces soft water; mix, dissolve, and wash three or four times a day.

—This advertisement in a White Pine paper is called "irrelevant" by an Oregon contemporary: "And Joseph wept aloud, and he said unto his brethren: 'I am Joseph; doth my father yet live?' And his brethren answered him 'You bet; the old man is doing bully, for he boards at the Cosmopolitan."

—A woman at Columbus, Ga., brought a suit against her husband for adultery. In court, at the trial, the woman said she didn't object to moderate adultery, but her husband wasn't one of your moderate kind. Moderate woman that.

—It is advertised in Boston that Rev. Mr. Murray is to preach Sunday evenings at Music Hall on "great themes," and that the sermons will be accompanied by "the grandest display of devotional music ever listened to in Boston." This is quite equal to, and on a par with, the report of one of the papers when Mr. Everett was a Unatarian minister in Boston, and he offered prayer on a public occasion. The paper said it was "the most eloquent prayer ever delivered to a Boston audience."—N. Y. Obs.

—It is told of Edmund Kean, that while laboring under one of his drunken fits, and when the manager and several of his assistants were looking everywhere for him, he was found with his arms clasped around the forelegs of a splendid horse that was hitched to the sidewalk, while his body was reeling in the gutter, and he was exclaiming over and over again, "It is a lie that 'man is the noblest work of God'—a lie, for it is the horse."

—After the representation of Atree, a tragedy full of horrors, one of Crebillion's friends asked him why he had adopted such terrible representations? "There was no choice left me," said he; "Corneille has taken Heaven; Racine the earth; you see, sir, that nothing remained for me but Hell!"

—The New York Sun, speaking of the drought, said very innocently, and doubtless very truthfully, the other day, that "A part of the bed of the Passaic river above the falls, is dry, and children play upon it daily." Whereupon the Richmond Enquirer remarks, "That bed won't be dry long."

—Brown, who was in love with a young lady, asked permission to call her by the explicit name of some animal, which was granted on condition that she should have the same privilege. On leaving, Brown said; "Good night, deer." "Good night, boar," said she. Brown has since given up the company of young ladies.

—A young lady proclaimed to her inamorato the distinction between printing and publishing, and at the conclusion of her remarks, by way of illustration, she said: "You may print a kiss upon my cheek, but you must not publish it."

—The lady principal of a school, in her advertisement, mentioned her female assistant, and the "reputation for teaching which she bears;" but the printer left out the "which," so the advertisement went forth commending the lady's "reputation for teaching she bears."

—An Irishman about to join a company forming during our late war, was questioned by one of the officers: "Well, sir when you get in battle, will you fight or run?" "An' faith," replied the Hibernian, "I'll be after doing as a majority av yees does."

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.—The death of Mrs. Torrey of Medway, is a reminder of the wonderful change in public sentiment. When the body of her husband, Charles T. Torrey, was brought from Baltimore to Boston, there was such strong opposition against opening Park Street Church, that the funeral was finally held in Tremont Temple. Ex-Governor Pratt, who has recently died, was then Governor of Maryland, and declined to pardon Mr. Torrey, who was dying of consumption, on the ground that he refused to express regret that he had been instrumental in running off slaves. Had the offense been that of burglary or murder even, there is little doubt that Mr. Torrey might have been permitted to come home and die among his friends.—Recorder.

We remember it well, says Uncle Toby, and most heartily did we despise the tyrannical worshippers of slavery, North and South. They and their idol are now mostly of the past; let their memorial perish with them.

☞ Messrs. Sampson, Davenport & Co., Directory Publishers, of 47 Congress St., Boston, have issued the following "Directory Caution," dated November 20th.

The public are cautioned against giving orders for Directories, or advertisements in them, to any persons who at the present time represent themselves as agents for the New England Business Directory, as we shall not issue another edition until January 1, 1871, and consequently have no canvassers in the field on that work, and shall have none till nearly a year from this time.

P. S.—We have at present no agents canvassing for any work except the New York State Directory and the Lowell Directory.

VOTE.—The Boston Commonwealth well says that "the disregard of duty on the part of intelligent men, in their failure to exercise the suffrage, is something that deserves reprehension. Many seem to think that elections somehow will take care of themselves and protect the State from harm without their aid, and it is only when some immediate personal or local harm threatens them that they are roused. A moment's reflection ought to be enough to convince them that they are all wrong in this. Society needs their vote at each and every election. They have no right to refuse it, at whatever inconvenience. In a republican government, there is no more sacred duty than the duty of voting."

TO TELL THE ACTUAL VALUE OF COWS.—The American Stock Journal in reference to the subject says:

"Now, we can go into a dairying neighborhood, and point to farmers who are losing from two to three thousand dollars a year by keeping cows yielding two hundred pounds of butter per year, instead of those that would yield from five to six hundred pounds in the same time. How many dairymen can tell the relative value of each cow of his herd by actual test? There is a little instrument for this purpose that don't cost much, but a very few dairy men know anything about it. It is called a "Lactometer," constructed by placing a number of glass tubes, of equal length and diameter, in a wooden frame. The milk from each cow is placed in some of these glass tubes; there they stand side by side, and you can see the depth of cream that rises in each tube, representing a certain cow, and estimate her value thereby. These instruments are kept for sale in Philadelphia and other cities."

Might not our farmers profit by the above item?

TO FATTEN CHICKENS.—It is hopeless to attempt to fatten them while they are at liberty. They must be put in a proper coop; and this, like most other poultry appurtenances, need not be expensive. To fatten twenty fowls, a coop may be three feet long, eighteen inches high and eighteen inches deep, made entirely of bars. No part solid—neither top, sides nor bottom. Discretion must be used according to the sizes of the chickens put up. They do not want room; indeed, the closer the better—provided they can all stand up at the same time. Care must be taken to put up such as have been accustomed to be together, or they will fight. If one is quarrelsome, it is better to remove it at once; as, like other bad examples, it soon finds imitators. A diseased chicken should not be put up. The food should be ground oats, and may either be put up in a trough, or on a flat board running along the front of the coop. It may be mixed with water or milk; the latter is the better. It should be well soaked, forming a pulp as loose as can be, provided it does not run off the board. They must be well fed three of four times a day—the first time as soon after daybreak as may be possible or convenient, and then at intervals of four hours. Each meal should be as much and no more than they can eat up clean. When they have done feeding, the board should be wiped and some gravel may be spread. It causes them to feed and thrive.—Cottage Gardener.

FRIDAY, NOV. 26, 1869.

A TRUE WITNESS ON THE CHINESE QUESTION.—One of the editors of the New York Observer, who is no "fanatic," but a conservative of the old school, writes from California, in high praise of a Sunday School at San Francisco, where about 100 Chinese youth are taught useful knowledge;—and mentions the fact that two roughs assaulted two of the Chinese scholars as they went from the School the previous Sunday, and beat them with stones, but were beaten off. Eight other Chinese saw the assault, but "the ten Chinamen who saw it could not be witnesses, nor could they have been witnesses if the Chinamen had been murdered. Such is the law in California." He then goes on to say:—

The ground of opposition to the Chinese in California is not to any extent social; it is partly a question of labor, and as such and for other reasons has been made a political question by men who wished to gain votes for themselves or their party. From their early introduction into California, their skillfulness, industry and frugality, and their willingness and ability to work for lower wages than other foreigners or Americans, brought them into direct competition with the laboring classes. They can turn their hands to almost any thing, and do it well; and so they have come to be employed in the house, in the shop, in the field, wherever any kind of work is to be done.

They have thus come in conflict with the Bridgets, to whom California was a harvest field, a mine of gold; and being equally expert and economical in outdoor work, they have incurred the hostility of the Patricks as well; and Patrick and Bridget have joined their forces to drive them out of California; and United States Senator Casserly, and the like of him for the sake of Patrick's vote, have not hesitated to utter the most atrocious sentiments in counselling opposition to the Chinese, even to driving them from the country, vi et armis. Their utter helplessness in the eye of the law, their incapacity to testify in the courts, is a matter for which the majority of the people of California must be held responsible, so long as the laws continue to be what they are.

I am happy to say that the Christian people of California, so far as I have had any intercourse with them and so far as my knowledge extends, do not share in any measure in the prejudice against the Chinese. I believe they are doing all they can for the improvement of their position. Public men, too, are laboring to secure their protection by giving them the rights which are accorded to other foreigners.

A MARKET FOR POTATOES.—The crop of potatoes this year promises to be a large one. To the question, What shall we do with them? "Rural" of the Tribune, answers:

What you cannot sell, feed to your cows, horses and pigs. In the New England States and New York, in the old time, the potato crop had no commercial value, but was of great importance for feeding purposes. Better give our work teams in spring a feed of potatoes at noon, rather than corn, especially if we feed corn at night and morning. If you have a dry cow to fat, feed her potatoes. If short of corn for the pigs, boil the potatoes for them. A peck a day to each cow will add to your yield of butter.

The surplus for market is more apparent than real, after deducting for home use. Thousands of farmer's families at the West will have a winter's supply for the first time, thanks to the potato mania. The Colorado potato-bug that was to sweep away this crop, and cut it off from the list of good plants, has disappeared from among us, (in central Illinois) and the potatoe bids fair to be more valuable than before.

THE RAILROAD TO KEENE.—The Keene Railroad that has lately been mentioned in the papers is not the contemplated road from Parker's, in Goffstown, to Keene, but some other scheme, that has different objects in view. It has a look towards a consolidation of the Boston, Lowell and Nashua with nothern roads, by the way of the Wilton and Cheshire, and more northern lines, as a lever over which to pry in our next Legislature. If the Concord and the northern roads won't join in the scheme of consolidation, it may be argued that the travel will be taken over the new and yet imaginary line, and leave the way interests between Nashua to White River Junction to take care of themselves. This is what may be done, though we don't hear it discussed with that view. Railroads are built for an object though we do not always see it.—Mirror.

—A man who was apparently more of a wit than a madman, but who notwithstanding was confined in a madhouse, being asked how he came there, answered, "Merely a dispute of words. I said that all men were mad, and all men said that I was mad, and the majority carried their point."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conducive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of due care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is pre-disposed to contract them. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is dyspepsia, once supposed to be incurable, but which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now nearly two years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and tone and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been provided in the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure, all the old palliatives formerly prescribed by physicians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in the worst cases of dyspepsia, after it has long has effectually exploded this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by some of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon it was noised far and wide; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

POST BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from Allen's LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

In Medication.

The great difficulty with which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has given to the public. It contains vegetable botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and obtained in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous article is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the fleshier sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal other among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or drench or draught or pill.

The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profit and loss as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to make use of my pills, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We have also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon his home; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortunately with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove found fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them specially. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single ray of it was discerned. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done to save me. I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. My emaciation became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and distressing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and withflesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure so seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally besieged on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for fund consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to the study of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as that of my own, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the road to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been may be done." What I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to the living, in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full directions are with each box.

A CARD.—Having been chosen by the Republicans of Ward One, as one of their representatives in the Common Council of the city, I take this method of returning them my sincere thanks for this mark of their confidence. I would also acknowledge my obligation to the mud-digger which the Democracy imported from somewhere some time ago, to endeavor to overwhelm the Republican party and all who dare to sympathise with them, with home-made dirt.

A short time ago I happened to rake open an old Democratic sore, which is offensive to the modern Democratic nostrils; so, as argument was out of the question, (as I had merely mentioned historical facts,) the mud-digger was set to work to try and bury the "unpleasantness" with a big shower of Democratic missiles. The machine was fired up with alcohol, and the refined phraseology of the bar-room was fairly "shovelled" at the object of their wrath:—the certain result of which was, that the Republicans, aware that only a genuine Republican could cause such a wasteful expenditure of Democratic ammunition, at once pitched upon me as a candidate for the elevated position to which I was subsequently elected. I therefore here express my thanks to the mud-digger,—but regret that it did not commence operating in my favor a little sooner, in which case it would probably have succeeded in making me Alderman—though my vest is not of the regulation Aldermanic cut, being smallest at the bottom.

Having thanked those who nominated and elected me, I would say to my friends, ladies and gentlemen both, that they need not fear to address me with the same freedom which has always characterized our social intercourse, as I shall continue to recognize them precisely as I did before I became Common Councilman elect; political elevation does not turn my head.

As a proof that rank does not arouse pride in my heart, I may mention that I attended a dance the other evening, and greeted those gentlemen whom I knew, and the ladies whether I knew them or not, in as genial a manner as could any private citizen. I even went through the "mazy dance"—and mazy enough it was before I got through it,—amazed the prompter so much that he absolutely couldn't tell what the figure was we were dancing. I got along well until I happened to see a very handsome lady in another set—we were "doing" a quadrille—and when somebody gave some order about partners, I went for the handsome lady, captured her, and was recaptured in a distant corner of the room by the entire set to which I belonged, and carried back in confusion. I do not see where I was wrong; the lady was standing alone just then, and why shouldn't I catch her? But I was reproved—in fact, I may say blown up, by two quadrille sets at once—my own and the lady's.

Afterwards, when I went wrong again, a little lady (I call her "little" from a feeling of revenge—she would like to be six feet high, but can't,) said to me, "you have only to stand still just now, and we'll turn you round,"—which directions I followed, with the result of soon finding myself standing all alone in the middle of the floor, and the rest of the set pretty nearly out of sight. I felt a little indignant with the little lady, not because the man cared about it, but because the Common Councillor elect was not treated with the respect due to his rank. But I had the satisfaction of keeping a chair which I knew she wanted, all the evening, which is some comfort. PAKEHA.

NO. 18 DANIEL STREET.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

Since closing the GREAT CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD LOAN, which meets all these requirements, we have carefully examined many others, but have found no other which would fully do so, until the following was placed in our hands:

FIRST MORTGAGE
SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS
OF THE
WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.
OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 159 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE
OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 1md&wn12

CURLING IRONS, For Sale by
E. A. STEVENS.

Morning Chronicle.

Married and Didn't Know It.

Was such a thing ever heard of! I fancy not; it wouldn't agree with the eternal fitness of things. Nevertheless, I was married in broad daylight, in full possession of my senses, and was not aware of the happy fact until four days afterwards! How did it happen? Ah, dear reader, it is just my purpose to relate that.

My father's patronymic was Dimple, and I was the only little Dimple that he and my mother could boast of. My father died four years before I attained my majority, and I fell heir to The Willows, a goodly fortune, and a large share of inherent bashfulness; inherent, I say, because my worthy mother often told me that my father was the most bashful young man that she ever met with. From the time of my father's death my mother lived very retired; indeed, so secluded from the outside world that when manhood's years were upon me, and circumstances threw me into society, I found myself incapable of assuming the position due to me. I was possessed of talents, had an excellent education and much information, for I had been a great reader—my books had been my chief companions—yet with all my studying and reading I had neglected the great book of society, that book of so many types.

To be sure I had some acquaintance—even a hermit knows somebody—yet these were made by no exertions on my part. I had no young lady friends; I belonged to no "set;" I knew no "jolly fellows;" and if I mention our minister and a few worthy church members, my teachers, persons with whom I had business transactions, and some ancient friends of my mother's, I will enumerate all who were honored by having me notice them. In my usual intercourse with men I could proceed without embarrassment, but when in company—as I found I had to be after I had taken upon myself the ownership and management of our home—I was ill at ease; my conversational powers were of the poorest description; I was not affable, even at commonplaces; and knowing my failings, I strove to be as retiring and unassuming as possible. My blushing, stammering confusion in the presence of ladies made me a butt for their sly ridicule, and my impressions of them were not flattering; I conceived them to be a flirting, affected set, who thought it womanly to measure their abilities by their conquests, and apply the term "soft" to good natured gentleman of modest dispositions. Alas, the strings attached to my mother's apron had very strong ties for her dear boy!

As a matter of course, such game as myself was not to be neglected; my wings were well feathered, and the people knew it. In my walks, bows from obsequious individuals were plenty; professional men "happy to meet" me; elderly gentlemen shook my hand in a fatherly manner, asking me to call and see them at their houses, "And you know, my dear Dimple, if I should not be at home, why the ladies will only be too glad to receive you." Enterprising mammas, prospecting for gold, thought me as rich a spot as they could strike on, and although their daughters were happy in ridiculing my failings, they would have been much happier had I paid court to them. Did I ever think of marrying? Oh, yes; but I had never seen a reality that would approach my ideal of a wife, and sometimes I blamed myself for looking for too much perfection. Invitations to call, and Invitations to parties were alike neglected, although my mother strove to persuade me to accept some of them, that I might rub off some of the rust of disuse; and I became more of a bookworm than ever, wishing for no other world than The Willows, no other society than that of the speakers of the silent language—my books.

At last, however a circumstance transpired which materially altered the monotony of my life. A serious trespass on my property gave me occasion to consult Judge Walker, of Salem, who had been one of the executors of my father's will, and who had always been his legal adviser. On calling at his office one afternoon, I found that he was at court presiding at a murder trial. My business was urgent; it would be imprudent to delay the matter too long, and as it was impossible to confer with the judge then, I concluded to wait and see him at his house during the evening. The Willows was a mile out of town, and the Judge's residence just half way between. Eight o'clock found me at the wicket gate that opened into the Judge's garden, and there I stopped and shuddered—that Judge had a daughter.

I had forgotten that. What would I do! "Oh, never mind, my boy," said I to myself; "ask for the Judge, transact your business, and depart with a clear conscience." Certainly just the idea. Through the wicket gate, up the gravel walk, under the grape vine, and I was on the stoop. This was built in piazza style, and between its shadow, the darkness of the night, and the want of a light in the hall, I had trouble in finding the knocker. A hard rap at this was soon answered by a pattering of feet, and a voice singing, "Charley is my darling!" The door was hurriedly opened, and before I could speak, a pair of arms were thrown about my neck, and a girlish voice said:

"What detained you so long, father?" and a plump warm cheek was pressed against mine, as if the owner was waiting to a receive paternal kiss.

This was a predicament for a bashful man. I had never kissed a lady in my life, and now to have a handsome girl's arms about my neck, and a pair of lips so close to mine, was rather—well, it was more than I had bargained for. I was embarrassed, yet I admit that I actually thought of giving her a loving hug and kiss, and then beg her pardon, and tell her that I mistook her for her mother. I was embarrassed, and it was not until the arms were taken from my neck, my fair embracer saying, "Why, father, what is the matter?" that I found words to explain myself.

"My dear young lady—a—that is—Miss Walker, your father is not me; you must—a—or at least I must—"

At this juncture the appearance of a servant with a light put an end to my elaborate apology, and discovered me with hat in hand trying to articulate something, and Miss Walker standing a beautiful piece of confusion. She had retreated a few steps, but had neither screamed nor fainted; her curls were slightly disordered, her cheeks were covered with normanly blushes, and a startled expression was on her face, which relaxed into a smile as she recognized me, and broke the awkward silence.

"Why, Mr. Dimple! Dear me, what a mistake I have made! I was sure you were father; you must excuse me, sir."

Excuse her! Certainly I would. Such mistakes I thought very excusable, especially with such a fair offender. My embarrassment over, I stated my business, and knowing of course, that the judge was not at home, I was taking my leave, begging a world of pardon, when a very pressing invitation to stay and wait the Judge's coming, brought me to a halt.

My distrust of a woman generally had persuaded me to decline, but Miss Walker's conduct, after her little, and to me, pleasant mistake, her unaffectedness and charming nonchalance, had awakened my dormant admiration—I liked the girl. I sacrificed myself, a doomed man, and seated in an armed chair before one of those first rate fires that I loved so much.

She busied herself a few moments putting away some sewing, and as she flitted here and there I had a chance of observing her. She was of medium height, and her perfect figure was well set off by a close fitting dress reaching the neck and relieved by a tasty linen collar and brooch, white linen cuffs terminating with the sleeves. Her face had a quiet modest expression of tone and beauty; her lips full and pouting, and her chin well rounded, both showing strong love and affection; her eyes large and blue, and well shaped head adorned with a profusion of chesnut curls. She kept chatting all the time, endeavoring to keep me at ease; but the little contretemps on my arrival, and her pleasing manners, had stolen away half my diffidence.

Concluded to-morrow.

A LOVER'S STORY.

There was a woman once I loved—
It is many years ago—
Fair as the summer's sun, she proved Frail as winter's snow!

Ah! then I quarrelled with the skies—
It is many years ago—
Sorrow had not made me wise;
Has it made me so?

'Twas by this very stream we stood—
It is many years ago—
Hush! her voice is in the wood
And the river's flow.

If you would know the things she said—
It is many years ago—
Watch my face when I am dead,
And my smile will show.

THE BROWN HAND.

A hand of brawn, with muscles of steel,
The throat of a foe to grasp;
A hand that is loving, bold and leal,
And free for friendly clasp;
A hand to give and a hand to gain,
To steady the plow' to reap the grain,
Or to guide the ship o'er the raging main.

An honest hand for a friend to hold
With a grip both fond and true;
A hand that is mightier far than gold,
And ever ready to do;
A hand for the weak to grasp at need,
That often tells for a scanty meed,
And manfully works for a noble deed.

A hand that is blackened with labor's stain,
And bold in the cause of right;
A tender hand by the couch of pain,
Its touch by love made light;
A hand for woman to loving cling,
To make on the anvil the iron ring,
To level a thrown or crown a king.

GOOD RULES FOR FARMERS.—1. Never purchase land on credit, unless it be in a new country where it is certain to enhance in value rapidly.

2. Keep no more live stock of any kind than you can keep in good condition.

3. Never allow your stock to suffer from cold, by housing them in open, rickety buildings, and remember, that warm, comfortable stables are a saving of one-quarter of the feed that would otherwise be required.

4. If your farm is so large that you cannot cultivate all of it to advantage, nor keep good fences on it, sell a part, and put the money out at interest. You may depend that by so doing, you will save a great deal of care and trouble, and make money faster than by skimming over a large surface to get poor crops, and those half destroyed by unruly cattle breaking over your dilapidated fences.

5. Look well to your orchard, and remember that it costs no more to produce apples that sell for fifty cents a bushel than it does those that sell for 12 1-2 cents.

6. Keep none but the best implements that can be produced, and when you possess them take care of them. It is shocking to a good farmer to see his neighbors leaving their plows and harrows in the field week after week, to soak in the rains and crack in the sun.

7. Never suffer yourself to be unprovided with suitable work for yourself and hands on rainy days. A commodious work-shop is necessary on such days, and a plenty of good tools. In such cases a good farmer will never lack for work. Much money may be thus saved that otherwise would go to the wheelwright.

8. Never borrow tools, unless it be in some unforeseen contingency. Every farmer should own every kind of implement necessary on his farm.

9. Never put off till to-morrow what may as well be done to-day. Thousands of tons of hay have been ruined by not heeding this rule.

10. Do all your work well. What is worth doing at all, is worth doing well.

11. Don't try to make merchants, lawyers, physicians or clergymen of your sons, because the farmer's vocation is without honor. Gen. Washington was not ashamed of being a farmer, and you are no better than he was.

12. The soil must, like the horse or the ox, be fed, in order to give forth abundantly, and it must have rest. A judicious rotation of crops is the grand secret of prosperous farming.

13. The manure heap is an important consideration with the former. It should be increased by all substances that are easily procured, of a decaying nature, remember that ammonia is the essence—the life of all manures, and that plaster absorbs it, and retains it in the heap, while lime sets it free and causes it to escape. Carting the manure to the field and leaving it in heaps for months or weeks before it is spread and plowed under, is but one step short of insanity. It should be carted out no faster than it can be spread and plowed under.

14. Never leave your hired hands to work alone. Be present, with them, even if you do nothing but look on. A pair of eyes will sometimes do wonders with workmen.

15. The farmer who refuses to lay before his children several good periodicals of the day, including one agricultural paper, is allowing his wealth and the usefulness of his family to run away at the bung, while he is saving at the spiggot.

Gentlemen are invited to the new fashioned morning reading parties, which the ladies have started. They keep early hours at both ends of daylight in consequence. Do they though?

Quick work in Minnesota: A man bought a lot, built a house and sent up housekeeping within the space of forty-eight hours, and had a son and heir born to him before the first meal was eaten in the house.

SATURDAY, NOV. 27, 1869.

Short Cuts.

Firemen's fights are frequent in Philadelphia.

McFarland, a lawyer, shot Mr. A. D. Richardson in the New York Tribune office, on account of his having alienated his wife's affection, as he alleged. This is the second time he has attempted to take Mr. Richardson's life, but hopes are entertained of the recovery of the victim.

Quoquinnapssakesasanagnog is the big name to a small stream in Mount Vernon.

The Haytiens and Dominicans are anxious to be annexed to the United States.

Mr. Doe, the brakeman so severely injured on the B. & M., R. R., Thursday evening, has died of his injuries.

Two counterfeiters were arrested in Concord by detectives from Philadelphia, on Thursday.

Gold, 124 3-4.

GREAT DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY BY WIND.—At Pawlet, Vt., on Saturday, the 20th inst., in the forenoon, a large barn, owned by Allen Wheadon, with stables underneath, containing 40 valuable cows, was shoved from the foundation and fell, killing 34 of the cows and injuring the rest. One side of the barn rested on stone-work, the other side and ends on frame-work, and being moved off from the stone, the frame-work crushed, and the barn, full of hay and grain, dropped with its terrible destruction.

A great many houses and other buildings were either unroofed or demolished; numerous haystacks scattered to the winds, and any number of chimneys levelled to the roof; orchards, fences and forest trees laid low. Similar havoc extended through the adjoining towns.

THE CITIZENS' TICKET.—The Concord Monitor, of the Saturday before our City Election, had the following item:

A Portsmouth correspondent says that many of the heavy tax payers of Portsmouth are dissatisfied with the nomination for Mayor, and with the class of persons who seek to control the City Government, and a "Citizens'" nomination may be the result of their deliberations.

We presume the correspondent referred to the Republican nominations, tho' he don't say so;—inasmuch as the democratic tickets had not been made public.

We can understand the statement about the heavy tax payers and their dissatisfaction, (says Uncle Toby,) but are not sure that we know what class of persons they are, who seek (or sought) to control the City Government.

The proposed Citizens' nomination was not made, for the heavy tax payers,—if any of them thought of so foolish a thing as to play second fiddle to the democratic party,—wisely concluded to vote for the nominations which were made in such very full Republican caucuses, and the result is seen in the election of the whole ticket in two wards, and in the great majority for Mayor.

While it may be true that some heavy tax payer, or payers, were not satisfied, —the election shows that they were not many:—and it is known that some of the very heaviest expressed their satisfaction before the election, and in that manner aided the result.

Whatever class of persons sought to control the City Government, those who are now chosen to compose it, are mainly of the Working and Business Class, as the reader may see by the list below. Does anybody object to this, and demand that only gentlemen of leisure and great wealth should occupy their places?

The Mayor, Joseph B. Adams, has been a Clerk, Auctioneer, Sheriff, and Postmaster.

Aldermen.—George W. Pendexter, joiner, runs a planing mill; John Pender, shoemaker; Albert A. Fernald, lumber dealer; Frank W. Miller, printer and editor; Thos. S. Nowell, shoe manufacturer; Thos. E. O. Marvin, manufacturer of cod liver oil; Samuel Clark, joiner; Wm. W. Cotton, merchant.

Council.—John C. Tibbetts, painter; Israel P. Miller, printer and editor; James A. Waterhouse, master laborer; James H. Thompson, joiner and wood dealer; Chas. E. Plaisted, post office clerk; John T. French, dealer in sashes and blinds; Cooledge Perry, tailor; Robert C. Sides, jr., machinist; John F. Marden, farmer; Alpha Senter, clerk; Samuel R. Gardner, joiner.

There was probably no special intention to make a Workingman's Ticket, in the caucuses; but the City Council is much more largely composed of real, active, practical working men, than it would be likely to be, had it been chosen by a professed Workingmen's Party, or a Citizens' Party.

Mr. F. H. Robbins, agent for J. B. Burr & Co. Hartford, Conn. is now in this city, and will wait upon our citizens and those of the surrounding towns, for the purpose of giving them an opportunity to purchase the very interesting new publication entitled "Struggles and Triumphs of P. T. Barnum," the great Showman.

—Young Man: Are you waiting for some door to open into a broad and useful future? Don't wait. Select the door and try it open, even though you get your fingers pinched.

New Hampshire Items.

The Nashua Telegraph says that Mr. John Joice, of Winchester, was severely injured, on the 14th inst, while at work in the circular saw-mill of Deacon S. W. Buffum. His right foot was caught by the "return of the carriage," and was crushed so badly that it may be necessary to amputate it.

The Lawrence American says that a year or two since, a Dr. Gale, of New Hampshire, who had some taxable property in Haverhill, Mass., sent his son and daughter to the High School in that place for a considerable time, whereupon the School Committee sent in a bill of $300 for their tuition. Dr. Gale refused payment, and the case being brought before the Superior Court, was decided in his favor. It was carried thence to the Supreme Court, and the decision has been sustained.

The monitor says that Messrs. Hanson Bedee, of Meredith, and J. B. Mooney, of Alton, arrived in Concord on the evening of the 23d, with seventy horses purchased in Canada. Mr. Mooney took about fifty of the horses to Alton, where they will be worked this winter, drawing wood, and will probably be sold next spring. The remainder, which are valuable carriage horses, were taken to Meredith by Mr. Bedee. The highest price paid was nearly $250 in gold.

In Bristol, on the 20th inst, a man named Blackstone, about 60 years of age, was found dead on a hill about a mile and a half from the main village, under circumstances which showed that he had broken his neck by a fall from his carriage. Blackstone was a hard drinker, and was probably intoxicated at the time of the accident. He was a resident of Groton, where he leaves a family.

Ezra G. Stanbridge, of Rindge, 22 years of age, was arrested on the 20th inst., on the charge of rape, and is now in Keene jail. The outrage is said to have been committed some two weeks since, upon the person of a respectable young lady of Rindge, as she was returning home from a singing rehearsal, between nine and ten o'clock in the evening.

☞ The New York Republic, one of our most valued exchanges, is an able advocate of the rights of the Staff officers of the Navy, and in a late issue charged Senator A. H. Cragin of this State with sympathizing with the movement to crush the Staff. In its issue of Nov. 24, the mistake is corrected handsomely. In an article on naval affairs it concludes in this wise:

"But won't the Congress 'go through things.' We do not know a single Senator who is not in favor of the Staff. That settles the matter. We are this evening authoritatively informed that we erred in assigning Senator Cragin, of New Hampshire, the probable Chairman of the Naval Committee, to the Line side. We are assured he is a Staff man to the core. We beg his pardon sincerely."

☞ The Boston Transcript and the Albany Country Gentleman, both have an army of correspondents, who serve to make those papers among the most interesting and valuable in the country, each peculiar and excellent in its own way.

For the Chronicle.

NOTICE.—Whereas Henry Gordon has advertised that he will not pay any debt of Sarah his wife,—now be it known that said Gordon's wife has supported herself and child half of the summer; she has been thrown out doors, and has borne the print of a man's fingers on her arm for three weeks; she has taken care of herself four years since she was married, and provided for his child three years, and found bed and bedding for him seven months, with wash bowl and towels, without running to the amount of a whiskey jug or a cider jug, in debt. I hope that she can now.

SARAH GORDON.

NEWINGTON, Nov. 26, 1869.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

A SURPRISED PARTY.—The enthusiastic Republicans of this city, who, under the escort of the Cornet Band, called upon the Mayor elect and upon several of the newly elected Aldermen on Tuesday evening, also made a congratulatory call upon Ex-Mayor Horton D. Walker. The Hon. gentleman made his appearance and gratified the crowd with a speech in his happiest vein. After having served in nearly every department, from Selectman of his ward to Mayor of the city, and had performed for the last half dozen years, he hoped to the satisfaction of his fellow citizens, the arduous duties of Moderator of Ward 1, he had entertained a hope that he would be excused from further duty in that department. At the Caucus for the nomination of Ward officers he had expressed this wish and had declined to accept the unanimous re-nomination there conferred upon him; and another person suggested by him had been substituted. What was his surprise, therefore, when the first rush of voters in the morning was over and he had leisure to examine the ticket of his party, to see his own name staring him in the face, for re-election to the office he had so positively declined. The question was raised in his mind—did a citizen have any rights in these matters that a voter was bound to respect? or must he, like the "deacon's shay" continue to run until the springs of life failed?

It was a gratification to him, however, to know that he had the confidence of his fellow citizens, and he would serve them yet another year; and he hoped they would then be able to unite upon some other person to relieve him of the duties of this office.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.— John Sibley deposed: I must declare the Wheeler & Wilson to be the most wonderful and comprehensive sewing mechanism ever put in the American market. It is the simplest as well as the most cunning in principle. There is genius and high mechanical ability in its arrangement, and therefore it is most reliable and easy to keep in order. There is a directness of connection between the power and the work, which I found by me in the devices of any other inventor, and the mechanical results follow of the highest possible speed quiet and easy movement, which make it a delight to mechanicians. It think it just to de, nominate it one of the marvels of the age.

Butter and cheese are almost indespensable articles of food. Properly used, they are nutricious and healthy; but an inordinate use of either causes indigestion and dyspepsia. "Parsons' Purgative Pills," judiciously used, will remove both of these troubles.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zone; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conducive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of the care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is pre-disposed to contract them. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is dyspepsia, once supposed to be incurable, but which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The previous expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been proved to be the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure, all the old pallatives formerly prescribed by physicians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, is nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Dear Sirs—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been labouring under for many years, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than One thousand testimonials have been received, and all of them were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and powerful as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Jaundice, and the complaints to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be induced to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the reader of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

It has been always a fact that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of efficacy of any thing new, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with unquestionable facts—which no theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that result which the faculty pronounce impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the reader, connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom, I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as longas a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—Sept. and Oct. passed, entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less frequent, exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh plaster itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skelton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an apretite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally bedridden all sides. I had visitors daily who brought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by some importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for my consultation in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had lost nearly all my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption who might be saved not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proved so effective upon me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogance or vanity, that I justly merit all the fame that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the author. Thus:

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to test the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50 per bottle, or $15 per half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the system and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at long intervals. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full Directions are with each box.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ In the Board of Aldermen, Thursday Evening, Wm. Simes asked permission to connect drain from premises of I. Hazelton on McDonough St., with the new sewer on Brewster St. The matter was refered to Com. on Sts., with power. This is a case like those of Messrs. Scriggins and Stott, who have previously asked similar privilieges, in place of the old drain now superceded; but the Com. on Sts. reported the former drain as filling up and utterly useless, and insist that the abuttors who wish to connect with the sewer, should pay therefor.

The Com. on Streets reported amendments to the Ordinance defining the duties of Street Commissioner, recommending that the following streets be added to his jurisdiction: North St. to Cutts house, Myrtle St. to Almshouse, Prospect St., Woodbury St. to Hunter's Corner, Creek St. to Woodbury St., Islington St. to Spinney's Road, Middle St. and South St. to Lafayette Road, Union Street, Lincoln Avenue. Referred to Com. on Bills on Second Reading.

The Board voted at a former meeting, (in accordance with the recommendation of special Com. to whom the matter was referred,) to pay Wm. Plaisted $25 in full for his claim for damages and expenses in running watering tanks, &c., from Pleasant Street; and the City Clerk now reported that the amount had been accepted.

Complaints of leakage of the roof of the South Ward Room, and insecurity of doors of Spring Market,—were refered to Com. on City Lands and Buildings.

Request of Sch. Com. for extension of funnel at Haven School, referred to Com. on Sch. Houses, Messrs. Came were given permission to encumber High St. for building.

The Fleet Street widening was discussed at length,—but the decisive point in all road layings-out, comes when the members of the Board are called upon to sign the order for the same. [The order for the extension of Summer St. was signed by the Mayor and four of the eight Aldermen only.] Ald. Pender thought the cutting off so much of the Mechanics' Association property, would be great damage to them, and he and Ald. Pendexter were of opinion they should receive more pay for the land. Ald. Miller thought the land left on a good street, would be worth more than the whole now on a narrow alley. Ald. Spinney had always gone in for 40 feet or no extension. Ald. Cotton was not desirous for any extension, but thought the price voted at last meeting was sufficient. On voting, all but Ald. Cotton voted for Ald. Pendexter's motion to pay more, as stated Friday. The Board are heartily tired of the Fleet Street question, if the public is not.

On motion of Ald. Slater, the Com. on Sts. were authorized to employ Mr. Hoyt to make survey and plan of the new highway voted at last meeting, from Cabot St. across the Railroads and Millpond to Mystic St.

Adjourned for one week.

MR. AND MRS. HOWARD PAUL.—These gifted and versatile artists, who are announced to appear here, are thus spoken of by the Boston Post:

"The programme lead off with two songs from the Grand Duchess, sung by Mrs. Howard Paul, whose reception was enthusiastic and kind. Her vocal and mimic powers were admirably displayed in this brace of Offenbachian melodies. Mr. Paul subsequently gave the song in character of Capt. Vane of the Life Guards Pink, to the tune of Capt. Jinks. It was very humorously delineated." Among the very best things of the evening was Mrs. Paul's adventures in Paris with the Kicklebury family, the narrative of which was given in the most taking and effective manner. The assumptions of Mrs. Paul of the different members of the family were extremely good, and in their way unlike anything which any lady performer before the public gives. During this scene Mrs. Paul sang What are our Girls Coming To, Rory O'Moore and the famous Sneezing Song. In each of these she displayed great vocal powers—powers, we may add, that in respect do not pertain to any other female voice—at least, so far as we are aware. Her voice, as is well known, is very melodious, rich, round and very wide in range. In all her songs she is also an artist of high culture; and she achieves most remarkable effects with her vocal organs. This is seen in the Sneezing Song, one of the most original and stunning productions the public is often called upon to hear. Both performers further appear in six acts each, in character, depicting phases of life and song, and which were much enjoyed. The programme closed with Mrs. Paul's representation of Sims Reeves, the noted English tenor. In this act she reproduces the singer in costume no less than in voice. The entire entertainment passed off with great success. Mrs. Howard Paul is a graceful, stately, pretty woman; she on the present occasion was the brilliant artist that marked her performance in this city three years since.

Communication.

THE Hop with which the P. I. W. A. Society opened their series of social dances on Thursday evening, at Irving Hall, was attended by a large number of pleasure seekers, who all appeared to be highly pleased with the affair. The floor-managers,—ladies and gentlemen, five each,—acquitted themselves admirably, and "kept the ball moving" cheerily by promptly marshalling into line the indolent few who failed to be on hand when the call was sounded. A new feature in the order of dances, and one which seemed to meet with very general approbation, was the unusual number of fancy dances introduced,—every alternate dance being a "fancy" one. The entertainment was a most enjoyable occasion to all present, and wound up shortly after midnight. The music was by Cushing's Quadrille Band,—and to those who have heard Mr. C. execute on the violin, this is equivalent to saying that it was good. The Assembly was certainly a success. WHIRLIGIG.

☞ There is no doubt but the sale of land at Hale's Point to the Eastern Railroad, for erection of buildings, is agreed upon. We are decidedly of opinion that a new shed be built over the railroads at Dover Street, for the benefit of all residents, and the improvement of all property on the other side the North Pond.

☞ Last season several of the sportsmen of this city made a number of unsuccessful attempts to bring home the "brush" of a Reynard. On Thursday, Mr. John Grogan went down to Rye, and after a short chase shot a fox which weighed twelve pounds.

THE INDIAN DOCTOR
HAS RETURNED!

The Leaves of the Forest were for the Healing of the Nation!

DR. L. CONGDON,
THE NARRAGANSETT

INDIAN PHYSICIAN!

Has taken Rooms
At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,
Where he will remain
Until December 28th:
He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the Most Remarkable Cures Ever Known! and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung diseases, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, unless by their request. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and not let modesty fail you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

Also Dr. Congdon's

which has such a far-famed reputation from east to west; the same remedy he used upon the Fair Ground for the permanent cure of Deafness, Neuralgia and Rheumatic Pains, &c., which can be had at his Office or of all Druggists.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

Morning Chronicle.

Married and Didn't Know It.

At length the clearing up was finished, and she seated herself in a rocking chair beside me. "You know, Mr. Dimple," said she, as she shook back her curls, displaying a beautifully formed neck, "father is away usually most of the day, and I am alway happy to meet him on his return and receive his kiss. Since dear mother died I have loved him more than ever I did, and I always feel sorry to part with him, and always glad to welcome him home—that will account for my affectionate reception of you this evening;" and she smiled pleasantly.

I stammered out something about her having no occasion to excuse herself at all; then I coughed, and was near losing ground, but Tom Moore saved me. A volume of his poems was lying near, and I took it up and opened it.

The page before me bore the title of the second section of "Lalla Rookh," "Paradise and the Peri," and in pencil on the margin was written; "This poem contains the best sentiment of Lalla Rookh"—my own opinion exactly, and I mustered courage enough to express that opinion to Miss Walker.

From this remark sprung a conversation that lasted during a good part of my stay. I found that she was well read in both prose and poetry, and they had been my life study—English literature had been my particular hobby. I told her as much, and grew eloquent on my favorite theme. I reviewed the poets from old Chaucer to Tennyson, not forgetting our own children of the lyre; I snubbed the classics, and pitted Milton against them; I repeated Shakespeare's "Seven Ages," and even gestured in doing so; I gave Ben Johnson the cold shoulder; I praised Goldsmith for his truth and simplicity, and lamented poor Chatterton: I defended Byron, and challenged any poet to equal Moore for modesty and sentiment. Then I glanced at the prose writers, winding up with Irving, and giving a sample of his Alhambra by moonlight.

Here I dropped authors, and fearing I would lose vantage if I quited books altogether, I ran the risk of being considered a bibliomaniac, and booked up biography and history; and found that Miss Walker was almost as well informed on the lives of eminent personages, and as well acquainted with historical facts, as myself; my fair companion gave her opinions and expressed her views freely, and when we came down to common-place, (and I let myself down slowly, for I dreaded what was to me shaky ground,) I found myself conversing as if I had known her for years.—I was astonished at myself; I found what I had never dreamed of. And what had brought them to light? That is easy answered—I had found what I had long sought for, a person whose tastes sympathised with my own, a woman of education and liberal sentiments, who could converse on other subjects than the usual small talk of society.

I need not say that she was my admiration, but it was not her intellectual acquirements alone that pleased me—her whole manner was pleasing; as she looked in my face while talking, her eyes had the honest look of a true woman; there was no affectedness in voice or action; and her smiles were much different from the quizzing ones I had been used to. I was charmed: I forgot the hours and bashfulness; and the spell was not broken until footsteps sounded on the gravel walk—Miss Walker started—then a heavy foot on the stoop. "Oh, it's my father, I'm sure," and she hurried to the hall, and I heard the door open before the knocker sounded; then a kiss and tender inquiries from daughter to father, what had detained him; then a whisper about "the gentleman in the parlor"—a flurry of the heart—then the door opened, and the hale old judge himself entered, followed by his daughter. I arose, and immediately commenced a hurried, stammering apology for intruding; but the judge stopped me as he grasped my hand warmly.

"Why, my dear boy, this needs no apology; happy to see you, sir—consider yourself at home. Where have you kept yourself? I believe I have not seen you since the settling up of your father's will; mug property that of The Willows, sir. Sit down. Sorry that I was not here sooner, but we had a long trial, and a most obstinate jury. Threatened to lock them up until to-morrow, and—no, Lizzie, thank you, I have had some supper—and as I was saying, Mr. Dimple, that made them act like sensible men."

Here I managed to state the cause of my visit, but thought that he must be weary of law for one day at least, and that the affair of the trespass might lie over until some other time.

"Ah! yes, Mr. Dimple, it is rather a troublesome affair; but we can easily settle it some other time. I have to sentence the culprit to-morrow afternoon—sorry to have to do it, sir, clever, manly fellow—did it all in a moment of passion—but the law must be satisfied, and I will be at leisure in the evening; suppose you call in the evening!"

Did I like the idea of having to call on the next evening? I think I did—I am very sure I did. On my way home that night I reflected on the change that had come over me within a few hours. Charles Dimple, Esq., of The Willows, had become an altered Dimple. Certainly Lizzie Walker was not perfection's self, but I resolved that seeking for entire perfection would no no longer be one of my imperfections. Fancy was busy. Said she to me: "Now that you have broken the ice, your bashfulness will amount to nothing; you do not know your worth. Why, your money is all powerful; she will accept you without a demur." But my better judgment said, "If she's the girl you take her to be, she'd do nothing of the kind." "Spoken like yourself, my boy," said I; and buttoning my coat to the chin, I faced a penetrating north easter, and was at home in a few moments. My mother was sitting up for me.

"Why Charles?" said she, in a troubled tone, "where have you been? Did you see the Judge?"

"Oh, yes, mother. Saw her as soon as I called, and it is all right. She says——"

"She says! Who?"

"Why, the Judge, to be sure; he thinks it's a clear case, and I tell you she's splendid.—Hold her up, and she'll take hedge and ditch; give her fair play, and I'll back her against the field!"

"Why Charles, are you crazy? What are you talking about?"

"Why, Miss Walker, to be sure—she is as fine a young lady as—oh! oh!

Here I came to my senses, and related my evening's experience. I found in my mother a sympathetic listener. She thought, since she was getting well on in years, that a new mistress would be a good acquisition to The Willows. Said she would have broached the subject before, were it not for my backwardness; and now, since I had met such an estimable young lady as Miss Walker, she advised me to keep up the acquaintanceship. Believing that my mother spoke like a sensible woman, I then resolved that my spirits would keep me up I would keep up the acquaintanceship. Sleep was long in paying her visit that night; my brain was too busy, and when I was under its influence dream followed dream, and when I rose in the morning I could have sung; "Her bright smiles haunt me still." I was impatient until evening came, and when at last the curtains of night were fairly drawn, I donned my spruncest attire, and with cane in hand, took my way to my legal adviser—of course, only on business, just to settle the affair of the trespass, you know. Through the wicket gate, up the gravel walk, under the grapevine, and I was again at the knocker.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.

THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know why it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21tw

The Chronicle.

CONSTANT COURTSHIP.—A married man, after a time, appears to forget how much a woman, especially a woman who is a lady, desires small attentions to the very last. He seems to believe, at any rate, that his wife does not care for them at his hands. Women do not forget the season of courtship; and it would not be too much to say that an ideal marriage should be a constant courtship, or else the romantic theory of marriage falls to the ground altogether.

But supposing a man marries a fool, and doesn't discover the fact for some time. Then it is well worth his while to try and improve the fool into a tolerable companion; for even a foolish wife can make herself excessively pleasant to the wisest and most philosophic of husbands; in successful cases the woman will be grateful for the teaching.

Mr. Dickens makes David Copperfield attempt the culture of Dora, but the experiment was not fairly tried. David went a very clumsy, not to say priggish way about it, and committed the insolent blunder of exposing the shortcomings of his wife before Traddles. No wonder that little Blossom shrank from this rude pruning.

The man who wants to win his wife to at least sense (or nonsense) enough to love him, has often all his work before him, when after he has placed the marital ring on her finger. She may then only be a semi-detached wife. We can give no definite recipe for the curative process. Circumstances would demand a constant change of ingredients. The shrew should be tamed. The indifferent woman, with her soul occupied only with thoughts of the millinery hung upon her body, should—but we cannot advise on these points, and, besides, it is more than probable that the balance of incompatibility inclines to the side of the husband.—Semi-Detached Wives.

ATTENTIVENESS.—How much more we might make of our family life, of our friendships, if every secret thought of love blossomed into a deed! We are not now speaking merely of personal caresses. These may or may not be the best language of affection. Many are endowed with a delicacy, a fastidiousness of physical organization, which shrinks away from too much of these, repelled and overpowered. But there are words and looks and little observances, thoughtfulnesses, watchful little attentions which speak of love, which makes it manifest, and there is scarce a family that might not be richer in heartwealth for more of them. It is a mistake to suppose that relations must, of course, love each other because they are relations. Love must be cultivated, and can be increased by judicious culture, as wild fruits may double their bearing under the hand of a gardener; and love can dwindle and die out by neglect, as choice flower seeds planted in poor soil dwindle and grow single.—Exchange.

—The Lever tells an anecdote of one of the substantial men of New Haven, who had been chosen to the deacon's office in one of the Congregational churches in that city about the time that Augur's Jephtha, now in the Yale art gallery, was the subject of general conversation. Two members of the church were discussing the new appointment, and one of them remarked that he feared Deacon B. didn't know the "Scripter" enough for a deacon. "Why," said he, "I'll prove it." The two, weighed down almost by the gravity of the matter in hand, proceeded to the store of the worty deacon and asked him if he could tell who was this Jephtha and his daughter that everybody was talking about. The good deacon suspended work for a few minutes to take a good think, and, after pondering the question for a little while, slowly answered "Jephtha—let me see—yes—yes—Jephtha—why, he was—of course—yes, Jephtha—he was one of Napoleon's marshals."

FLOUR.—The Traveller's Market Report of Nov. 25, says:—The receipts of Flour continue large, and the market has been dull with a downward tendency. In New York there was a little animation in shipping brands, but the depressed state of the English markets, which continue to decline in sympathy with our own, soon checked operations, and the market there has become comparatively quiet. The crops everywhere appear to have been more bountiful than any of the estimates published at the close of the harvest; and all the great markets of the world are well stocked, with prices tending in favor of buyers. The quality, too, is excellent; even the lowest grades are nearly as good as were some of the family brands of Michigan last year. Accounts from California continue very favorable, and large quantities of grain are at San Francisco for shipment to Europe. The duties on Canadian flour have excluded it from our markets. The tendency of the markets is in favor of buyers.

—Milwaukee has adopted an original method of getting rid of street loafers. They are photographed by an artist and hung in store windows, labelled "street loafers."

—The most dangerous of all flattery is the inferiority of those about us.

AROMATIC VEGETABLE SOAP,
COMBINED WITH GLYCERINE, IS RECOMMENDED FOR THE USE OF LADIES AND IN THE NURSERY. aj8ly
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21tw

A MENAGERIE LET LOOSE.—On Wednesday night an incendiary set fire to a building in Connersville, Ohio, used as the winter quarters of Frankpati's menagerie. By order of the superintendent of the menagerie all of the animals were let loose, which act in the end proved needless, as the fire was arrested before much of the building was burned. A flock of sheep quartered on the fair grounds were set upon by a lion and several of them killed. The lion also had a contest with a bull, and after a severe conflict killed him. All of the wild animals were eventually captured and safely recaged. The damage by the fire is $4000.

—"I say, ma," says Master Mischievous, "one of the kittens is sitting in the old cat's lap." His mother hastened to witness the strange fact, and found that one of the kittens had tumbled into the saucer of milk.

A MOCKERY.—The naval court-martial which has recently been engaged in investigating the charge of cruelty preferred against Lieutenant Commander Seely, for torturing seamen on board the U. S. S. Pawnee, has concluded its labors by finding him guilty, and sentencing him to five years' suspension on furlough pay! That is, he is to receive $3750 during the next five years, for doing nothing,—unless the honor he confers upon the service by still remaining in it is to be considered an equivalent for his salary of $750 a year.

It is a good thing, for an offender, to be tried by his friends,—better than to be judged by enemies. Surgeon Chas. L. Green, for refusing to stultify himself by virtually declaring a man fit for duty when such was not the case, was sentenced to two years' suspension on furlough pay, and to be publicly reprimanded by the Secretary of the Navy. Yet Mr. Green (even allowing the premises and claims of the prosecution to have been founded on reason or necessity,—which was not the case,) erred only on the side of humanity; while Mr. Seely was guilty of inflicting inhuman tortures upon men under his charge, for a very trifling offence, or on a mere suspicion of crime, apparently but to gratify a savage lust of oppression.

No humane man will attempt to draw a parallel between the two offences,—the one committed by Lieut. Com'dr. Seeley, and the one with which Surgeon Green was charged. But the punishment of each is so widely disproportioned to the offence, that the two men are treated very much alike; for Mr. Green's sentence, to a man of honor, must be about as severe as that of Mr. Seely. So it appears that an error of judgment, (all that was advanced against the surgeon, and of which he would have been found guiltless by any tribunal not able to swallow both gnats and camels at one fell swoop, without straining,) if it looks towards resisting any assumed prerogative of a line officer, is as great a crime as the torture and mutilation by the latter of helpless, innocent men, and equally deserving of punishment:—it does make a difference whose ox is gored. And in face of all this, wonder is expressed that seamen will not join the U. S. Navy!

A diabolical attempt was made to throw the passenger train from the track on the Suncook Valley Railroad, about four miles above Suncook, on Friday afternoon, by the piling of old sleepers on the track. The villains were foiled, however, and no damage was done.

PORTLAND, NOV. 23.

Sebago water is not yet into Portland so as to be used. There will be Dec. 1st about 600 feet of tunnel to complete the conduit. A temporary wooden conduit is to be lined, so that water can be forthwith used and not wait till the middle of January, when the conduit will be completed. By spring, matters will be thoroughly tested and the water introduced largely into houses and business places. Landlords however will be slow in giving tenants the benefit of the water, as rents are still high and cisterns extensively used.

An ingenious young nautical instrument maker and dealer, Mr. C. H. Farley on Exchange St., has put up a telegraph wire from his clock to the transit instrument at the top of the building, for the purpose of taking accurately astronomical observations. The passage of a star is thus instantly announced in the room below and an assistant compares the time with the clock time a great improvement over the usual method, comparing a chronometer with the clock. By connecting the wire with the telegraph lines the correct time is transmitted to various points of the State. It is a new idea, in this vicinity at least. Farley introduced the Planchette into New England and made large quantities for the trade both in N. E. and New York. He is an ingenious young man.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conducive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of due care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is pre-disposed to contract them. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is dyspepsia, once supposed to be incurable, but which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been provided in the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure all the old palliatives formerly prescribed by physicians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, has effectually exploded this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by some of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any heretofore compounded of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feeble sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoia.

It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or drink a cathartic tea.

Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by the timely use of it.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the paradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonic organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "proffs strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their errors, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers and influence are almost insignificant, and I myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to death as a hopeless case, that hope, and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts sufficient to show that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harm ful assertions, I should feel inwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I am able to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, it used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the said medicine recommended to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured them, made them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and tormenting cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and vital health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure so seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beset on all sides. I had to relate over and over the story of my cure, and tell the people why he besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration which had startled me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where such nostrums for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for fand consulted me by proxy for their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated in all its fearful phases, in order to satisfy myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may safely, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other man in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results. Some hundred and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtues of Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, every SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is three dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

☞ Yelping curs on Islington Street o' nights.

☞ Attention is called to the advertisement of Agents Wanted in Rockingham County, for the staunch old National Life Insurance Company of Vermont.

THE G. A. R. FAIR.—Preparations for the Fair continue. The ladies have been as busy as bees, and everything goes on smoothly. We hear that the entertainments will be as interesting as those offered last year, which is saying enough. Series of farces are in rehearsal, in which the Thespians are prominent. The Fair will probably be held on the 15th, 16th and 17th of December.

☞ City Marshal Johnson wishes to urge all citizens to use due caution in fastening and watching their premises, as there are very many strolling villains, who often visit the city. The Police warned four out of town last week. A house on State St., occupied by ladies only, was visited Thursday night by a man, whose attempt to raise a window caused a light to be struck inside, and he made off.

☞ It is but rarely indeed that we have one such Entertainment, as either of the two announced this morning. Not only are both first-class, but each is superlatively excellent in its way. The Howard Pauls are splendid performers; and the other troupe comprises artists of the greatest merit and world-wide reputations. All who can, should hear both; for either will be a rich feast of music, and the Pauls are ridiculously funny.

☞ Mr. Slater, the leading petitioner for the new highway across the North Mill pond, assures us that the Eastern Railroad has not purchased the land at Hale's Point; and further, he states that Mr. Cheever, the manager of said land, is ready to sell houselots there, to Portsmouth mechanics, and will allow half the purchase money to remain on interest, and will assist buyers to use half the necessary funds for building.

On the other hand, the Railroad officers insist that the purchase is nearly consummated, and the deed awaits only the signature of an owner absent in Europe.

The new road across the Point was staked out by Mr. Hoyt on Friday afternoon. There are now five tracks to cross, with speedy prospect of two more sets of rails at least. The Railroad is bound by agreement at the time of purchasing land there—to keep a driveway across their tracks at Cabot St. in good repair.

The selling value of the City Farm would be greatly enhanced by a good bridge across the Mill-pond — but the best point to cross the Railroads, is at Dover St., and we regard a second bridge here entirely feasible, high and clear above the trains,—as all roads always should be built, either above or below each other, but never a post road on the same level with a railroad, where there is likely to be much travel.

THE MARCH ESTATE.—By order of Court, Albert R. Hatch, Esq., administrator of the estate of Mr. Frank March, on Saturday week sold sufficient of the land of Mr. Clement March at Greenland, to pay the legacy of $5000 to the Congregational Church at Greenland, with interest, costs, &c., in all $7700.

The "tomb field," so called, corner of Newington road, containing the March family mausoleum, 15 acres, was bought for $105 per acre, by Mr. Nathiel Wiggin—the low price doubtless resulting from the fact of the tomb being there.

The opposite corner still nearer the Peirce mansion, 16 acres, was bid off by Capt. Salter at $225 per acre.

Another lot of 25 acres, located east of the March residence, and part of it in Portsmouth limits, (or sufficient of it to make up the requisite amount,) was bid off by John J. Pickering, Esq. None of the buildings were sold, and there were no buildings on the premises disposed of. Mr. Wendell was the Auctioneer. The day was very stormy and the attendance very small.

We learn that Mr. N. Wiggin has also purchased at private sale, of Mr. Small, the receiver—the York farm, so called, and the four new houses built by Mr. March, for his colony of imported copperhead voters. These premises adjoin the old March farm proper; and Mr. Wiggin has taken up his residence in one of these new houses.

For the Chronicle.

☞ The Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association have made arrangements to give a course of evening lectures in their hall, once a week during the winter; as the Hall is somewhat limited in size it is thought best to issue but four tickets to each Member, to be given to their friends. Tickets of admission will also be sent to Honorary Members and patrons of the institution. The entertainments are to be of the highest order. The list of lecturers embraces ministers, scholars, poets, and many professional men, the best talent of our own city being laid under contribution. Preparations are also being made to furnish a very agreeable surprise with which to wind up the course; —this novel feature of the programme will not be published at present, else 'twould be no surprise. The managers are determined to have the most interesting and instructive series of lectures ever delivered in this city. The tickets will be issued to members at the next regular meeting of the Association, next Wednesday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

C. L. O.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.—The attention of the Mercantile Library Association is respectfully called to the subject of donating their valuable collection of books to the city as a beginning of a Public Library. It is reported that but little interest is taken in the Association, and that their books are read by but few persons. Will it not be better that they should be put into possession of the city, and be read by the people? It is probable that some citizens would follow the donation with other valuable gifts, and in time a library be accumulated that shall be a credit to the city and the pride of all intelligent citizens.

SCRIBO.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—On Saturday, 49 carpenters, 56 joiners, 13 iron platers, 10 blacksmiths, 40 laborers, 13 spar and block makers, in the Bureau of Construction; 42 workmen in Bureau of Yards and Docks; 7 laborers, 2 painters, 4 boiler makers, 1 pattern maker, 2 blacksmiths, 5 moulders, 7 machinists, in Bureau of Steam Engineering; and 5 workmen in Bureau of Equipment, were discharged.

☞ The Chairman of the Committee on Burying Grounds of the Common Council, reports that he prefers to "let the dead bury the dead."

☞ Nice candy at Batchelder's—Southmayd's.

HORSE FEED.—Many English farmers feed no hay to their work horses, but keep them in high working order with straw, roots and shorts. The equivalent of twelve tons of hay can be produced on one acre in roots. Farmers in this country will eventually bring vegetables more in to use as stockfeed, for roots are cheap, healthy, and nutritious.

INDIAN PHYSICIAN!

Has taken Rooms

At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,

Where he will remain

Until December 28th.

He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the Most Remarkable Cures Ever Known! and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung diseases, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, unless by their request. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and not let modesty fail you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

NO. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received. Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances.

Married and Didn't Know It.

Concluded from Yesterday.

I confess my heart was fluttering, but was not I on business? Certainly I was. I was ushered into the parlor, the judge met me at the door with outstretched hand and shook mine warmly. Lizzie received my proffered hand with a pleasant smile, and placed a chair for me between herself and father. That evening I shall ever remember as among the pleasantest of my life. I did not allow myself to become embarrassed during the whole of my stay; but perhaps I was just a little bit absent minded, for several times I caught myself looking at Lizzie when talking earnestly with the judge, and I also remember that I forgot "that little matter of trespass" entirely. Ah! Yes; there had been a trespass committed on my property, but Lizzie had committed a greater trespass on my heart.

After this I often paid an evening visit to the Judge's, and he soon saw the way matters were drifting. He would sit chatting awhile always after my arrival, and then, like a good old soul, he would steal off to his library or bed, and leave Lizzie and I to ourselves.

That was a pleasant time, that courtship of mine. It lasted a year, and seemed a long dream. Lizzie's society was a world to me, and an evening not passed in her society seemed like a blank in my existence. I loved her with all the devotion of an ardent nature, and well I knew that she returned it "measure for measure." Ours was not like the two beings who met by accident, becoming mutually affected, and from which springs spontaneously love at first sight. No, it was deeper, holier; it was the love of two natures well met.

When I proposed marriage, I was not accepted on account of my wealth; but out of pure love, and Lizzie told me so in such a confiding, womanly way, that I pressed her to my heart, and—well, I hardly remember how many times I kissed her.

Of course I was aware that the judge would offer no objection to our union; nevertheless, it was necessary that I should ask his consent, and this bothered me not a little. Many an offhanded fellow would have settled such a simple affair in a trice, and took it all as a matter of business; but I—ah, well, I had some of my backwardness left. I shall never forget the humorous scene that ensued when I tried to unbosom myself to the judge. Lizzie was in the parlor on my arrival, but she well knew the nature of my errand, and stole away. My legal adviser was in one of his best humors, and I immediately went to business.

"I came down this evening, judge, to—to tell you that I have, or at least would like to—to know if there could by any possibility be a flaw in the lease you had drawn up for my tenant, yesterday."

"Oh, certainly not, sir; certainly not.—One of my best clerks drew it up, and I examined it myself."

"Well, that is another matter I wish to speak about—a—how I do find legal business now, sir? But—a—as I was saying—you know, sir, in the course of human events it often becomes necessary for a man to—to—of course you understand me?"

"Perfectly, my dear boy, perfectly."

But the "perfectly" seemed to me as a matter of course, for instead of saying, "God bless you, my dear boy," asking which was the happy day, he kept silent, and I was just a little confused.

"Well, sir, you know that affair which must fall to your lot. You understand—"

"Oh, yes, perfectly. You object—to a fair being held in your lot and you desire to—"

"No, no, sir; I was going to ask you a—"

"Yes, Mr. Dimple—be cool, my boy—you were going to say—a—"

"Yes, I was going to remark—"

"That you were about to remark—as—"

"Ah, my dear friend, that is it exactly. I have proposed to Lizzie, and we wait your consent."

I got the terrible words out at last, and the judge laid back in his chair and laughed loudly; and when he recovered himself and tried to speak he relapsed into another fit, and laughed louder and longer while I sat looking very sheepish. But the dear old fellow came to my rescue.

"Not got over your backwardness, yet, Charley? I thought you had acquired a good deal of assurance by this time, still I supposed you only acted as a great many do in like instances. Quite natural perhaps and very like human nature. You wish my consent; you have it, my boy, and always had it. Nay, it gives me pleasure to know that I am consigning Lizzie to your care, and I feel a load lifted off my heart; for many years are beginning to weigh me down, Charley, and I might be called away at any moment. Yet I find it hard to part with her who has been the light of my home so long, but the old must not be selfish—take her, and know that you are getting one who has never been spoiled by the affections of society, and who knows how to make a happy home."

The day appointed for the wedding soon drew near; as we were sitting chatting in the Judge's parlor one evening, about two weeks before the day, the judge proposed that, as I might get confused during the performance of the ceremony, he would put us through the marriage form, so as to give me a slight idea as to how I should act. To this we agreed; a servant was called as witness, the various questions put and answered, certificate signed, etc.; day following I went to New York on business, and returned in three days, bringing with me a handsome piece of satin for Lizzie's wedding dress. I was unfolding it to her admiration when the judge came in.

"This is for the dress, sir," said I.

"What dress do you refer to, Charley?"

"Why for the wedding—when we get married, you know."

"No man shall ever marry you to my daughter, sir."

The judge was looking "awful severe," but I thought I saw a merry twinkle in his eye.

"Are you in earnest sir? Did you not—"

"I am in earnest. You are a married man?"

Oh, the horror of that moment! My dream of happiness so rudely broken! I was almost speechless. Lizzie begged her father to explain.

"What is need of explanation, my dear, when you know that you are a married woman?"

There was a mingling of masculine groans and feminine screams, and I forgot my "retired disposition," and grew indignant.

"How dare you presume, sir, to encourage my attentions to—"

"There, Charley, my boy," interrupted the judge, his frowns giving away to smiles, "Pray do not get into a passion. Each word that I said was true. You are both married—to each other. I am judge of the court, you know, and can take a minister's duties—in the matrimonial way upon myself. Excuse a practical joke, my children."

A light broke over me.

"And that mock ceremony was—"

"It was a real ceremony. You both gave your consent to everything and committed matrimony unwittingly."

Lizzie and I looked at each other; to be married four days without knowing about it, was—well, it was too bad; the joke was altogether too practical. But after all, I consider myself a lucky dog. Had it not been for that little affair of the trespass, I should never have found my treasure, and the judge's way of marrying us saved me, very likely, from having to wade through a sea of blunders. So I took Lizzie home, and soon after that the judge sold his property, and then he and mother, and Lizzie and I, lived together at The Willows.

SALTING COWS.—William Egger of Lowville, N. Y., a Swiss dairyman, says in the Rural New-Yorker that cows should be salted every morning, and, if in the stable, before foddering, but never after taking water. This is the practice of the best stock-keepers in Switzerland, and he thinks much preferable to salting them once or twice a week, or to keeping it constantly within their reach.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

By an arrangement made with the publishers of the "Poets of Portsmouth" we are now prepared to furnish that work and the Second Series of "Rambles about Portsmouth" together for $5.50, which is a great reduction from the cost of the two books purchased seperately. Every son of Portsmouth should have a copy of each of these books.

PRESENTATION.—On Thanksgiving morning, John Knowlton Esq. of this city was made the recipient of an elegant Ice Pitcher, Salver and Goblets, from a few members of the North Church and society as a testimonial of their friendship and of their appreciation of his faithfulness in the performance of his duties as Warden of that society, in which station he has served for a period of twenty-nine years.

PORTSMOUTH BOY IN CALIFORNIA.—By an interesting letter in the Boston Journal from Green Valley, Cal. we learn that our old friend Capt. Charles Shillaber, son of Capt. Robt Shillaber of this city, has retired from the sea, and located himself in Green Vallay on a little farm of 180 acres which he proposes to devote entirely to the cultivation of the grape. He has already 15000 vines set out and before another year hopes to have 40000. To give an idea of Green Valley soil the writer states that "though no rain had fallen there for more than six months, the black loam, some twelve feet deep, contained enough dampness to produce the healthiest vines, nearly a hundred different kinds having been planted, and from one of these, set out only eight months before, we plucked ripe grapes. The yield of grain in this valley is immense, some farmers getting from 24 to 36, and even 50 bushels of wheat to the acre. On the Captain's place, which yet lacks a name, we found growing fig, peach, pear, apple and cherry trees planted, and giving promise of speedy harvest."

The New Hampshire democracy are getting ready for the spring election, having called through their State Committe, the State Convention and all the local Conventions, in the same manner as the Republican Conventions have been called for several years past. This fashion they used to regard as anti-democratic, one which the people ought not to submit to, but having fallen into it they will probably find it so convenient that they will have no difficulty in proving that it is in strict accordance with the resolutions of '98 and the usages of democracy from time immemorial.

Rev. Albert Peabody, of Hampton Falls, was installed over the Congregational church at Stratham on Thursday.

SHOOTING GEESE WITH A CANNON.—Some Cincinnati sportsman of the "pot hunter" species, as he boldly proclaims himself, has been on a hunting excursion in Edgar county, in that State. In a well written letter to the Cincinnati Enquirer, detailing his exploits, he thus relates an attempt at shooting geese with a cannon that happened several years since in Edgar, which is worth reading.—

Speaking of geese reminds me of an incident in the history of this country, which occurred within my own knowledge, when I was a boy several years ago. Colonel Tom Smith, of Grandview, had a cannon—an old brass six-pounder, belonging to the State, but of which he had, somehow or other, obtained the custody. Colonel Tom was a hero of the Blackhawk war, and retained a sort of fierce regimentals, which he wore Fourth of July occasions, and with an improvised gunsquad, made up of Grandview boys, fired salutes with the six-pounder.

Grandview was a little town, consisting of a tavern, dry goods store, grocery, school house and blacksmith shop. The country was then new, and the prairie swarmed with game. Close to the town was a large pond, which geese and ducks frequented in myriads. Some of the young men about town conceived the brilliant idea of loading Colonel Smith's cannon and killing geese with it. They accordingly moulded about ten pounds of rifle bullets and crammed them into the field piece on top of a generous charge of powder.

They built a shed near the pond, placed the cannon under it, pointed it and waited for the geese. For several days the geese came in and lashed the waters of the pond into foam with their cavortings, but not in sufficient numbers to justify a shot. Finally, a cold snap brought the geese in from the north in great numbers, and early one morning the pond was reported black with them. The stockholders in the enterprise went out and took a look at the pond, and decided that it would be a good time to realize on the investment. So one of their number was deputized to sneak up to the gun and touch her off.

Geese were not so wild then as now, and no difficulty was experienced in approaching the gun. In the meantime the other members of the goose company amused themselves with speculations as to the probable number that would be killed. Nobody guessed less than one hundred, while one sanguine spectator insisted on a thousand. The painful suspense was finally ended by a puff of smoke and a tremendous report. The air was full of flying geese, and the stockholders rushed up to take account of stock and declare a dividend. To their great disgust not a single dead goose was found on the pond.

The gun had not been properly pointed, and the charge had passed entirely over the pond, tearing down several panels of fence, and killing a colt and a calf in a cornfield on the other side. The goose company went into bankruptcy, owing heavily for powder and shot, and, so far as I know no second attempt at the wholesale slaughter of geese was ever made in Edgar county.

ANECDOTES. — David Chapman of Newmarket, who gave Henry Tufts a pair of shoes if he would not steal from him, was engaged to Nancy Clark of Stratham. The day to be married was set and the guests invited, but Chapman did not appear. His excuse was that George Frost of Durham wanted him to make a pair of boots on that day, but the next day they were married, and his descendants, near and distant, number at least five hundred.

Joseph R. Doe, a native of Newmarket known for many years as Parson Doe, for supposed preaching qualities, claims to have one convert. For twenty-five years, with two exceptions, he has sat "at the receipt of customs." All who pass him hear that unwelcome salutation, "Pay your taxes!" Once he advertised, and he now keeps for sale, sea sand, rolling-pins, tongues and sounds, "halibut's feet and ears;" for which he agrees to take in exchange all sorts of country produce except promises.—J. F. C. in Wolfeboro' News.

NEWSPAPER MAN "SOLD."—A New Jersey woman wrote to the publisher of the Household, a monthly issued at Brattleboro, asking if a copy would be sent free to her for one year if she would send him a club of ten. He at once responded it would, and without delay she forwarded him a ten spot of clubs, stating that she could procure several smaller ones, wishing to know if they would all be counted toward a larger premium, as she was very desirous of procuring a sewing machine.

☞ The most startling speech made at the last session of the Woman's Parliament in New York was by Mrs. Willbour, who boldly asserted "that women would never come to the work of drilling rocks without having the backache," after which the meeting adjourned.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Billous Pill of the American Pharmacopeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming to their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being so pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly its tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21lw

PHOTOGRAPHS OF BOOKS.—I find on my table quite a little pile of good books. I have recently trespassed so far on the indulgence of your readers that I will try to give in outline the portrait of each, with as few lines as possible.

Kerl's Composition and Rhetoric, by Ivison & Co., of New York, has long been on my table and is rather in my way. It is doubly of a class which I have habitually despised. I have never seen any good from any aids to composition, nor yet known anybody to write better for having studied rhetoric. In the forty-four years since I first began to teach in the Academy at South Berwick, I have never wilfully taught either study from a book. I have read works on rhetoric with some pleasure and profit, and when I lost Whateley's from my library I was sorry for it; but I have survived the loss very comfortably for a third of a century, and now attack this new book with a double prejudice. It is the third of what is to be a series of five books, of which your readers will see that I have found three to be good. I think it might follow the first, Kerl's Elementary Grammar, neglecting the Common-School Grammar; and the pupil might never reach the Comprehensive.

But would it pay to study it? Condemning the Composition in advance and unheard, let us turn to the Rhetoric. It is not at all like books on rhetoric. It is preëminently a practical book. I defy any college student or minister to read five consecutive pages in the last half of the book without coming upon something he ought to know and does not. I cannot look at a page of that part without a wish that I had been put through it in the academy, instead of being left to feel my way through what it would have taught me, by trial and guess,—just as the uneducated learn grammar. My opinion is, (but I cannot be absolutely sure without teaching it,) that it is one of the most important improvements in teaching what it attempts that I have ever seen.

Now we go back to the first part. It would be difficult to effect a lodgment in the middle of the book; quite possibly he that would enjoy the end may of necessity have to begin at the beginning. But would the beginning alone pay? I seriously suspect that I have been wrong in my views, and that every page of this book, if well taught, would pay handsomely.

I will but add that there is a large amount of interesting reading in the illustrations; in a rail-car I would hope more enjoyment from a hundred miles of it than from a novel taken at hazard, yellow-covered or not.

Roget's Thesaurus of the English Language is looking up, now that the aged author, who worked upon it for about fifty years, is just dead. Gould & Lincoln are carrying its sales up to the thirtieth thousand quite fast. I have never been in the habit of using it, and for months it stands on its shelf undisturbed; but if a man is at a loss for the exact word he needs, there is no other help for him.

Irvine's Cyclopædia of Anecdotes of Literature and Fine-arts is a much larger work from the same house, 698 pages, 8vo. It is a different kind of help from Kerl or Roget. If I forget what painter it was that told the nobleman to get him gone for he had no face to draw, (I have written this from a recollection of from twenty to forty years,) one perseverance would doubtless unearth it. I find it in Anecdote 2355, under "Miscellaneous Anecdotes of Painters," and the artist was Sir Godfrey Kneller. For "nobleman" read "alderman." This recent acquisition supplies an absolute vacancy in my library.

The Tim Bunker Papers are taken from the American Agriculturist, in which, unfortunately, I have not had time to read them. Neither have I now. But I can but think how a farmer's boy will devour this book on a rainy day, if he has not had access to the Agriculturist. He will get as familiar with "Hookertown, Ct.," as with the next village. And the amount of good, sound, solid sense in it, though clothed in homely language, is sufficient to justify the purchase of the book. I admire Tim's view of the ultimate end of a farm: "to make smart, useful men and women,"—p. 93. If any man has done more or is doing more to bring about that end than Orange Judd, I know not who it is. The pictures are arguments. Some slower presses do pull a better wood-cut than the Agriculturist's, but I doubt if any one firm adds so much value to the available stock of valuable engravings. I see it calculates to spend $1000 per month on this department, taking a wide range, from Percherons to puzzles. Let us have, as soon as may be, an octavo filled with these pictures and the requisite letterpress.

BLOW YOUR HORN.

The good old times have passed away—
Blow your horn!
The fogies look in blank dismay,
For the quack now rides in a grand coupe,
And modesty's gone to the deuce they say!
To achieve success, the only way
Is to blow your horn!

Money's the root of all evil, you know—
Blow your horn!
Men love to see such an evil grow,
But it is hard to get and easy to go; [slow,
And to barry the stream when it runs too
You must blow you horn.

The man who relies on worth is a fool—
Blow your horn!
Brass and Cheek are the modern school,
Impudence wins, though dull as a mule—
For he knows more secret sure to rule,
And makes of the masses a pliant tool,
When he blows his horn!

A PLEASANT PRESENTATION. — The Winthrop street Methodist Society in Roxbury, Mass., have recently had a Fair, in which, in a lively way, they expressed their fraternal gratitude to Rev. A. J. Patterson and the Universalist Church, with whom they worshipped a year and a half. We quote from the Boston Journal's report:

"The evening wound up with a presentation to Rev. Mr. Patterson, of the Universalist church, of an elegant white spread valued at $100. This was an elaborate piece of work made by the ladies of the society; many of whom had a hand in it, and it was put up at one dollar a vote. Mr. Patterson received the highest number of votes, it being generally understood it should go in that direction, and Rev. Mr. McKeown in a tender and affectionate speech, presented it to Mr. Patterson, closing as follows:

"You are the happy man—happy in your own generous spirit, and in the esteem and love of a noble church and people, though you have befriended, through whose suffrages you have fairly won this beautiful and useful ornament. Take it, with our most cordial good wishes. May you long live to enjoy sweet slumber beneath its elegant folds. Wrap yourself in it, and when you feel its warmth, remember, warm, true hearts bestowed it. And it is ample enough to cover you and your household, but not ampler than your catholicity and Christian charity. It is of immaculate whiteness, but not more unsullied and pure than have been your integrity and sincerity in all intercourse. And may you and your dear people, arrayed at last in the 'clean linen pure and white,' have a home in the sanctuary above!"

Rev. Mr. Patterson responded in a speech full of Christian charity and expressions of regard to his friends for the generous gift, and for the kind, delicate terms in which it was tendered. It is not yet ascertained what amount will be realized from the fair, but it will exceed $2,000. The amount netted at the Universalist table was $111.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conducive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of the rare and the very best of medical skill when the system is pre-disposed to contract them. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is dyspepsia, often aggravated to be incurable, in which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been provided in the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure, all the old palliatives formerly prescribed by physicians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, is officially endorsed this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by some of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in every Drug Store in the United States—North, East, South and West. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and likewise it stands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among silvertized preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. Erasmus Winslow's Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Sold by Druggists. John F. Henry, No. 8 College Place, New York City.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sales and ever increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. o1

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines offered by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that those whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to contravert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither have nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounced impossible—they will cure Consumption.

As ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, presume to be connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with that tenacity with which young persons cling not too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as longas a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad opinion that conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned the properties and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been so painful, yet so much more common, comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I could eat and digest food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the long-departed flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skelton I became a robust, full chested man, and have ever enjoyed both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few now, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all these wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly as miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beslo:ed on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for fand consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of benefit to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and effective form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere baseless statements. I can produce living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousands of others still might be added, if I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Patients can write without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

In Remote Settlements of Untod Value.

Food makes blood; blood makes the body. If the blood be pure, the body is healthy. So if we are not in health, we know some impurities are lurking about, which must be removed, and the sooner the better.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in localities where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full Directions are with each box.

HARLEY NEWCOMB,

OF BOSTON, WILL GIVE A

GRAND CONCERT,

AT THE TEMPLE,

On THURSDAY Evening, Dec. 9th.

The Artists engaged for this concert (which is one of the series of M'lle Alice Topp's farewell Concerts) are of the highest order, and the opportunity offered the people of Portsmouth to hear the finest Concert given in both inside of our largest cities should be appreciated.

M'LLE ALIDE TOPP, acknowledged the greatest pianist in the world.

MISS ANNIE S. WHITTEN, Boston's favorite Soprano.

MISS JENNIE E. BULL, of New York, Mezzo-Soprano. The New York Musical Review says: To an exquisite voice Miss Bull adds the charm of beauty and loveliness of person.

Mr. M. ARBUCKLE, the great Cornet Soloist

Mr. J. A. HOWARD, a thorough accompanist.

No pains will be spared to make this Concert the grandest musical event of the season, and the Director hopes that the taste and judgement of the people of Portsmouth will not allow the great Alice Topp to visit here for the first and only time she appears, (as she soon returns to Germany,) without a generous recognition. Although the expenses of these concerts are very great, the price of admission is placed within reach of all.

ADMISSION, 50 cents; Reserved seats 75 cents—to be had at PRESTON'S, Congress Block, THACHER'S Market Square, and at the Hall, Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 6 and 7.

☞ Thespians, this evening.

☞ Atlantic Engine Company No. 6 announce their second annual Ball for Friday Evening, Dec. 3d.

☞ The Howard Pauls are as eminent in their line as Saint Paul was in his. Don't fail to see them.

☞ Schooner Abigail Harris, which went ashore at Kittery Point last week, was got off Sunday night and was towed up to the Navy Yard on Monday, leaking badly.

☞ The farm of the late Thomas Pickering, near the Post Office in Newington, was sold at auction last Saturday, by William H. Hackett for $3300. Mr. Valentine Coleman was the purchaser.

☞ We are again informed, on what appears the very best authority,—that the Eastern Railroad has not, and probably will not, effect the purchase of land proposed at Hale's Point—on account, we believe, of some difficulty in getting control of the flats also.

☞ Miss Anna M. Bernard of Boston, formerly of this city, announces a concert at the Temple, on Friday evening of this week. Miss Bernard, like Miss Addie S. Ryan, was some years since a member of the choir at St. John's Church in this city; and both are remembered here as vocalists of promise then, and years of study and culture have improved each greatly. Miss Bernard is a pupil of Mrs. Foster of Boston, who will be recollected by many readers as Miss Fanny Frazer, a finished and pleasing singer herself. The other performers accompanying, are all well and favorably known here, except perhaps Mr. E. S. Payson, who is said to be fully equal to the rest of the company. We hope our musical public will give their former townswoman a full hearing.

BARNUM'S "Struggles and Triumphs of Forty Years" is received from the publishers, J. B. Burr & Co., Hartford, Conn. Whoever likes fun mingled with good sense, or would learn "men and things" thoroughly, and "how to get along in the world," and "make money," will be delighted with it.

As a traveller Barnum exhibits as much genius as in any other character, and it is highly amusing to follow him on his journeys. It is a peculiar book in every way, and is one of those works fortunately adapted for domestic reading, to be taken up, if one likes, "every now and then," and, opened at any page, furnishes cheerful reading for the passing hour. Whoever takes it up will be apt to be lured on to the end before he stops, so full of interest is it.

Mr. F. H. Robbins has the agency for Portsmouth, and is obtaining subscribers for the book.

NOT CORRECT.—Somebody gave the Exeter News Letter, after our Caucus, some curious but not very correct political information about our City Election, which did not get into print till the election was over;—and then some items were appended to the statement. One of these items reads as follows:

We understand that Mr. Aaron Young was "called away" just before the election, and therefore, not having the inestimable privilege of voting for Mr. Adams, he stands triumphant with the "noncommittals."

Mr. Young was "called away," by the death of a near relative:—but then he did have the privilege of voting for Mr. Adams,—by taking pains to come back so as to be here a short time on election morning:—and he certainly voted for Mr. A. and the whole Republican Ticket early in the day! He triumphed, with the rest of the republicans, but not with the non-committals.

If the little extract, copied above, is a fair specimen of what the News Letter "understands" about Portsmouth politics, its readers will generally get more misled than instructed.

Its Portsmouth correspondent, also, must have drawn on his imagination for the coloring he gave the Republican Caucus. The fact that there were two rival candidates for Mayor, and a lively vote, does not make them opponents—nor does the fact that one of the candidates is chosen mayor now, make it at all unlikely that the other will be elected two years hence. The Republicans went into Caucus together and held together on election day, as they should when they mean to succeed. To be divided, would generally be, to be defeated.

☞ Bro. Butler, of the Biddeford Journal, attended a Chinese theatre while in San Francisco, and had a John to hold his hat and coat during the performance. He says "ordinarily a Chinese play lasts three weeks, each subsequent evening commencing where the play previously left off. The whole biography of a hero from birth to death is carried through. Acrobatic feats were largely interspersed throughout the play, and the powers of endurance of the acrobats were astonishing, while the conversation or dialogue was carried on by sounds that can only be described by asking you to imagine four thousand cats caterwauling with their tails jammed, in one grand chorus.

And then the orchestra! The leader who is the fiddler, does not play upon a harp of a thousand strings; in fact, his fiddle has only two strings, but the vigor with which he draws the bow is only equaled by the vigor with which he don't draw a single musical sound, while for elasticity of muscle with bold strokes, commend me to the boy who beat the cymbals and the man who struck the gong. The tin-pan striker, however, evidently had the liver complaint or something which discouraged him, for he did not beat the tin pieces as vigorously as he ought, and soon retired in disgust, evidently from his unavailing efforts to equal the noise made by the other musicians."

☞ The Wolfeborough News is one of the most straight-out and uncompromising Temperance papers in this or any other State. The publisher, Mr. Charles H. Parker, is a native of Portsmouth, we believe. Like Zion's Herald, of Boston, the News also says, "the humbug of licence is 'played out.' Only two foes are in the field today; Prohibition and Free Rum. Everywhere journal, pulpit, and voter, must soon elect which of these two to choose. May they choose for God and their fellow-men."

THE INDIAN DOCTOR
HAS RETURNED!
The Leaves of the Forest were for the Healing of the Nation!
DR. L. CONGDON,
THE NARRAGANSETT
INDIAN PHYSICIAN!
Has taken Rooms
At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,
Where he will remain
Until December 28th.
He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the Most Remarkable Cures Ever Known! and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung diseases, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, unless by their request. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and not let modesty fall you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

Also DR. CONGDON'S
GREAT INDIAN REMEDY!

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.
To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

Since closing the GREAT CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD LOAN, which meets all these requirements, we have carefully examined many others, but have found no other which would fully do so, until the following was placed in our hands:

FIRST MORTGAGE
SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS
OF THE
WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.
OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE
OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received, Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 1md&wn12

HOUSE BREAKING
CONSIDERED AS A FINE ART.

The editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer makes the following interesting revelation of a rather unusual personal experience:

One night, while engaged in the practice of the law, we were poring over some papers in our office, when a very decided rap on the door interrupted our pursuit of facts and law. At our bidding the door was opened, and a middle aged man walked in. He walked forward as we offered a chair, and, sitting down in an easy, offhand manner, opened the subject of his visit.

'I and a friend of mine, sir, did a little ball business on the hill-side this afternoon, and my friend was arrested about two hours ago.'

We were somewhat startled at this announcement. It was nearly midnight, and before us sat the speaker—a square-shouldered, square-headed man—quite able to dispose of us and rob our premises, were he so disposed.

His face was not unpleasant, having a well-defined good-natured expression about the mouth, which was lit up by soft blue eyes, and, altogether, exhibited a face of more than usual intellect. He interrupted our stare, for he went on to say:

'It was a miserably mean business, sir—quite below my calling. I am a house-breaker. My name is Whitlock. But my friend was in it before I could remonstrate, and, of course, I stood by him. I want you to defend him tomorrow. Here is a fee of fifty dollars, and an order for my property at the hotel, for I must keep out of the way for awhile.'

We promised to see his friend in the morning and Bill Whitlock, house-breaker by profession, withdrew. The next day we went to the Mayor's office to attend to the interest of our client, and found him charged, not with practicing the ball game, but with highway robbery. And what astonished us more was, that instead of Whitlock being charged as the accomplice, the police had arrested the well-known Jim Armor. The prosecuting witness swore positively not only that he had been robbed, but that Armor was one of the robbers.

We knew better, for Mr. Wm. Whitlock, house-breaker, had given us a correct version of the affair. Here pressed upon us a nice question as to legal confidence, that is how we were bound to protect Mr. Whitlock? He had come to us as the agent of his associate and had employed us as such. Taking this view of the case we gave the agent our information, and an active search was set on foot for the real offender. Armor and his associate were bound over, and the night of the day of the examination Mr. Whitlock walked into our office. He seemed much amused at the account of Armor's arrest, and not at all disconcerted when we informed him of our revelations to the police.

'All right, sir,' he said. 'I supposed some one had told the stupids, for they dogged me to this place and are now watching at the foot of the stairs.'

After an hour's conversation the house-breaker took his departure. We listened to hear the noise of his arrest, but none was heard. The next night and the night following—indeed almost every night during the trial of the two unhappy men—this strange man visited us to talk of the matter and suggest points of defense. Had we not been satisfied that Armor had friends on the police, and that our guardians were exceedingly anxious to arrest so noted an offender as Whitlock, we would have suspected connivance. One thing was certain: he seemed to come and go as he pleased.

At last the trial came to an end, and Whitlock made his last visit to bid us 'good-bye,' and tender thanks for our services. As he was going out, we said, asking pardon for the question, how it was he managed to escape the police while visiting our office.

'Simplest thing in the world, sir. I always came in some sort of disguise—a broad-brimmed hat and spectacles and wig, or some such nonsense as that. I threw them off in the dark corner of your vestibule when I went in. When I went out, knowing the chaps were at the door, I first waited until you went home, and then unlocking your door with a false key, I remained all night. Very good sleeping on your sofa, sir. Did a service in return, sir; run a thief out one night.'

We thanked him for his information, but suggested that, as the police were after him, and he could not practice the old dodge, we feared he would come to grief.

'Not at all, sir,' he replied. 'The police are discouraged and don't believe I'm about. They get thirsty, too, like other officials, and go down to the corner to drink. When they do, a friend of mine walks by whistling your national melody, 'Yankee Doodle.'''

Sure enough, at that moment the national melody was heard, and Mr. Whitlock hastily bidding us good night, withdrew. During these visits of consultation, he gave us some useful hints on the subject of house breaking.

When locking up for the night leave the key in the lock, but turn it so as to pass the keyhole, leaving it as it was before you took hold of it. If in addition, you have a bolt, your room is safe. By this simple process you prevent the door being opened by an outsider or a skeleton key.

No one ever breaks into a dwelling house without some previous acquaintance with the inside, and a general knowledge of the inmates. A very cultivated burglar sometimes has plans furnished him. But generally, a personal investigation is considered necessary.

Should you hear an unusual noise at night, do not strike a light, or sing out 'who's there.' The light blinds you, and shows the intruder your position, while the shout only proves you to be alarmed. Get up softly, wait a few minutes, then steal to the place whence the noise proceeded, and then cock a pistol. The 'click' of the deadly instrument completes the business. Never thrust your head out of a window and shout 'watch.' It only alarms the family, and brings no relief. Your unwelcome intruder coolly ties up his plunder and walks off while you shout.

Never put your pocket-book or watch under your head at night. There is where our midnight visitor looks for them. Never be alarmed. Your thief is more afraid than you can possibly be; and when you catch him only say quietly, "be still, or I shoot."

Our article has run beyond reasonable limits, and we must close without going further into this interesting subject, or the valuable hints of Professor Whitlock.

"No Place."—A great many boys complain that there are no places. Perhaps it is hard to get just such as they like. When you get a place—and there are places — this big country, I am sure, has need of every good boy, and girl, and man, and woman in it—when you get a place, I say, make yourself useful in it; make yourself so necessary, by your fidelity and good behavior, that they cannot do without you. Be willing to take a low place at first, no matter what work if it be honest work. Do it well; do it the very best you can. Begin at the lowest round of the ladder, and climb up. The great want anywhere is faithful, capable workers. They are never a drug in the market. Make yourself one of these, and there will always be a place for you, and a good one, too.

—Dickens reminds the funny men of the Boston Post—"with no disrespect to him—of a hog, because we get so many good things from his pen:"

The skunk one point of merit has;
Mark that you fools who flout him;
He never yet was quite "dead broke"
Without a (s)cent about him.

—Boys, don't venture upon the ice till it gets strong. The best way is not to go upon it where the water is deep at all. Each year we are called upon to record the death by drowning, of boys who are too venturesome upon newly-formed ice.

—The immortal Nasby is struggling with the woman question. One of the reasons he adduces why woman should not vote is, that she cannot sing bass.

A. T. Kettle is the only singer who never had a cold.

The Chronicle.

THE NATION'S DEAD.

Four hundred thousand men,
The brave—the good—the true,
In tangled wood, in mountain glen,
On battle plain, in prison pen,
Lie dead for me and you.
Four hundred thousand of the brave,
Have made our ransomed soil their grave,
For me and you:
In many a fevered swamp,
By many a black bayou,
In many a cold and frozen camp,
The weary sentinel ceased his tramp,
And died for me and you:
From Western plain to ocean tide
Are stretched the graves of those who died,
For me and you:
On many a bloody plain,
Their ready swords they drew,
And poured their life-blood like the rain,
A home—a heritage to gain,
To gain for me and you:
Our brothers mustered by our side.
They marched, and fought and bravely died
For me and you:
Up many a fortress wall
They charged, those boys in blue,
'Mid singing smoke and volleyed ball,
The bravest were the first to fall;
To fall for me and you:
These noble men—The nation's pride,
Four hundred thousand men have died,
For me and you:
A debt we ne'er can pay'
To them is justly due,
And to the nation's latest day,
Our children's children still shall say,
"They died for me and you:"
Four hundred thousand of the brave,
Made this our ransomed soil their grave,
For me and you.

New Hampshire Items.

A party in Woonsocket recently had a consignment of several tubs of butter from New Hampshire. On opening two of the tubs they were found to be filled with stone instead of butter.

Messrs. Hanson Beede, of Meredith, and J. B. Mooney, of Alton, arrived in Concord with seventy horses which they purchased in Canada, having been absent some five or six weeks picking them up. Mr. Mooney took about fifty of the horses to Alton, where they will be worked this winter drawing wood, and sold next spring, probably. The remainder were taken to Meredith by Mr. Beede, and are valuable carriage horses. The highest price paid was nearly $250 in gold.

John Milne, for many years pressman in the tailoring establishment of C. H. Trickey, Dover, in crossing the Railroad Bridge on Thanksgiving day, fell a distance of about 32 feet, striking upon the ground between the abutment and water, killing him instantly. The wind was blowing very fresh at the time, and he might have been tasting the demon that unsteadies so many men's heads, and hence the sad and fatal accident as well as fearful warning to all who drink. He evidently struck upon his head, and one arm and leg were broken.

The lumber in the wrecks of the schooners driven ashore on Hampton Beach, was sold by auctioneer Uri Lamprey. The largest lot was bought by Capt. John Goddard, formerly of Portsmouth. One hulk was purchased by S. H. Dumas. The price of the lumber was only $12.50 per thousand feet.

A vote was obtained in favor of lending the credit of Kensington to the amount of five per cent. to the Exeter and Salisbury Railway.

The hosiery mill of John Pepper, recently burned at Lake Village, is being rebuilt.

The Town Hall at Great Falls was filled on Sabbath evening, to listen to religious services conducted by Revs. Dunning, Davis and Hall. Quite an interest in religion is manifested in all the churches in town.

John C. Sherburne of Farmington, formerly of Portsmouth, is under $500 bonds, charged with burning a barn of one Colbath, whom he is proved to have threatened.

At the meeting of the Rockingham (Exeter) Agricultural Society on Saturday, the Treasurer reported that the expenses of the late fair were $1846; cash on hand $268 of which $156 was left over from last year.

☞ A shocking Spanish butchery recently occurred on a sugar estate near Bemba, a short distance from the city of Havana. Nine peaceful, wealthy gentleman and two boys were dragged to Colton, submitted to a drum-head trial, and after being compelled to ride through the streets of the town, amid the hooting of the Spaniards, mounted on the bare backs of their own horses, the tails and manes of which were previously cut off, they were taken to a lonely spot and mutilated and then shot down one by one and thrown into a ditch by a party of drunken Chapel gorris.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopoeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o218w

THE GOLD MARKET.—Gold is once more as lively as a fancy stock, and the transactions in it on Friday, Saturday, and Monday forenoon, were very large. Those who purchased in the vicinity of 130 with the view of hoarding it for a rise have become alarmed at its downward tendency, and are entering the market to save themselves from further loss before the resumption of specie payments.

☞ U. S. Tug Maria left New York for this port on the 27th of November, with 50 sailors for the U. S. S. Benicia. She arrived here Monday forenoon, having had a very severe passage. She shipped several heavy seas off Cape Cod, and receiving a great quantity of water, the pumps got choked, and she would have foundered had it not been for the help of the Benicia's men. She is still at the Navy Yard, leaking badly.

Reviews of new Books, by Prof. Holton.

"Credo. Boston: Lee & Shepard. 1870." Here you have an entire page from the next book. It is a theological book that is having a wide sale. It believes in "a supernatural book; supernatural beings; supernatural life; and supernatural destiny." While the best men are really divided on Ecce Homo, there is, in respect to Credo, no such diversity of view. It is an Apology that needs no apology. Only I can not agree with the author that there is anything supernatural in spiritualism; for legerdemain will account for things fully as hard to explain.

Dr. Todd's Sunset Land, from the same house, is by the parson who officiated at the Wedding of the Golden Spike when two ocean-shores were married. It is his account of the "Pacific Slope." I hardly see where the charm of Dr. Todd's writing is, but no one reads a book of his, physical or metaphysical, without feeling it. Whether he Lectures to Children or tells us of Serpents in a Dove's Nest, we are bound to listen. He proves that it is wicked for women to murder, their own children even, and however young and helpless, and we read the argument through. He even hints that a monstrous sin is unhealthy, an argument which, if pressed more earnestly, would have told, even with nice, sweet, tender-hearted ladies. Of course his California is delightful reading. It is a pity he did not care more about the points of the compass, and that he therefore forgot to give us a map or two.

Dr. Byford's Philosophy of Domesti Life, from the same publishers, closes our list. It is not one of those physiological books which are a necessary evil or an unnecessary curse, I know not which. Mademoiselle might well study it before her first lover makes his appearance; papa might well consult it as long as he has a child to train or a wife to console. It proceeds on the principle that there is not much earthly happiness worth anything except in domestic life. It is rather hard on the debasing crimes that keep down our over-civilized population, but without a sentence that a man would hesitate publicly to read. I am rather surprised to see no allusion to the disabilities to exercise and bodily enjoyment imposed by fashionable female dress. Neither can I think the doctor is right in thinking that females do not get the full value of their services, on an average, as bookkeepers, saleswomen, etc. If a woman gets less per thousand in typesetting than a man, it is because it costs the foreman more to get good work out of her. Is it not so, Uncle Toby? You rarely fail to hit the mark.

Rev. E. E. Hale's Sybaris and Other Homes tempts me on, though I am woefully tired, so as to wish my life an hour nearer its end, and myself in bed. It is cognate, I suppose, to the matter I have had in hand now for about three hours, represented in the one paragraph above. Now I stop, and open it for the first time. * * * There! I read till ten last night, and have been at it again. Sybaris, on the Gulf of Taranto, now an unvisited waste for a thousand years past, is resuscitated into a Utopia where church, state and kitchen are managed according to the beau-ideal of the author. There is no stench but that of tobacco, no idlers, no crowding, no hurry, no old bachelors, no bad cookery, no old maids, no stains, no new laws, no ledgers. "Naguadadic" has its suburbs supplied with cheap, swift and numerous trains, night and morning. These suburbs are like Vineland. "Vineland" is fact, not fancy. "Boston" also, is reality—and stern reality, too. Tenement houses, filth, guilt, misery, death. Railroads, State-owned and State-run at 5 cents for ten miles or less, would help this matter. So possibly might a law fixing, as a minimum assessment on all houses, $200 for each head it shelters. So certainly would the abolition of rum and tobacco. But the only sure remedy is the reduction of the amount of sin.

The Atlantic Almanac is suggested by the mention of E. E. Hale. Its attractive contents are quite like those of the two preceding years. Hale's story is the greatest take-off of English travellers in America. Its most essential improvement on last year's is the numbering the days of the year. It has two chromos, besides the cover. Shad-fishing is, perhaps, the best of all in the three years.

The man who invented newspapers was a great benefactor to the idle.

THE MAIDEN AND THE MOON.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

O, Moon! did you see
My love and me
In the vale beneath the sycamore tree?
Whatever befel,
O, Moon! don't tell—
'Twas nothing amiss, you know very well!

O, Moon! you know
A long time ago
You left the sky and descended below
Of a summer's night,
By your own sweet light,
To meet your Endymion on Lotmoc' height.

And there, O, Moon!
You gave him a boon
You wouldn't I'm sure have granted at noon!
'Twas nothing amiss,
Being only the bliss
Of giving—and taking—an innocent kiss.

Some churlish lout
Who was spying about,
Went off and babbled—and so it got out;
But for all the gold
The sea could hold,
O, Moon! I wouldn't have gone and told.

So, Moon, don't tell
Of what befel
My lover and me in the leafy dell!
He is honest and true
And remember, too
We only behaved like your lover and you!

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Notes for December, addressed to the Feeble and Debilitated.

This is a trying season for invalids, indeed for all who are not blessed with robust constitutions and iron frames.

Cold has come upon us suddenly, sealing up the open pores, and sealing in as it were, any seeds of disease that may have been lurking in the system, but which remained undeveloped, so long as the waste matter of the body and all acid and unwholesome humors were freely discharged by evaporation from the surface and through the bowels.

A tonic, aperient and alterative medicine is now needed to invigorate the vital powers depressed by low temperature; to stimulate and purify the secretions, and to fit the body to endure, without inconvenience, pain or danger, the sudden climatic change which ushers in the Winter.

The only preparation which will fully meet this almost universal need, and will thoroughly and safely perform the important work, is the leading tonic and alterative of the age, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This popular specific improves the appetite, invigorates the digestive organs, regulates the flow of bile, enriches the blood, calms the nerves, relieves constipation, promotes superficial circulation and evaporation, and being composed solely of wholesome vegetable elements, with a pure stimulant as their diffuse vehicle, may be taken by the weakest without fear. The flavor is agreeable, for although the BITTERS are a potent medicine, they contain no nauseating element.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal orders in demand for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

Capt. FOSTER is a ship owner and builder, residing at Port Burwell, Canada.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but which, when united, have a remarkable property of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous cathartic is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to the present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative component has been nothing could be more inelegantly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

One thousand experiments

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colds, Sore Throat, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, are among the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without it for a single hour in the house. Hundreds lars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be glad to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

FRIGHTFUL DEVELOPMENTS!

At last the people have got the fact "through their hair," that hair dyes impregnated with acetate of lead and other metallic salts are

MURDEROUS PREPARATIONS.

When they see the metallic sediment at the bottom of the bottles, they know that the disgusting stuff is literally thickened with Poison. They ask therefore, for a

offered under the sanction of Professor Chilton's guarantee that it contains "nothing deleterious." It PRESERVES, RESTORES, and Beautifies the Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. Try it. 1md&wo4

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the possibility of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "prudis strong as Holy Writ," would fain be convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to test their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address I listen to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must absent himself; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—when used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease have been prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned, I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harassing cough subsided; the night fever; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beleagured on all sides. I had unwittingly who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration which had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for fand consulted me in regard to their cases To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated in all its faithful phases, in order to satisfy myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were to me my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without it for a single hour in the house. Hundreds lars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be glad to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

☞ The concert of Mr. & Mrs. Howard Paul, at the Temple to-night, will be one of the richest and most enjoyable entertaiments ever given in this city. To those who have seen and heard these superior performers, it is only necessary to give another opportunity; while to any reader who has not, we say, go and hear them, by all means—you will never hear anything of the sort better. The singing of Mrs. Paul especially is very fine, and the impersonations of both are something wonderful.

☞ The Portsmouth Philharmonic Society was never stronger or more flourishing than now. Their meetings are held on Monday evenings, in the nice large Hall of the G. A. R. on Market Street; Mr. Jerome C. Butler is President, and Messrs. Pearson, conductor, Tilton, pianist, and Cushing, violinist, have charge of the music. The Society have now in rehearsal Mozart's sublime Twelfth Mass, and with their new orchestra of six or more pieces, form a powerful and very effective chorus. It is usually very difficult to collect a good orchestra in this vicinity, and none equal to this has been organized for a long while. Their overture voluntary at recess on Monday evening, was much admired. We hope to hear them all in grand Concert, in due time.

☞ The Autumn wound up with a soft, warm South rain on the last day of November; and Winter, by the almanac, commences with December today. The season latterly has been unusually favorable for the closing up of farm and other out-door work; but the severe drought of summer cut off fall feed for stock, very generally, in pastures and fields, so that the cattle of small farmers are not in so good condition as usual when coming to the barn, or else they have begun earlier to draw on their rather scanty hay-mows. And notwithstanding the late rains, the ground, springs and wells are not by any means filled up to their usual level at this season yet.

NEW OPERA.—I have had the pleasure recently, privately to hear the reading of a new and interesting Opera, entitled "Winona, Queen of the Sagamore;" the whole written and composed the present year by our fellow townsman Thomas P. Moses, who, I understand purposes to bring it out at the Temple in the Spring, with original gorgeous scenery to be painted by himself. Judging from hearing the versified composition, and detached portions of the music, I am of the opinion that this smooth and agreeable Dramatic production will be a great success here and elsewhere. Mr. Moses is an idefatigable laborer in the beautiful arts of music and painting, and is every way worthy of success. Q.

THE PICNIC HOP this (Wednesday) evening at Congress Hall, under the management of the C. B. B. Club, will doubtless be a very pleasant affair, great preparations having been made to insure its success; and those who attend may be assured of a good time. The ladies carry refreshments, and at intermission we expect that through their kindness we (the gentlemen) will have a bountiful repast set before us. The managers tender their sincere thanks to the old folks as well as the young for the kind interest taken in the welfare of the Club, and in appreciation for such will endeavor to keep up the good reputation they have sought for and gained. New features will be introduced at each succeeding gathering, and the management will spare no pains to make each one not only different from but superior to any that have preceded it. W.

☞ The land damages for widening Fleet Street as proposed, to 40 feet, would amount to $6000, which some folks think rather a dear whistle. To widen it six feet, as suggested by the petitioners, would cost only about $1000; but many say this would do little good, for when a sidewalk shall be laid for buildings on the new eastern line, the travel path would be no wider than now—which it is again contended is and will be sufficient for what must always remain a back street.

The proposed new highway across the North Millpond is objected to by many, as expensive and unnecessary, and benefiting but very few people. A business man thinks the bridge, if ever built, should cross further down, say from Cornwall Street or lower, over to Sparhawk or Woodbury Street. We have long been in favor of a bridge across, so as to shorten the distance, and get rid of crossing on a level with the railroad at the Creek or Depot, but we don't see how the proposed new crossing at Cabot St. is to mend matters. Dover St. is higher and better, but is so near the head of the pond, that by natural causes the flats will probably be filled in to this point in a few years.

These are two vexed questions, which have been before the City Government for years—and the City Council voted a year or two ago, that when one-half should be raised by private subscription, the City would pay the other half of the Bridge. The fact is, in reference to Fleet Street—that an old city is like an old house — there are plenty of crooks and corners which might be improved; but it costs a good deal of money to do these things, and in slow places it don't always pay, to the general acceptation. However, we shall see what we shall see, in new and old roads.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 159 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. imdkwn22

New Hampshire Items.

Paran Stevans, Esq., of New York, founder of the Stevens High School, at Claremont, has presented the institution with a Chickering grand piano.—The gift of the late Mrs. Alden is estimated at $3,000, and it is said that her husband will add to the amount.

On the 9th inst., an occasion of much interest called together the members of the Garland family, at their old homestead in Hampton. The surviving children of Mrs. Mary Garland, widow of the late David Garland, met to celebrate their mother's ninety-first birthday. She was the mother of twelve children, nine of whom still survive, and is the oldest person in the town, and the oldest person ever resident on the old homestead, originally that of Peter Garland, son of John Garland a native of England, and one of the first settlers of the town of Hampton. The estate had descended in direct line from said Peter down to the present inheritor, Adna Garland, (son of Mary) whose grandson was present as the representative of the eighth generation resident on the spot; thus four generations were represented, being one-half of the whole number ever resident upon the estate.

The Statesman says that Messrs. J. W. Johnson and Wyman Pattee of Enfield, purchased over four thousand barrels of apples in northern New York, and brought them into New England, leaving one carload at St. Albans, two at Waterbury, one at Concord, and so all along the line, sending of course the greater quantity to Boston. The apples were all of first quality, packed in new barrels, and sold at $4.50 a barrel as fast as they could be delivered.

During the severe Saturday gale the newly erected barn of Elijah Purington of West Epping, was blown over and entirely demolished. A cow in the barn escaped without serious injury.

The Pastor of St. Philips Church, Epping, Rev. E. J. Downing, has closed his labors there, having accepted a call from Galena, Ill.

Passengers on the B. & M. railroad, when they arrive at Exeter and take a view of the spacious depot with about a dozen hacks standing with open doors, are deeply impressed with the size and importance of the place, and immediately wish to know the number of inhabitants and who is Mayor.

The account of the Newmarket Manufacturing Company, was incorrect; i. e., none of the stone were taken from the bed of the river, as stated. The most extraordinary circumstance connected with this mill is, that over nine hundred tons of the stones, some of which weigh from 200 to 300 lbs., were hauled or carted, and unloaded during last fall and winter, at least 1 1-2 miles, by Mr. Robert Channel of Durham, who was upwards of eighty-four years of age.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Exeter Manufacturing Company, it was decided to make an average reduction in the wages of the operatives of eleven per cent. This course was adopted rather than to suspend operations, which they would have been obliged to do, or run at a loss.

The State Temperance Committee held meeting at Concord on the 22d. The vote on the Constabulary was considered as not discouraging. The proposition to run an Independent ticket at the coming election was taken into consideration, and action postponed to a future meeting. If an Independent ticket is nominated, Elder Barrows will probably be the nominee for Governor.

Miss Abigail Edgerly, of Wolfeborough, committed suicide by cutting her throat with a razor, three times. She was sick, and aged 59.

The town of Jackson voted solid against the State Constabulary. The Wolfeborough News says, no wonder—"rebellion and rum are twin sisters, and Jackson shot U. S. officials and burnt citizens houses wherein they were lodged, during the war."

Ward 4 in Dover had the honor of being the banner Ward in the recent city election, not a single democratic vote being cast.

A drunken woman at Nashua, while being taken to the lock-up, kicked the officer in the bowels so severely that his life is despaired of. Better for police officers to kill a hundred such worthless termagants, than one decent officer be harmed.

Messrs. Connell and Brady, of Manchester, will soon erect a carriage manufactory in that place.

An Arctic auk, rarely seen in the State, was shot on Tuesday last at Contoocookville.

The barn of Mr. Lionel Colbath, of Farmington, was consumed by fire on Thursday last.

The storm of Saturday week was very severe in Dover and vicinity, and did much damage in breaking glass, blowing down buildings and houses, &c. The slates blown from the Great Falls mills, as they stuck up in the lawn below, looked like a graveyard. A window of the Dover Gazette office was forced in, and the scuttle blown off and landed on the skylight of C. H. Trickey, breaking 50 to 75 of the lights. Also, one of the large panes of double glass in the front of Mr. T.'s store was broken by the force of the wind. Two chimneys on the roof of the house of John Roberts, on the Neck, were levelled. Trees were broken down, and fences tipped into the road. The brick yards on the river were all flooded and washed to a damaging extent.

The surrounding towns received even worse effects from the gale than Dover. In Durham, a nearly new barn belonging to James Butler, containing 25 tons of hay, was blown down and destroyed; loss about $800. Another barn, 40 by 50 feet, built four years ago and very heavily timbered, belonging to Daniel C. Bunker, was raised from its foundation and completely demolished, very few pieces of the timber or boards unbroken; loss about $800. Sheds were blown down, roofs started, trees torn up, &c.

In Madbury, a fine lot of heavy pine timber, belonging to Jonathan Jenkins, containing some 75,000 to 100,000 feet, was blown down or broken off. Many of the trees were between two and three feet through.

A lot containing about 28 acres has been purchased by the Strafford Trotting Park Association at Rochester. It lies above the bridge and directly in the rear of M. C. Emerson's house, and runs back to the river.

LINES

Affectionately inscribed to G. M. B., on her Sixteenth Birthday, from her Mother.

Dear child of mine, with brow so fair,
What boon shall I this day prepare
To cheer thy heart untouched by care,
Or linger as memorial.

A mother's love—Heaven born and free,
A type of that Christ bears for me,
I freely give for aye, to thee,
The richest boon of earth.

I would not sadden o'er thy tender years
With tales of clouded hopes and fears,
But happy hours depart, and yield to tears,
When life seems all aglow;

And as the wily hours of life's young morn
Speed on apace, the rose displays the thorn;
And from its piercing touch, new hope is born,
That darling earthly treasure.

And as thy virtues, burnished bright,
Shine forth, as lustrous orbs o' night,
Thy mother's prayers shall guide thee right,
And bear thee on to victory.

Portsmouth Nov. 23d, 1869.

THE FIRE THAT OLD NICK BUILT.—Intemperance—This is the fire that Old Nick built.

Moderate Drinking—This is the fuel that feeds the fire that Old Nick built.

Rum Selling—This is the axe that cuts the wood that feeds the fire that Old Nick built.

Love of Money—This is the stone that grinds the axe that chops the wood that feeds the fire that Old Nick built.

Public Opinion—This is the sledge, with its face of steel, that batters the stone that grinds the axe that cuts the wood that feeds the fire that Old Nick built.

A Temperance Meeting—This is one of the blows we quietly deal, to fashion the sledge with its face of steel, that batters the stone, that grinds the axe, that cuts the wood, that feeds the fire that Old Nick built.

Temperance Pledge—This is the smith that works with a will, to give force to the blows we quietly deal, to fashion the sledge with its face of steel, that batters the stone, that grinds the axe, that cuts the wood, that feeds the fire that Old Nick built.

Eternal Truth—This is the spirit so gentle and still, that nerves the smith to work with a will, to give force to the blows we quietly deal, to fashion the sledge with its face of steel, that batters the stone, that grinds the axe, that cuts the wood, that feeds the fire that Old Nick built.

—When California turns her back on gold and prefers paper, it must be acknowledged that the days of specie payments are drawing nigh. The Central Pacific Railroad has a notice posted in its station at Sacramento, warning its patrons that where passenger tickets and freight charges are payable in currency, gold will not be received at any figure. The steady decline of the premium on gold seems to have had the natural effect of enhancing the value of greenbacks in the eyes of the company, and of inducing them to prefer receiving their pay in a currency which is relatively increasing in value. It would be strange, indeed, if the gradual approach of greenbacks to par should result in the introduction and naturalization of a paper currency in California, where solid money has so long been insisted upon.—Boston Advertiser.

—Victor Emmanuel is a sad dog at the best, though perhaps as good as the average of kings. He has one wife, and has contracted his eighth morganatic marriage—which seems to prove that it is considered more honor by European ladies to be a king's mistress than a plain man's wife; and this is perhaps explained by the fact that these mistresses are lawfully endowed with titles, and become the allies and spies of the sovereign and the "detective" police of courts.

SERIOUS DEFICIENCY.—No Republican will be disposed to take issue with Brick Pomeroy when he makes the following accusation against the Democratic party. He says:

The Democratic party of the U. S. is sadly in want.

Its wants are not numerous, but serious. It wants brains. It wants honesty. It wants pluck. It wants unity of action. It wants integrity of purpose.

—A naughty little boy, being told by his mother that God would not forgive him, if he did something, answered, "Yes He would too—God likes too forgive little boys—that's what He's for." Of course that boy was a Universalist from the shell, and had about as clear a notion of what God was for, as many a profound theologain or metaphyscian. —John Neal.

—The Washington National Republican of the 17th inst. comes with nearly five solid columns of fine type devoted to a circumstantial account of long and painful differences existing in the St. John's Episcopal Church in that city. Rev. John Vaughan Lewis and his "Vestry" do not find themselves able to sail together in smooth waters.

—The first schoolhouse erected in Bath, Me., in 1794, is still used for its original purpose.

COLGATE & CO'S.
AROMATIC VEGETABLE SOAP,
COMBINED WITH GLYCERINE, IS RECOMMENDED FOR THE USE OF LADIES AND IN THE NURSERY. ap8ly
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21lw

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, DEC. 2, 1869.

☞ The friends of Suffrage for Woman, at their national convention at Cleveland, formed a national association for the furtherance of the cause. Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was elected President, and Col. T. W. Higginson, Mrs. Livermore, Julia Ward Howe, Lucy Stone, George William Curtis, Mr. Garrison and some other well known gentlemen and ladies constitute the remaining officers. Thus the woman's suffrage movement has now been fairly placed before the country; and taking into consideration the rapid progress it has made during the past few years, it seems as if its triumph cannot be far distant. Perhaps, says the Boston Sunday Times, it would be well to grant it for the sake of peace, if nothing else; for assuredly the women once aroused, will never keep still till they can go to the ballot boxes and deposit their votes.

A GOOD FOUNDATION.—The Wolfeboro' News says, "Isaac Adams Esq., of Sandwich, of stone wall notoriety, has built a new dam costing some $2000 to $2,500, which would stand a freshet double in power to the one last month, and is without exception, the best dam in that mill region; and he is to build a mill like it. Mr. Adams is also erecting a beautiful and substantial stable, with a cellar of split stone walls costing $1500 or $2000. The wharfing in front of these is also stone, varying from 1 1-2 to 3 1-2 feet, and covering quite a large area. The stable will cost some $6000 to $8000. It is hoped and expected that he will build a public hotel for the travelling and boarding public, that shall correspond thereto."

This Isaac Adams was a famous printing press manufacturer, and made a fortune by it. The above item about stone wall, reminds us of another individual in this vicinity who has built many thousand dollars' worth of costly granite wall, but has now got to the end of his pile of "rocks"—not on account of the great cost of the granite, however, for he could have stood ever so much of that; but because, not having learned as Mr. Adams did, the value of money by earning it himself, he was too ready to risk and squander his great fortune. There is no foundation for success so sure as early habits of industry and economy.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.—It is now settled (D. V.) says the Traveller, that there shall be a conference of all the branches of the Evangelical Alliance in Christendom, at New York, in the autumn of 1870. Large delegations of eminent divines and distinguished Christian philanthropists, from Great Britain, France, Holland, Germany, and Switzerland, are expected to be present and take part in the deliberations and devotional services of this grand international Christian Conference.

New Publications.

Another rising in Ireland is looked for.

A synopsis of the French Emperor's proposed reforms is published. The Telegraph thinks the speech a liberal one. The Times thinks the annexation of San Domingo to the United States would be beneficial to both countries. A terrible scarcity of provisions prevails in the allied army in Paraguay.

A man was arrested in New York, Tuesday, for having in his possession bonds, part of a large lot stolen last year.

Dorchester has not a single pauper and wishes to sell its town farm.

Gen. George W. Cole, who was tried at Albany some time ago for the shooting of Hon. L. H. Hiscock, has obtained the post of clerk in the Register's office of the Post Office in New York City, a place worth $1800 a year. He is a brother of U. S. Senator Cole of California.

—St. Albans has twenty miles of sidewalk, most of it plank.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.

A BARREN VICTORY.—Have the rummies of Massachusetts won? They have worked very hard, but not so hard as year before last. This year they wished to save their business; then their bodies from jail. There has been a waste of wickedness this year. They needed to carry both houses and the Governor, unless, as two years ago, they could exact from Gov. Claflin a pledge not to veto, which I think he would not give. To defeat him was hopeless, but then they have pulled down his majority pretty well. But they have lost the Senate, and can do nothing at law-repealing. Still, what they have effected was well worth working for. Another such defeat as they had last year would have been fatal. With the weak places in our law stopped by supplementary legislation, three-fourths of the liquor-sellers would have found some honest business before the next campaign, and the remainder would have had no heart to make fight with their diminished forces, and pockets depleted by fines and costs.

How came our loss of the lower House? It was a natural result of the corruption of the Republican leaders. Their best card has been men well known as prohibitionists, but who have sold themselves to the secret league of rum for a nomination; and the wire-pullers have taken them with the promise of rum, money and Democratic votes. Probably the rum vote was almost entirely thrown; from ten to twenty per cent. of the temperance voters staid away.

One reason for this was the hyper-honesty of certain temperance men, who have damaged their own cause not a little. Our enemies have convinced some of our friends that the Constable has not done all he could to enforce the law. I think they are mistaken; but if they are right, they did wrong. The papers that have joined the rummies in hounding down Major Jones are the "Congregationalist," the "Watchman and Reflector," and the "Daily Times and Tribune." All of these are committed to Prohibition, and therefore their admissions have told with fatal effect. Certain speakers at the great convention took the same suicidal course. Now I do not think either of these papers came out as severely upon the juries of Boston, which would not convict on the most palpable evidence, as on the Constable when they found cases which they thought he ought to stop. The fact is that Major Jones keeps the hopper full all the time, —cuts out all the work the courts can do, and I think chooses such cases as he can get through fastest.

Now I will quote two squibs from the "News" of the day before election to justify what I say; and be it remembered its proprietor is as true a friend of Prohibition as your correspondent is.

"Bad for the eyesight—to be appointed a policeman or constable. The eyesight soon becomes dim, so that nothing can be seen, except what is desired."

"Wiggins asks, does the law prohibit the sale of liquors, ale, &c., to those who lunch in our restaurants? How stupid! Of course not, or the law would be enforced and such sales stopped, which has not been done."

Now I know personally that earnest Prohibitionists absented themselves from the polls, simply because they had lost all confidence in the honesty of Gov. Claflin, believing that he kept in office an unfaithful Constable, if, indeed, he did not secretly instruct him not to prosecute wealthy offenders. If such winking had been politic, so powerful is the influence exerted over Governors by such as put them in office, that I would not be sure Gov. Claflin would not yield to it. But in truth he must know that the perfect execution of this law would strengthen his cause, and that both he and the Constable have "done their level best" to extirpate the illegal traffic in liquors I am assured.

What next? I believe the law will be enforced with increasing vigor for twelve months to come, and that half of those who have campaigned actively for their trade, will be out of it next year.

But how comes the prohibitory law, which stood so long on the statute book unopposed, now repeatedly defeated at the polls? That is easily told. Till we had a State Police the law was nearly dead. It did not hurt the liquor trade very much. But when the Police came, the trade and the law could not both live. One must die. Hence the struggle—the greatest the State has ever seen, on one side; but, alas! all too sluggard on the part of the majority. It is not over. It even threatens to outlive the Republican party, which certainly can never rally its full force again except under the Prohibition banner.

In the part of Weare known as "Barnard Hill," lives Mrs. Fanny Morse, who reached her one hundredth birthday on the 12th day of last March. Mrs. Morse has been a member of the Baptist Church for 60 years. She is spoken of by her friends as being a most amiable and kind-hearted woman. She retains her mental faculties nicely, but her eyesight is nearly gone. She does not sit up any in a chair, but can sit up a little in her bed. Her appetite is good.

Monday morning about one o'clock, fire was discovered in the barn of Thomas Carr of Franklin; the barn and the cottage house of Mr. C. were burned to the ground. The barn contained a large amount of hay, grain &c., also a valuable cow and two hogs, all of which were a total loss. The goods from the ground story of the house were saved, but everything in the upper portion was consumed. The house of Levi Richardson, near by, was saved with great difficulty. The origin of the fire is not known. Insured for about $700; loss about $1200.

John Hill and George Gardner, two dead-beats, claiming to reside in Manchester, are in custody in Concord, for attempting to smuggle their fare on the Concord Railroad.

Professor Huntington, assistant State geologist, a few days since took up his residence at the Prospect House, on the summit of Moosehillock Mountoin, 5000 feet above the sea level, where he will devote his time to meteorological observations, the measurement of that and neighboring White Mountains, and to the completion of topographical survey of that section of the State. A large number of young men accompanied him to aid him in setting up housekeeping, and they found the snow two feet deep in the woods below the mountain top.

Four hundred children in the Manchester mills have been compelled by a State law to attend school a certain part of the year. An evening school is also established there, with nearly 200 scholars in attendance.

Rochester voted on Monday last to subscribe for $15,000 stock in the Nashua and Rochester Railroad. The vote was 419 in favor and 194 against. The vote for the Concord and Rochester Railroad was 352 in favor and 223 against.

—A young man accompanied by his lady love, stopped at a St. Louis boarding house for dinner, the other day. Never having seen fish-balls, he handed one to his lady, under the impression that it was a doughnut. —Dr. Holland says "that the English horse employed in the streets of a city or on the roads of the country does twice as much work as the American horse similarly employed in America." He adds that the simple explanation is that the Englishman has invested in perfect and permanent roads what the American expends in perishable horses that require to be fed," Moral: A mile of good macadamized road is more easily supported than a horse.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Notes for December, addressed to the Feeble and Debilitated.

This is a trying season for invalids, indeed for all who are not blessed with robust constitutions and iron frames.

Cold has come upon us suddenly, sealing up the open pores, and sealing in as it were, any seeds of disease that may have lurked in the system, but which remained undeveloped so long as the waste matter of the body and all acid and unwholesome humors were freely discharged by evaporation from the surface and through the bowels.

A tonic, aperient and alterative medicine is now needed to invigorate the vital powers depressed by low temperature; to stimulate and purify the secretions, and to fit the body to endure, without inconvenience, pain or danger, the sudden climatic change which ushers in the Winter.

The only preparation which will fully meet this almost universal need, and will thoroughly and safely perform the important work, is the leading tonic and alterative of the age, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This popular specific improves the appetite, invigorates the digestive organs, regulates the flow of bile, enriches the blood, calms the nerves, relieves constipation, promotes superficial circulation and evaporation, and being composed solely of wholesome vegetable elements, with a pure stimulant as their diffuse vehicle, may be taken by the weakest without fear. The flavor is agreeable, for although the BITTERS are a potent medicine, they contain no nauseating element.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—North, East, South and West. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon, from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring to overcome for centuries, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It represents the botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and combined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than One thousand experiments were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among the vegetable or mineral kingdoms of the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is now sold by druggists and an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. ol

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as DR. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "proofs strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their number are so small that I dismiss them and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well authenticated facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man who has consumption must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as the noon sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor plausible assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that result which they pronounce impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the said information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for the cure of consumption are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as palatable to me, and which did me at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; expectorant night sweats ceased, the racking and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skelton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I am two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply qualified to fill the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally besieged on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful change in me and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for fast consulting me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for this happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so severely, and to the study of it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. I made many investigations for satisfactory results, and my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption who, if treated, were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have as much confidence in the cure of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands have been gratified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been, could they but be induced to avail themselves of the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

In Remote Settlements of Untod Value.

Food makes blood; blood makes the body. If the blood be pure, the body is healthy. So if we are not in health, we know some impurities are lurking about, which must be removed, and the sooner the better.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For 10 years Brandreth's Pills have been used with all the success that could be desired. Full Directions are with each box.

The Artists engaged for this concert (which is one of the series of M'lle Alide Topp's farewell Concerts) are of the highest order, and the opportunity offered the people of Portsmouth to hear such talent as is rarely heard inside of our largest cities should be appreciated.

THE NARRAGANSETT

INDIAN PHYSICIAN!

Has taken Rooms

At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,

Where he will remain

He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the Most Remarkable Cures Ever Known! and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung diseases, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, neither is he a mind reader. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and he will honestly tell you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

NAVAL.—The U. S. S. Benicia went into commission on Wednesday at noon. She will be commanded by Commander Somerville Nicholson, and will probably proceed to sea in a few days.

Chaplain Jas. J. Kane reported here for duty on Tuesday evening.

☞ We have before mentioned the fact of the recent introduction of water from Seavey's Island to the Navy Yard proper. While on a visit yesterday (Wednesday) to the U. S. S. Benicia, we noticed that the boilers were being filled through a canvass hose, and from inquiring and personal observation learned that the water was being led from the Island Reservoir directly to the vessel's boilers, a distance of 2800 feet.

For the Chronicle.

☞ We would draw the attention of your readers to the vocal and instrumental Concert to be given at the Temple on Friday evening, by Miss Annie M. Bernard and her associate artistes, who are well and favorably known to the musical world. Miss Bernard is a Portsmouth girl, and was at one time a church singer in this city. Since her removal she has been studiously elevating herself in the art of music by vocal culture. She now returns to us that we may see how great has been her improvement. At the several concerts in and about Boston, where she has appeared, she has been particularly successful.

Mrs. D. C. Hall is well known in this city, and we are informed is singing with greater success even than has ever before attended her efforts. Mr. Prescott, who gave us such pleasure when here some few weeks ago, is also a member of the company. Mr. Payson, the basso, is a stranger to our city, but we are informed that he is particularly gifted in the rendering of Italian buffo parlando, a school of music in which Ferranti and Ronconi are the only exponents with the exception of Mr. Payson, to whom he has been favorably compared. "The Cincinnati Commercial in speaking of a recent concert given in that city at which Mr. Payson sang, says:

"Mr. Payson sang Rossini's 'Largo al Factolum' with much better effect than Ronconi, who depends more upon his acting than his singing. Indeed, we doubt if we ever heard this rollicing aria better rendered upon the operatic stage. Although Mr. Payson has not as much action as the famous Ferranti, he has a much better voice and under much better control."

Mr. P. will probably sing the aria on Friday evening. Mrs. Fannie Frazer Foster is well known as a teacher, and will be remembered as being here some years since with J. S. Hatton, who was the first director of the Parepa Concerts.

Prof. Wallach is also a member of the company, and will as usual astonish and delight all by his really wonderful performance upon his toy instrument. We would refer our readers to the programme, which is already published and distributed.

☞ The Boston Journal says that "First-rate ten dollar (counterfeit) bills have made their appearance in Boston" So they have in this city, and will probably accumulate, as well also as the new fractional currency. Until recently, New Hampshire has been very free from counterfeits.

PREMIUM MEAT.—One of the handsomest displays of choice Beef and Pork we ever saw, is that now made at Stokell & Co.'s Provision Store in Merchant's Row, — being the prime steers of C. E. Smith of So. Newmarket, and the prize hogs of H. D. Walker of this city. The meat of both looks good enough to eat; and is all artistically dressed.

QUICK TRIP.—The schooner "Union," Capt. Williams, belonging to Samuel Adams & Co. of this city, left here the 22d of November for Bangor, where she freighted with 100,000 feet of timber, and returned here, being gone only six days and twenty hours.

☞—The bachelor's refrain — a lass! — the maidens refrain — ah men! Let them no longer refrain.

☞ The Annual Communication for choice of Officers of St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 56, F. and A. M., was held on the evening of Tuesday, St. Andrew's Day. The following Brethren were elected for the ensuing year:—

James W. Lord, W. M.; Phillip S. Mignon, S. W.; William E. Littlefield, J. W.; Wingate N. Ilsley, Treasurer; Fred. E. Willis, Secretary; Joseph Parry, Representative to M. W. G. L.; William Walker, Gershom F. Melcher, Standing Committee.

☞ The Salem Gazette publishes Births, and gives the names of the babies when furnished. This reminds us of an incident where an addition to the family was expected, and a boy was desired; and after the event, a little sister, in answer to a question as to the name of the baby, replied "Willie;" when it happened that the little stranger did not prove to be that kind of a baby.

☞ People seeking investments, should notice the advertisement of Bank Stocks for sale. The last Portsmouth Bank Stock sold, (First National), brought $139.25, at Auction, dividends off. The Nat. M. & T. has been paying 12 per cent, and has a large surplus.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

THE GAZETTE for 1870.—New Subscribers paying $2 for the New Hampshire Gazette for the year 1870, will receive the paper free until Jan. 1st.

—A correspondent of the Scientific American believes that the Pacific Railroad is to have an effect in changing the meteorological character of the plains. His theory is that the bands of iron furnish such a means of establishing an electrical equilibrium that the climate is rendered more equable and the rainfall over the country is sensibly equalized.

—The citizens of Portland are jubilant over the introduction of Sebago water into the city. The water is flowing in the streets, and it is being supplied to numerous private residences. The pressure attained gives a stream seventy feet high in the centre of the city. The citizens are soon to have a suitable demonstration on its success.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. [GOLD] BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 1mdawn2

The Mystery in Bleecker Street.

In the summer of 18—, toward the close of a sultry day—one of those days during which the very air stands still, refusing to breathe, I sat at my window and vainly endeavored to cool myself off with the aid of a palm-leaf fan.

Various thoughts were running through my brain, foremost among which was the singular conduct of a young couple who occupied the first floor of the opposite house. I had noticed them frequently and formed my own ideas as to their history, which is generally the mutual amusements of opposite neighbors. But that night, they, like myself, were endeavoring to catch a breath of air, and both windows being open I could see everything in the room with perfect distinctness.

It was a large square room with an alcove at one side, where I supposed the bed to be, though I could not see it. Directly opposite my window was a looking-glass, which nearly occupied a third of the wall at the end of the room, as a bright light shone from the pendant chandelier it gave the appearance of two apartments.

As I said before, my attention was first attracted by the singular conduct of the couple. The lady was, if I might judge from the partial glimpses I got of her, quite young. She was of about medium hight, with dark hair, eyes very small, and always dressed in white.

The husband, as I supposed him to be, was about twenty-eight; very tall and handsome, with dark hair and eyes, a clear olive complexion, and a heavy, black moustache, through which gleamed the whitest of teeth. He was home a great deal during the day, and was evidently very much beloved by the lady, as I could distinctly see. She was always caressing him and fondly leaning over his chair or sitting on a foot-stool at his feet. I could see the lips move in speech, and fancied I knew the endearing terms used as she smilingly looked up at him.

I had formed a pretty little conceit about the domestic bliss of the couple, until the conduct of the lady made rather an unpleasant inroad upon it a few days before the evening which I particularly mention. I had been the pleasant witness of the usual domestic picture. The gentleman sat in front of the looking glass with his back toward the window, and the lady sat at his feet. For a long time they seemed to be conversing ordinarily, until suddenly the lady rose to her feet, put her hands to her head, and drawing out the comb which confined her dark hair in a large mass, let the coil unwind itself. I never saw such beautiful hair. With one sweep of her hand she flung the rippling masses over her face like a veil, and fell upon her knees. Something in the attitude must have spoken to the gentleman, for he rose angrily, bent over her kneeling figure, and I could see his dark face flash, while his lips seemed hissing words into her ears. Lower and lower she bent, as the words came quick and fast.

I could see his hands clinched, and the face which I had thought handsome in repose, looked like the face of a demon. I rose almost breathless from excitement, not knowing what would come next. But I had no cause for alarm. The gentleman drew something from his bosom, what it was I could not see, and held it towards her. It must have been something very small, for it was hid in the hollow of his hand. But, whatever it was, it had a potent effect upon the lady. She flung back the hair from her face; showing a countenance ghastly in its paleness, and as I could see, bathed in tears. Reaching out her arms, she seemed to beg and plead for something, almost clutching his limbs in the intensity of her emotion. At last he seemed to relent and grew more calm as she continued her passionate supplication. I could see his form tremble, and turn aside to conceal the agitation. Her lips continued to move quickly, and at last her words did their work; for he turned, held out his arms, and she, with a cry which I could distinctly hear, flung herself upon his bosom.

I confess I breathed a sigh of intense relief at the termination of the domestic pantomime, and ever since I have been racking my brain for a solution of the mystery.

During the day, everything went on as usual. I saw nothing of the lady, but had frequently seen the gentleman pass in and out with a repose of countenance one would little expect after witnessing the dreadful scene of passion. This explanation will be sufficient to give an insight into the singular conduct of the couple. It was evident there was some great mystery, not unmixed with guilt, and my woman's curiosity may be pardoned for undertaking the task of its unravelment.

Nothing, however, of any consequence occurred, and, although nearly a week passed, I was no nearer the end, until the sultry night I speak of showed me the windows open and the room lit up in its accustomed brilliancy.

While I looked with newly awakened curiosity, I saw the gentleman cross the room to the alcove, and disappear for a moment. But only for a moment. He almost instantly emerged with a vial of some liquid, walked to the center-table directly under the chandelier, poured a few drops into a glass, which glistened like molten rubies as he slowly counted them out, laid the vial upon the table, and seemed to listen, with his face half turned toward the alcove.

Evidently satisfied that all was right, he took a small powder of something from his breast-pocket, and emptied its contents into the glass. I could plainly see his face, as the light shone full upon it, which was almost livid. I saw him raise the goblet, look at it between the light, slowly turn it around in his hand, as if to dissolve the powder, again set it on the table, and with one hand press his forehead, while with the other he crushed the small piece of paper which had contained the powder.

Perhaps he stood thus ten seconds, though it seemed much longer to me, when he suddenly walked to the window and flung the particle of paper out, then took up the glass again and with a quick step disappeared within the alcove.

This time he did not come out so quickly, for it seemed a long time to me as I sat there, in the suffocating atmosphere of that summer night.

One by one the lights began to disappear in the neighboring houses. I had grown tired of my watching and began to doze in the chair by the window, while the gas jets in the room opposite resolved themselves into fantastic forms, first growing dim and shadowy, then blazing up into a miniature illumination, as the drowsy god took possession of my brain.

I must have been sleeping, as I awoke with a sudden start. For a minute I could not collect my thoughts, and when I did so my first glance was at the opposite windows

All was dark. Every light in the place was out. "It must be very late," thought I, and walking to my dressing-room I looked at the time. Two o'clock! Good heavens! was it possible I had been sleeping by the window so long! Forgetting all about my opposite neighbors, I proceeded to disrobe myself for bed.

I was just in the act of unfastening my dress, when I heard a scream! not an ordinary scream! but one which is seldom heard, and when heard curdles the blood in the veins. A woman's scream—a horrible sound, that rings through the brain with a nameless dread of something. A vague, undefined terror seized me, and not well knowing what I did, I sprang to the front window, as the sound came from that direction.

One look at the house of my opposite neighbors was enough. Again the light streamed from the windows and two figures came between the looking-glass and the light. In a moment I recognized the white robe of the lady, which clung to her form like a shroud. Her long black hair fell in twining masses to her knees, and she was struggling in the arms of the gentleman I had seen in the early part of the night. In the stillness of the sultry air I could plainly hear the voices.

"Minnie, be silent, I say," came in suppressed tones from the man. But the woman was evidently too much excited to heed him.

"Oh, George, bring help to me: I am dying! Help!" Again the scream, more prolonged, more terrible than before!

By this time there was a sound of footsteps in the street, the noise of raising windows in the different houses, and the quick clatter of opening blinds.

All during the short interval, shorter than it takes me to write it, my eyes never left the opposite house. The couple continued to struggle. Now close to the window, now far in the room. At last the woman's screams grew faint, and ceased altogether. The man held her passively in his arms and carried her into the alcove. As his figure passed from my sight, a policeman ran up the stoop and rang the bell. It seemed an endless period of time until it was answered, and I may be pardoned for the confession when I say that my heart was beating so loudly that I could hear it. There was no light in the hall when the door was opened, and I could only see the shadow of some one, though I could hear the words spoken quite plainly:

"What is the matter here?"

SQUIRE STEARNS AND PARSON STEARNS.—Prof. Chadwick gives, in the Suncook Valley Times, a very interesting biographical sketch (with genealogy) of John Stearns, Esq., an early settler in Pittsfield, and Rev. Josiah Stearns, his father, from which we made some extract.

John Stearns and wife moved from Pittsfield to Deerfield in March 1801, after the birth of Joshua, their 10th child. His next son, William, now Col. Wm. Stearns of Portsmouth, N. H., and two younger children, were born in Deerfield.

John Stearns, or "Esquire Stearns" as he was always called in Deerfield, died Jan. 23, 1843, at the advanced age of 81 years. His wife died two years later, at the age of 80. Theirs was an early marriage, when he was 21 and she 18. Losing his own mother when he was four and a half years old; entering the Revolutionary army when he was 16; a boy of moderate size, marching with New Hampshire veterans, from near the Piscataqua to the Hudson; enduring all the perils and hardships of a frontier campaign in the darkest period of the war: a minister's tender son, evincing the patriotism that burned in the bosom of a minister and child, in those days that tried men's souls; coming home from camp, and pitching his tent so early in the wilderness of N. H.; moving from Pittsfield to Deerfield when he was 39 and his brave wife less than 36, with nine young children from 16 years down to 3 months, with the rapid addition of 3 more to be reared up to manhood in the paths of virtue, religion and usefulness; living together to see 78 children of the next generation and many of the fourth; going with their household for miles to meeting every Sabbath day as punctually as the Sabbath came, and always in good season; becoming a teacher of the oldest Bible class in the Sabbath school long after "the grinders had ceased because they were few, and they that look out of the windows" had become dim—surely that noble pair did not eat the bread of idleness, nor sail to the skies on flowery beds of ease.

When Temperance societies were first organized, the advocates of reform found this Revolutionary veteran ready to attend the temperance meetings, and to listen to new truths.

His habits had been to drink daily a little spirit at his house, with sugar added. He had supposed this to be as needful as his daily food. He made no opposition to others "signing the pledge," but for himself he resolved to try the new doctrine of total abstinence before signing.

For a whole year he abstained in silence, to see if it would do for an old man like him. He felt quite as well as ever, signed the pledge, and thus set a noble example to all others, the old and the young.

A pleasant anecdote of his father, the minister, shall conclude this sketch.

In those early days, before 1776, there were a few slaves in New Hampshire; Rev. Josiah Stearns of Epping, and like some other ministers, enjoyed the luxury of a single slave. This studious man of God was sometimes absent-minded, and apt to leave the little gate open so that the geese came into the front yard. The parson was troubled by this intrusion of the birds which had once saved the liberties of Rome. But who leaves the gate open? says the old gentleman. The use of the rod was in vogue in those days, and children were taught to mind. As the annoyance of the gate and the geese continued, the good parson decreed that whoever left the gate open should be flogged; and to make all sure; the black man must keep watch, and see who did it.

Returning from his calls, the parson finds the geese in possession of the green, and the gate is open! Calling Sambo, he inquires with spirit—"Who left this gate open?"

"Don't like to tell, massa."

"You must tell! Who left it open?"

"Don't want to tell, massa," with emphasis.

"But you must tell? Who did it?"

"Well, if I must tell, 'Twas Massa left the gate open hisself!"

"Then put the whip right on me!" said the parson. Sambo does it lightly. "Lay it on."

It had not been discovered then, that a white man was too sacred to be convicted, and punished too, by a colored witness.

Josh Billings says there are few sights more sublime and pathetic than to see a poor but virtuous young man, full of Christian fortitude, struggling to grow a mustache.

—"Well Susie, how do you like your school?" "O, ever so much, papa." "That's right, Susie. And now tell me what you have learned to-day?" "Well papa, I've learned the names of all the little boys."

—An exchange says: "Persons who use kerosene lamps will be glad to learn that if the wicks are soaked in strong vinegar for twenty-four hours, and thoroughly dried before being used, all smoke will be avoided, the wicks will last twice as long, and increased brilliancy will be obtained.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well-enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendency to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, cannot do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o23tw

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, DEC. 3, 1869.

Gullings and Sayings.

Mississippi has chosen Gen. Alcorn, Republican, Governor over Judge Dent.

Mary Harris, who shot Adoniram J. Burroughs, a clerk in the Treasury Department, has been discharged from the Insane Asylum, cured, and is now employed in the Philadelphia Post Office.

Congress meets on Monday.

The statement of the public debt shows a reduction in the amount of the debt of $7,571,404.

The income tax will probably be reduced to three per cent.

A rising is threatened in Ireland and the English cabinet is discussing measures for its suppression.

Russia proposes to compete with the United States in the establishment of cotton fields.

The Japanese Prince has left San Francisco for New York.

The Mexican government has granted permission to build a railroad across Mexico.

Spurgeon has the small pox.

Roosters furnish Portland's chief topic of dispute.

D. Horace Holman, of Lewiston, Me., has been appointed Justice of the Peace for Androscoggin county.

Maj. Joseph H. Chadwick is the Republican nominee, and Alderman Geo. B. Baldwin is the Democratic nominee, for Mayor of Boston.

Catarrh is chronic in Chicago.

Joe Jefferson has bought a residence in Chicago.

Eugenie has been Egyptseying, says a New York paper.

Mrs. W. C. Lyman lectured in New York, recently, on "Breathing and eating." She said a cold is due to too much oxygen in the blood.

It is reported that Gen. Bedel will decline a Gubernatorial renomination by the Democrats.

A. D. Richardson, who was shot in New York by McFarland, died Thursday morning.

The city of Boston has purchased the ferry to East Boston for $275,000, the former owners to run it until April 1, 1870.

The Republican majority in Mississippi is estimated at 10,000.

Jack Hamilton is elected Governor of Texas by 20,000 majority. His opponent, Gen. Davis, was a Republican.

DUTIES ON TEA AND COFFEE.—A special despatch from Washington says: "The Ways and Means Committee have agreed to reduce the tariff twenty millions. Coffee will be cut down to 4 cents and tea to a lower sum than at present. They are also enlarging the free list.

This is a much more reasonable and sensible operation, than taking off the Income Tax so as to relieve those distressed persons who enjoy an income of over $1000 per annum. The duty on tea and coffee bears on all who use these articles—and who is there that does not use them. Poor men, aye, and poor women also, almost all help pay this duty.

PASSES ON RAILROADS.—It is stated that a meeting of Railroad officers will soon be held in Boston for the purpose of considering the question of "passes" over the various lines — also that of collecting fares in the cars. The Boston Journal thinks that if the price of fares paid in cars be increased in order to cause travellers to buy tickets at the Stations, the result will be beneficial. We never could see why a person should enter a car more than a concert hall, until he has a ticket—but the experiment has been tried, (on the Concord and other Roads,) and was not popular. The fact is, it is not "popular" in this country, to enforce any law or regulation.

INFALLIBILITY.—Ninety Popes have died of violence of armed men, of drink, or of venereal diseases. Two popes were assassinated by Empresses, their mistresses. And many of the Ecumenical Councils have been as disorderly and riotous as modern political Conventions.

☞ The Boston Transcript well says that the best way to relieve disabled and poor soldiers is to supply the Posts of the G. A. R. with funds. Their committees inquire into cases, and help deserving comrades according to the means at their disposal.

☞ The James Steam Mill at Newburyport is to be sold, and the proceeds after paying debts, to be divided among the stockholders.

☞ It is now said that the stone giant near Syracuse was modelled from the wax mask taken from the face of Napoleon's body when exhibited in Paris.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

SAN FRANCISCO BAY VIEWS.

BY FRANK WENDELL.

From Telegraph Hill we look out over the Bay, and in the near vista, we see on the other side the town of Oakland; and a little further to the south, on a neck of land, is seen the town of Alameda, the terminal of the rail to Haywards. The smooth, unruffled surface of the bay spreads out its tranquil sheet some forty or fifty miles in a southerly direction, until lost in the low margin of the Coast Range.

The Alameda and Oakland ferry boats are seen in the distance, furrowing the placid waters, as they speed their way over. The Oakland boat is now passing Goat Island, whose bare, rocky sides rise abruptly from the water; high up on its sloping sides the green grass is now growing. The late rains have tipped the tender blades with emerald, and Dame Nature now smiles on this otherwise barren portion of the island. It is about two miles from the city, and yet it seems, from its prominence, to be only half that distance. A mile and a half beyond the eastern end of the island the ferry boat finds its slip, at the end of the long bridge that makes out over the flats. Steam cars here take the passengers and carry them up into town.

Oakland is built on a low strip of land covered with a heavy alluvial deposit, up through which oaks have grown for the last century, and which now forms one of the most beautiful sites for a city. Such is its nativity, and to add to this as embellishment, the humble cottager has adorned its banks with his cot, with here and there an exception. But as we leave the point the foliage becomes more dense, and the houses have a more attractive appearance; and finally we reach patches of cultivated garden, and then the more palatial residences appear; until in the midst of the most luxuriant growth of oaks, the Oaklanders have clustered by thousands, and vieing with each other, they have built up a magnificent little city, sending up here and there a cluster of turrets, while some spring a shaft, sending up a spire thro' the opening drapery of its groves.

It is laid out at right angles, and the streets are wide and airy, giving a home look at first sight. In the rising ground back of the city is seen Brooklyn Heights; and high above them is seen the Contra Costa Range. Still we look over them, and in the dim distance we see the Camel Humps of the Monte Diable, some forty miles distant; and here along we lose the Brooklyn Hills in the distance at San Leandro.

San Antonio is a little village adjoining Oakland, and is on a plateau of rising ground. A creek of the same name runs into the bay, and in the cove that makes in here is the Marine Hospital for the delapidated old hulks of steamers which have seen better days, and now nestle here in these quiet waters. Beyond, to the south, the town of Alameda is seen, amidst its groves of oak, —and it is fitly named in calling it Alameda. Houses in white, green, buff drab and white, and all so happily blended that the picture is harmonious. The cars to Haywards and way stations start up with a fitful gusto, and go off at a rapid pace. A few convulsive throes, and they slow at the Schutzen Park; a little further, and a pause shows you the large Encinal Park, where an excursion party alight to have a picnic and dance, or a highland swing among the branches.

Telegraph Hill furnishes us with a bird's-eye view of our harbor, which looks less like a maritime port than ever before. Few ships are lying at the wharves, and only three or four English ships in the bay. The latter have brought cargoes of coal, and as there is abundance of wheat, they will have home freight. Just below is seen the little tug-boat Neptune, pulling the English barque Enid down the bay to a wharf where piles of wheat are waiting shipment. Other tugs are seen towing ships out to the heads. A loud report of a gun announces the arrival of a steamer, and as the smoke clears away we recognize the Great Republic, the Pacific Mail Steamer from China and Japan.

It is near 4 P. M., and we now see the Sacramento boat, as well as that for Stockton. The Stockton boat, the Julia, takes the lead; while the Yosemite, a much larger boat, falls into line and comes along with its heavy load of freight. And on they go up the Bay, and we watch them until they pass Red Rock and are lost to sight.

On Wednesday, at Dover, a charitable fair in aid of disabled soldier's widows and orphans, was inaugurated by Sawyer Post, G. A. R. It is one of the most successful and brilliant affairs of the kind ever held in New Hampshire, and will no doubt be highly remunerative.

☞ A despatch from New York, Tuesday evening, reported Mr. A. D. Richardson in a precarious condition. He was married that evening to the late Mrs. McFarland by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher assisted by Rev. O. B. Frothingham. Horace Greeley and other newspaper men were at the sad wedding. McFarland, the assassin and ex-husband, in the jail, when he heard the news, said it was hard.

—A mother was reading to her child, a boy of seven, about another boy whose father had lately died, leaving the family destitute, whereupon the boy went to work for himself, and managed to support them all.

"Now, my little man," said mother, after she had finished the story, "if papa should be taken away, wouldn't you like to help your poor mother and your little sisters?"

"Why ma—what for? Ain't we got a good house to live in?"

"O yes, my child; but we couldn't eat the house, you know."

"Well—ain't we got flour and sugar, and other thing in the store-room?"

"Certainly, my dear; but they wouldn't last long—and what then?"

"Well—aint there enough to last, till you could get another husband?"

Mamma dried up—just as the boy had slopped over.

—The editor of the Hartford Times says Kate Fisher, the equestrian actress, wears false calves, and she says he shall prove it or pay damages.

The strike among the factory employees still continues.

Rochester voted again, on the 29th, on the question of taking stock in the Concord and Rochester Railroad. The vote stood 354 yeas to 223 nays, and a two-thirds vote being required, the proposition failed.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Company, of Dover, having reduced the pay of its operatives some 12 per cent., a large number of them have struck. The mill gates were closed on Monday, and all work suspended. Most of the girls collected at Exchange Hall, where they have a sort of headquarters, hung out a flag, and listened to speeches from persons who sympathize with them. Agent Wallingford attempted to address them on Saturday afternoon, but their clamor was such that he could not be heard.

The workmen in Abbott & Downing's carriage factory, in Concord, have had their hours of labor reduced from ten to eight, and their pay cut down in the same proportion.

Charles W. Peasley, Secretary of the Hampstead Working Men's Reform Club, was in Concord on Tuesday, to see about the establishment of a similar association in that city. The Council of the Massachusetts Labor Reform Association has appointed Charles McLean, Stillman B. Pratt, E. M. Chamberlin and S. P. Cummings, of Boston, a committee to assist in the formation of workingmen's clups in this State.

CONSUMPTION.

The Three Remedies, "SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP," for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and every form of Consumption. The peculiar action of this medicine ripens the ulcer in the lungs, promotes the discharge of the corrupt matter by expectoration, purifies the blood, and thus cures Consumption, when every other remedy fails.

"SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC," for the cure of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and all diseases arising from debility. This tonic invigorates the digestive organs, supplies the place of the gastric juice when that is deficient, and thus enables the patient to digest the most nutritious food. It is a sovereign remedy for all cases of indigestion.

"SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS," one of the most valuable medicines ever discovered, being a vegetable substitute for calomel, and having all the useful properties ascribed to that mineral, without producing any of its injurious effects.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of Pulmonic Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter, discharges it, and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, remove all obstructions therefrom, give the organ an healthy tone, and cure Liver Complaint, which is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption. The Seaweed Tonic invigorates the powers of the stomach, and by strengthening the digestion, and bringing it to a normal and healthy condition improves the quality of the blood, by which means the formation of ulcers or tubercles in the lungs becomes impossible. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of Consumption, if the remedies are used in order, and the use of them is persevered in sufficiently to bring the case to a favorable termination.

Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing a full treatise on the various forms of disease, his mode of treatment, and general directions how to use his medicines, can be had gratis or sent by mail by addressing his Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-Weed Tonic, each, $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen; Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per Box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. d3dlm.

In Remote Settlements of United Value.

Food makes blood; blood makes the body. If the blood be pure, the body is healthy. So if we are not in health, we know some impurities are in the blood, which must be removed, and the sooner the better.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you can't go to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full Directions are with each box.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Notes for December, addressed to the Feeble and Debilitated.

This is a trying season for invalids, indeed for all who are not blessed with robust constitutions and iron frames.

Cold has come upon us suddenly, sealing up the open pores, and sealing in as it were, any seeds of disease that may have been lurking in the system, but which remained undeveloped so long as the waste matter of the body and all acid and unwholesome humors were freely discharged by evaporation from the surface and through the bowels.

A tonic, aperient and alterative medicine is now needed to invigorate the system, and depressed by low temperature; to stimulate and purify the secretions, and to fit the body to endure, without undue violence, pain or danger, the sudden climatic change which ushers in the Winter.

The only preparation which will fully meet this almost universal need, and will thoroughly and safely perform the important work, is the leading tonic and alterative of the age, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This popular specific improves the appetite, invigorates the digestive organs, regulates the flow of bile, enriches the blood, calms the nerves, relieves constipation, promotes superficial circulation and evaporation, and being composed solely of wholesome vegetable elements, with a pure stimulant as their diffuse vehicle, may be taken by the weakest without fear. The flavor is agreeable, for although the BITTERS are a potent medicine, they contain no nauseating element.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It combines two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in the present form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excipient is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the bitter and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is granted that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Wholesale agent, John F. HENRY, No. 8 College Place, New York City.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Sprains, Dysentery, has astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sales and ever increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its palliative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in patent medicines, try it once, it costs but 25 cents to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. ol

offered under the sanction of Professor Chilton's guarantee that it contains "nothing deleterious." CRISTADORO'S HAIR RESTORATIVE, as a dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. Try it. lmd&wo4

The Artists engaged for this concert (which is one of the series of M'lle Alide Topp's farewell Concerts) are of the highest order, and the opportunity offered the people of Portsmouth to hear such talent as is rarely heard inside of our largest cities should be appreciated.

DR. L. CONGDON,

THE NARRAGANSETT

INDIAN PHYSICIAN!

Has taken Rooms

At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,

Where he will remain

Until December 28th.

He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the Most Remarkable Cures Ever Known! and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung diseases, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, unless by their request. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and not let modesty fall you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

Also DR. CONGDON'S

☞ Mr. T. J. Whittem, formerly of the Rockingham Messenger, American Ballot and other newspapers, is now a Writer on the Portsmouth Navy Yard. He is a good writer too, take the word in any sense.

☞ The Concert this evening, we should say must prove attractive and acceptable. There is a variety in the programme to suit all tastes, from the plain English ballad or part song, to the finished or bravura selection from Italian opera. One would suppose the public would rejoice to hear an entertainment of this kind occasionally,—and we hope the lady beneficiary will be greeted with a good house.

☞ Mr. and Mrs. Howard Paul's Concert on Wednesday evening was well received by a large audience; and the announcement that these favorites will appear here again in a few weeks, ere they return to England, was applauded, as well as their performances,—the most striking and astonishing of which was Mrs. Paul's assumption of the tenor character of Sims Reeves of London. Many of the audience did not dream of its being the lady, notwithstanding the announcement of the programme and of her husband. She does Brignoli equally well.

FISH.—Portsmouth was formerly famous as a fish market, but of late, fish has been the scarcest thing in the market—for weeks; hardly a fresh fish is to be had. This is owing to several causes; the weather has been bad, the summer fleet of small craft have hauled off, and the larger craft have been waiting for herring bait from Eastport, and the whole business is of course very uncertain and very severe work. Fishermen earn all they make, even at present prices; and we wish they could find a silver coin in their catch occasionally. Many a poor fellow spends hours or even days in darkness and cold, and hauls in few or no fish. Don't grudge them a few pence or shillings.

CITY COUNCIL.—In the Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, the Mayor and Aldermen Cotton, Clark, Slater, Pender, Nowell and Pendexter were present, Ald. Spinney and Miller, absent.

The subject of putting a full size pipe into the reservoir on Market Square was referred to the Committee on Streets with power to act.

The subject of a side-walk at the Cabbot Street School House was referred to the same Committee,

In Convention with the Common Council the votes for Mayor were read, and Joseph B. Adams was declared elected Mayor for the ensuing year. Ald. Nowell, and Councilmen Marvin and Dixon were appointed a Committee to inform Mr. Adams of his election.

The Aldermen having resumed, the bills of S. W. Penhallow and Miss Haven for rent of buildings vacated byreason of small pox were laid on the table. The bills were for rent, loss of tenants and "other damages."

A bill presented by Dr. John W. Parsons for attendance on small pox cases was laid on the table.

A complaint was received from the Agent of the Gas Company stating that some of the street lights have been lighted as early as 4.15, P. M., which is not in accordance with the agreement.

Voted to rescind all votes heretofore passed relative to widening Fleet St., and that said Street be widened four feet and six inches on the eastern side at Congress Street, and five inches wider at Hanover Street, and that land damages be awarded as follows;

FIRE broke out in the store of Alton Brothers on Islington Street, about half past one o'clock, Friday morning, and before any help could be procured, the building and contents were enveloped in flames. Mr. Harry Alton, who has usually slept in the building, reports that he had been away during the night; that on unlocking the store door to enter, a dense volume of smoke poured out and the room seemed filled with fire, instantly.

He succeeded in breaking a window and obtaining his account book. None of his clothing or stock was saved, the the building and contents burning rapidly. The weather was very cold, and No, 5 was the only engine which arrived before the building fell, and then too late to be of any service. The wind blew from the north, and as there were no adjacent buildings the fire was kept within its original limits. The building was owned by Mr. Clinton Jewell, and was probably insured. Loss between $2500 and $3000. The Alton Brothers have an insurance of $1200 on their stock in the Phenix Co.—Mr. DeRochement's agency, which will cover their loss. The fire is said to have taken from the store, as the store was closed before 11 o'clock, Thursday night.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

The Mystery in Bleecker Street.

"I was not aware that you had any right to inquire as to the everyday occurrences of a private house." In this voice I recognized the man whom I had a moment before seen disappear in the alcove.

"I am but doing my duty, Sir. When anything unusual occurs in a private house—we have the right to inquire. I heard a lady's voice several times before to night, and it's my duty to see that there is nothing wrong in this."

"You deserve credit for the manner you fulfill your duty, but I fear that you will be disappointed in your calculations as to a discovery of anything sensational here. My wife has been ill for some time—dangerously ill, and to-night she is delirious. Is there anything in that fact which calls for your assistance?" There was a sarcastic ring in the voice, but the good-natured officer did not seem to perceive it. Or, if he did, preferred not to notice it.

"I beg your pardon, sir; I presume it's all right," and with the apology he walked away.

The man stood at the door gazing after him—then suddenly looked across the street at the window, where I, half leaning out, was watching him. I didn't know what impulse made him cross the street, but he did, walking straight to the window, and looking up at me said:

"Madame! pardon me for troubling you. You evidently are acquainted with the unpleasant occurrence of to-night. May I request that you come over and render some assistance to my wife?"

What could I do? I am not courageous at the best of times, and I confess that there was a strange dread of something—I knew not what. I suppose I hesitated so long in answering that he expected a refusal.

"Indeed, Madame, you will confer a great favor upon strangers by coming. She really needs some assistance from one of her own sex, and we have no acquaintances in the city."

"Wait one moment, sir, and I will be down."

Here then, was a chance to satisfy all my woman curiosity. I entered my dressing room, turned down my light, and flinging a light shawl about my shoulders, hurried down stairs. He was waiting for me.

Without a word I followed him into the opposite house. Up the long, dark flight of steps to the second floor. Through the brilliantly lighted room to the alcove.

She lay on the bed—her jetty wealth of hair in coiling, trailing tendrils—covering the pillow and the white robe—resting upon the floor. A deathly white face that was beautiful in its marble purity. The dark eyes were closed, but the lids were so white and transparent that the eye beneath was defined in shadow. The lashes, black as ink, lay like a fringe upon her cheek. But the expression of the countenance; the utter misery—the mortal agony written in the pallid, beautiful face, God keep me from such a sight seeing!

The voice of the man at my side aroused me from my contemplation.

"This is my wife—Mrs. Randolph—my name is George Randolph; as I said before, we are strangers here."

I turned my eyes from the face on the bed and looked at him.

The first mental question was:

"Why did I ever think this man handsome?" The features were good and at the distance of across the street were softened, but now close beside him there was a harsh, cruel look about the lips, a cold glitter in the eyes, and altogether a bad, reckless expression of person. He smiled as he noted my keen glance, and displayed the whitest of teeth.

"I hope you are not afraid to remain."

"Oh, no." I answered, "but what can I do? what is the matter with her?"

"She has been ill for some time—quick consumption. She has been much worse for the past week, and to-night I think will bring a change."

"Have you had a physician for her?"

"No. She did not desire one."

This sounded rather strange and added to the mystery in my mind.

"Is there no person in the house but your wife and yourself?"

"No, we rent the house furnished, and our servant left yesterday. But pardon me. If you have a family which requires your presence, I will not ask you to remain. I see that you are an elderly lady, and I would prefer some one like you, but if you cannot remain I must manage with Minnie alone."

"I did not speak from that cause, sir. I have no claims upon you. I am a widow and have had daughters of my own. I willingly offer myself to assist your wife, if I can be of service."

"I thank you." He placed a chair beside the alcove for me, and I could do nothing but passively occupy it. I turned my attention again to the figure on the bed. She seemed to be breathing quietly, but the look of agony was still the same.

I must have been sitting there over an hour, when I noticed her large eyes slowly open and fix themselves upon me. I leaned forward and looked at her. Her lips moved only. I bent lower. Only one word came: "Mother!" and making an effort, she tried to reach out her arms to me.

Mr. Randolph came softly to my side, and spoke:

"Minnie, are you better?"

She shook her head, again made the effort to reach out her arms, and with the effort a gray shadow fell upon her face. The light died out of the eyes, and with a low moan the waxen lids closed forever!

There was no passionate grief in the long-drawn sigh of the husband. It sounded to me more like relief, and the first words spoken by him were:

"Well, she has gone. How long does it take for a body to cool?"

I looked at him in horror! the tears dimming my eyes as I thought of the young life gone out of existence—so lonely, so forlorn—were almost frozen back by such a question.

"It is necessary for me to be in Philadelphia to-morrow. I must have the body removed as soon as possible! I believe there is some foolish prejudice against putting a body in the coffin while warm, but I have no time to waste with nonsense. I suppose you can assist me in placing it there?"

Was this a man or a fiend? All sense of decency was outraged in the beastly expression of sentiment; and with every feeling of indignation aroused, I asked him if he supposed me capable of countenance any such proceeding.

"Surely," said I, "you can not put aside the body of the woman who has once been your wife as you would the carcass of a brute?"

He smiled, and stepping to my side, he caught me by the arm, hissing in my ear:

"To-morrow—do not trifle with me—she has known what it is to trifle with my will—do as I desire, or two bodies will have to be disposed of instead of one!"

"Villain! you poisoned her then, as I supposed!"

"Yes, and there is enough left for you!"

What could I do? I was a weak woman. In that house—all alone with the human fiend and the dead. I could only comply.

Walking to the side of the looking-glass, which I described as occupying the end of the room, he touched the frame. Slowly it moved, until it opened like a door, showing a dark closet at its back. For a moment he disappeared in the darkness, then came forth, carrying—O my God! what? A coffin!

I braced myself against the side of the alcove, as I watched the horrid thing, placed upon two chairs directly in front of me. Then I seemed sinking down—down. I thought myself rapidly fainting. But as my eyes were closing, they rested upon the silver plate of the coffin, which bore—plainly written in its face—the inscription: "Minnie Randolph, aged 19."

Down, down, I seemed to sink, until I lost all power over myself, and—struck my head against the window sill, with terrible force! The pain of the concussion soon brought consciousness, and I awoke to the realization of knowing that I had fallen asleep at the window and dreamed the whole matter. I could scarcely realize that it was a dream, and, perhaps, woman-like, I was a little disappointed in being cheated of my ideal sensation!

Of course, after rubbing my head and trying to ease my pain, my first glance was across the street. Everything was as quiet as possible. There was a brilliant light in the room, but there sat my opposite neighbors laughing and chatting as lovingly and affectionately as usual. I rubbed my eyes over and over again—but that was no dream. Not a light was out in the street. On going to my dressing-room, I saw it was scarcely ten o'clock, of a summer's night and that I had really been asleep only about twenty minutes! The next day I amused my landlady by detailing my dream, when she explained the foundation for my brain's vagaries, by informing me that the young couple who occupied the "second floor front" were members of the French Theater and often rehearsed new pieces at their own home. So much for the Mystery in Bleecker street.

At Concord, Dec. 1, William F. O'Neill of Dover was examined before United States Commissioner Fowler, on the charge of making and procuring false affidavits for the purpose of obtaining a pension for Mrs. Hannah Smith of Ossipee, and was held in the sum of $1000 for his appearance at the next term of the United States District Court.

Alpheus Benning Crosby, professor of surgery in the Dartmouth medical college, has been appointed to a professorship in a Western medical college.

It is proposed to publish an account of the centennial celebration of Dartmouth College, with the addresses delivered on that occasion, provided a sufficient number of subscribers can be obtained to defray the expenses.

As Mr. Isaiah S. Wiggin, of Tuftonborough, in returning from church, approached his house, he alighted from his carriage for the purpose of opening a gate, when his horse taking fright, ran across his field. In the carriage were a son of Mr. Wiggin, Mrs. John Thomas of Tuftonborough and Mrs. Abigail Wiggin of Saco, Me., aged 78 years. The lad escaped unhurt by leaping from the carriage. The ladies were thrown out, Mrs. Thomas being considerably bruised, and Mrs. Wiggin being, as is supposed, fatally injured. One leg was broken, and she has remained unconscious since.

In Bristol, a man named Blackstone, about 60 years of age, was found dead on a hill abont a mill and a half from the village, under circumstances which showed that he had broken his neck by a fall from his carriage. Blackstone was a hard drinker, and was probably intoxicated at the time of the accident. He was a resident of Groton, where he leaves a family.

An addition of 40 feet is being made to the Pavilion Hotel at Wolfeborough. Work has been discontinued for the winter. The dining-room is enlarged.

Mr. Sanderson of Stratham is putting up a building on the corner of Main and Water streets, Newmarket. It is 48 by 35 ft., and will be used for stores. I. S. and E. Bennett will put up two tenements this winter on Austin's Court.

Edwin Bennett of Newmarket set a graft in an apple tree last spring, which has grown 53 feet 10 inches above the old stock.

BRAHMAS VS. COMMON HENS.—I do not agree with Verd Mont in his opinion of Brahmas. I have kept them for three years, and they beat any other breed that I keep. I keep seven breeds besides the Brahmas, viz; White and Brown Leghorns, Black Spanish, White and Grey Dorkings, Buff and White Cochins. Verd Mont says they are the same as the Shanghaes in every respect except color. Now I think they are not. Their combs are different; the Brahmas have pea combs, while the Shanghaes have single or rose combs. They are different in another respect: the Shanghaes often breed without feathered legs, but the Brahmas do not.

Brahmas are better layers than the common hen. They are hardier than either the common or European breeds. The number of eggs laid in 1868 by two hens was 504, an average of 42 eggs per month. They do not eat much more than the common fowl; I feed five hens and one cock three pints of corn per day, and they often do not eat it all. I find that the Brahmas will lay one and one-half times as many eggs as the same number of any of my other breeds. Mr. S. M. Saunders, in his Domestic Poultry, says: "The Brahma Pootras eat much less than the Cochins, and are amongst the best winter layers we have; they rank among the very prolific producers of eggs throughout the year; they seem to be as hardy as it is possible for fowls to be, are good sitters and mothers, and are good for the table."

These chickens sell for a large price. The prize trio at the New York Poultry Show, owned by Mr. James Cooper of Limerick, Ireland, were sold for $235. Mr. J. C. Thompson, in writing on the Brahmas, says: "My stock consisted of three old birds, ten September hatched pullets and one spring pullet. Finding that they were giving me an unusual number of eggs, especially in June, when I frequently got eight, nine, ten and eleven and sometimes twelve eggs a day, I was induced to keep an account for July and August, when I find they averaged six eggs per day, or two thousand eggs per year."

In a back number of the Country Gentleman I saw the inquiry, what kind of cross would Earl of Derby Game and Brahma make? I tried it, and it makes a very good one. They are of a red color, with a pea comb, large wattles and feathered legs.—POULTRY FANCIER, in Country Gent.

COLGATE & CO'S.
AROMATIC VEGETABLE SOAP,
COMBINED WITH GLYCERINE, IS RECOMMENDED FOR THE USE OF LADIES AND IN THE NURSERY. ap8ly
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operations; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21tw

A sour old-maid disliked Mark Twain's lecture and called its author a "coarse and disagreeable Buffalofer."

Twenty-five young married pairs formed a Benedict Club in Cincinnati.

An Indiana farmer keeps a pair of black snakes in his barn, and is never troubled with vermin.

A St. Louis woman asks to be divorced from her husband because he gets "tearing mad whenever his stockings are starched stiff."

U. S. Steamer Idaho of the Asiatic squadron encounter a fearful typhoon, Sept. 21st, and was barely saved from foundering.

Mrs. McFarland Richardson is lying sick at the Astor House, and the physicians say that her condition is very critical.

Steamer D. C. Haskin from New York for San Francisco foundered in the Gulf Stream, Nov. 17. Three persons were drowned and others missing. Some of the crew are at Bermuda.

CUBAN NEWS.—The Havana Prensa of 27th ult. states that the negroes and Chinese of seven large estates in Sagua La Grande had formed a plan to burn up these estates and then join the rebels. As soon as the authorities were apprised of this fact a strong column was sent to Governor Trillo Figuerya. Trillo arriving at the place where the rising had been projected, caused fifty of the leaders engaged to be shot, and then administered three hundred lashes to each one of the others offending.

Over seven million dollars worth of property has been burned thus far.

At a battle fought at San Jose, the Spaniards met with heavy losses.

☞ No clue has yet been obtained to the Boylston bank robbers. The sum taken will amount to $300,000, all of it being the deposits of private individuals. All the Boston banks have issued circulars ordering that valuables deposited in their vaults for safe keeping be taken away at once.

SHAM ENTERPRISE.—Among the most successful of the many plans for getting money without earning it, appear to be the lottery schemes and fortune-telling humbugs,—judging from the persistence with which the business is followed up, in spite of police and newspaper warnings. But a later swindle is, the sending to any person a letter, professing unbounded faith in the receiver's "honor" and mental penetration, and winding up with a proposal to send a certain amount of counterfeit money, so skillfully executed that detection is impossible under any circumstances,—to be sent on as soon as the counterfeiters receive a given quantity of U. S. currency.

A very badly lithographed letter has been handed to me, which is well calculated to swindle money out of a dishonest person of feeble intellect, but no one else. [The success of the swindle depends wholly on the latent dishonesty of the recipients of the letters,—with which this city has been pretty well flooded, boys—and even girls—of ten or twelve years having received them.] The letter sets forth that the counterfeits are absolutely perfect and defy detection,—in which case they would be worth as much as genuine U. S. notes, to the makers; but these valuable counterfeits will be sent to the person in whom the swindlers "confide," as soon as the latter receive an order,—accompanied by greenbacks!

The idea of big counterfeiters being of such "confiding" dispositions as to send letters to unknown persons, advertising their business so that the police could get hold of them, seems hardly more absurd than the supposition that so transparent an attempt at swindling should not be instantly seen through by every one. Yet, that the thieves make money from the foolish dishonesty of the public is certain, or they would not keep up the game. All the fools are not dead, nor all the dishonest people,—and the "confiding" scoundrels grow rich on the failings of both classes.

However, they won't make much out of me, (if I did lend a fellow $5 at the Piscataqua Fair in 1868, which he has forgotten to repay, and for which I shall probably have to explode him in the newspapers, yet,)—wish they could get a lot, if they would only go halves. I hope no one in Portsmouth will be silly enough to "confide" in them.

Madbury has no ministers, merchants, physicians or manufacturers.

The Keene Sentinel says, speaking of the town of Walpole,—"The Catholics have purchased the chapel lately occupied by the Episcopal society, which has become extinct, and will hold services once a month. Our correspondent regrets that while there are places enough where liquor may be obtained, there is no settled minister in the village, and no religious services have been held for some time. We feel quite sure, however, that the good people of this good old town will not long allow such a state of things to exist."

For the past twenty-five years Walpole people have talked about getting up a steam mill of some kind, and at last their hopes seem about to be realized, as Bates & Aldrich propose to put an 80-horse power engine into their shirt factory in place of the one they now use, and to put up a large building to get out chair stuff and to saw and plane lumber. They will also put in a steam grist mill.

On Friday last, Mr. William C. Putnam of Lancaster, while digging upon the excavation in the "Baker Hill," south side of Elm St., came across a happy family of snakes, nicely curled up for their winter nap. They numbered by count one hundred and thirty-five, and varied in length, from two to ten inches. They were of all varieties common to this region, and together, constituted an excellent capital in the snake business for these parts another year.—Republican.

Sneak thieves are plying their vocation in the vicinity of Wakefield. Five or six dwellings were recently entered in a single night, or the attempt foiled by interruption of the inmates. At the house of Eb'r Garvin they got a window up, remote from Mr. G.'s sleeping apartment, and were about entering, when accosted by Mr. G., with "What do you want here?" "None of your business," was the reply. Mr. G. close in the rear, exclaimed, "Give me my gun, I'll find out what he wants." At this hint the scamp skedaddled. Money was probably their aim, Mr. G. being a town official, in possession of quite an amount at the time.

☞ Daniel L. Dew and Joseph Hayes of Dover, were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hackett on Friday, for attempting to pass a false invoice of foreign imports at this port several weeks since, and were held in the sum of $2000.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTIONS.

The Republican State Central Committee, at a meeting held on Thursday last, fixed the time and place of the several Councillor, Senatorial and County Conventions throughout the State:

The State Convention is to be held at Phenix Hall, Concord on Friday Jan. 7th.

No. 1. Councillor Convention at New Market, on Tuesday Jan. 11th.

No. 1 Senatorial Convention, at South Newmarket, on Wednesday Jan. 12th.

Rockingham County Convention at Exeter, on Thursday, Jan. 13th.

FRESH FISH.—Two million pounds of fresh fish were brought to this port, and sent into the interior last winter. The arrangements made at New Castle and the Shoals are such as to promise quite as large a quantity the present season.

THE DEMOCRATS IN OUR STATE CAMPAIGN. — The Boston Journal thinks that the coming Democratic State Convention promises to be a very quiet affair. The renomination of General Bedel for Governor and of General Donohoe for Railroad Commissioner will be a unanimous thing. As a party by themselves the Democrats cannot do anything looking to success in the campaign. They can only hope that the Temperance and Labor Reform movement may carry the election of Governor to the Legislature, where the outside parties are expecting to have a few members, but not enough, as any reasonable person can foresee, to affect materially the Republican ascendency in the State. It would not be surprising if the troubles which have been kept smothered in the Democratic camp for the past year or more, should again show themselves in some form or other in the approaching canvass.

CRUELTY TO SEAMEN.—A Woburn correspondent, who states that he has been in the navy, avers that he "has seen a man kept up to the chain cable with irons on his hands behind him, and a gag in his mouth, for nine days, and having only fifteen minutes to each meal." The correspondent also states several other cases of cruelty to seamen.

—The Little Rock Journal says that "hundreds of colored men in Arkansas have made each one thousand dollars this year, and can do it any ordinary year with a good span of mules." while hundreds of able-bodied white men have been starving or begging in the large cities of the Atlantic coast.

CONSUMPTION.

The Three Remedies, "SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP," for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and every form of Consumption. The peculiar action of this medicine ripens the ulcer in the lungs, promotes the discharge of the corrupt matter by expectoration, purifies the blood, and thus cures Consumption, when every other remedy fails.

"SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC," for the cure of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and all diseases arising from debility. This tonic invigorates the digestive organs, supplies the place of the gastric juice when that is deficient, and then enables the patient to digest the most nutritious food. It is a sovereign remedy for all cases of indigestion.

"SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS," one of the most valuable medicines ever discovered, being a vegetable substitute for calomel, and having all the useful properties ascribed to that mineral, without producing any of its injurious effects.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of Pulmonic Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter, discharges it, and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, remove all obstructions therefrom, give the organ a healthy tone, and cure Liver Complaint, which is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption. The Seaweed Tonic invigorates the powers of the stomach, and by strengthening the digestion and bringing it to a normal and healthy condition improves the quality of the blood, by which means the formation of ulcers or tubercles in the lungs becomes impossible. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of Consumption, if the remedies are used in time, and the use of them is persevered in sufficiently to bring the case to a favorable termination.

Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing a full treatise on the various forms of disease, his mode of treatment, and general directions how to use his medicine, can be had gratis or sent by mail by addressing his Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-Weed Tonic, each, $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen; Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. d3d1m.

In Remote Settlements of United Value.

Food makes blood; blood makes the body. If the blood be pure, the body is healthy. So if we are not in health, we know some impurities are lurking about, which must be removed, and the sooner the better.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their medicine is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full Directions are with each box.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Notes for December, addressed to the Feeble and Debilitated.

This is a trying season for invalids, indeed for all who are not blessed with robust constitutions and iron frames.

Cold has come upon us suddenly, sealing up the open pores, and sealing in as it were, any seeds of disease that may have been lurking in the system, but which remained undeveloped so long as the warm matter of the body and all acid and unwholesome humors were freely discharged by evaporation from the surface and through the bowels.

A tonic, aperient and alterative medicine is now needed to invigorate the vital powers depressed by low temperature; to stimulate and purify the secretions, and to fit the body to endure, without more warning, pain or danger, the sudden climatic change which ushers in the Winter.

The only preparation which will fully meet this almost universal need, and will thoroughly and safely perform the important work, is the leading tonic and alterative of the age, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This popular specific improves the appetite, invigorates the digestive organs, regulates the flow of bile, enriches the blood, calms the nerves, relieves constipation, promotes superficial circulation and evaporation, and being composed solely of wholesome vegetable elements, with a pure stimulant as their diffuse vehicle, may be taken by the weakest without fear. The flavor is agreeable, for although the BITTERS are a potent medicine, they contain no nauseating element.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and there demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Gentlemen:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

Capt. FOSTER is a ship owner and builder, residing at Port Burwell, Canada.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but combining all the medicinal properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the fairer sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As a mild but efficacious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ Let the sufferer remember that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or drink a nauseous drug.

Wholesale agent, John F. Henry, No. 8 College Place, New York City.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and increasing yearly demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 19 Park Place, New York. o1

FRIGHTFUL DEVELOPMENTS!

At last the people have got the fact "through their hair," that hair dyes impregnated with acetate of lead and other metallic salts are

MURDEROUS PREPARATIONS.

When they see the metallic sediment at the bottom of the bottles, they know that the disgusting stuff is literally thickened with Poison. They ask therefore, for

Harmless Vegetable Dye,

and find it, pure and efficacious, in

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

offered under the sanction of Professor Chilton's guarantee that it contains "nothing deleterious." CRISTADORO'S HAIR RESTORATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. Try it. 1md&wo1

OF BOSTON, WILL GIVE A GRAND CONCERT,

AT THE TEMPLE,

On THURSDAY Evening, Dec. 9th.

The Artists engaged for this concert (which is one of the series of M'lle Alide Topp's farewell Concerts) are of the highest order, and the opportunity offered the people of Portsmouth to hear such talent as is rarely heard inside of our large cities should be appreciated.

Mr. M. ARBUCKLE, the great Cornet Soloist

Mr. J. A. HOWARD, a thorough accompanist.

No pains will be spared to make this Concert the greatest musical success of the season, and the Director hopes that the taste and good judgement of the people of Portsmouth will not allow the great Alide Topp to visit here for the first and only time she appears, (as she soon returns to Germany,) without a generous recognition. THE NARRAGANSETT

INDIAN PHYSICIAN!

Has taken Rooms

At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,

Where he will remain

He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the Most Remarkable Cures Ever Known! and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung diseases, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, unless by their request. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and not if not mutually fall you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

☞ Auctioneer Morse is to sell a schooner wreck and her load of Lumber at Marvin's Wharf, near Spring Market, this morning.

☞ The Republican papers all through New Hampshire and elsewhere, announced the result of our recent municipal election as "Portsmouth Redeemed."

☞ Members of the Mercantile Library Association can procure tickets for the Course of Lectures, at their Hall this evening. The first lectures is announced for Wednesday evening next.

☞ Miss Bernard's Concert on Friday evening was a nice entertainment, of which we shall have something more to say in our next. The attendance was fair, but not so large as the performance merited.

☞ The Annual Meeting of the Mechanic Fire Society was held at the Franklin House on Friday evening—for election of officers, quarterly supper, &c.

The late anniversary of the Federal Fire Society was observed at the Sagamore House—a good place for such observations.

☞ The Schooner Petrel, Runnel, Master, left this harbor Dec. 2d and struck on the Western Sister's ledge; stove her forefoot off, damaged her keel, and leaked so badly that her pumps could not free her. She was with great difficulty swept back to the lower harbor. She was bound from Boston for Tremont.

☞ Among the changes in business usual with the new year, Mr. E. A. Stevens goes to Boston to accept a good position in the Barstow Stove Company; resigning his store here to Messrs. Sweetser & Clark. Mr. Stevens' removal from the city will be universally regretted, as he is identified with all local enterprises and industries, and is always ready for any good word or work. His successors are capable and live young men; Mr. Clark has long been in Mr. Stevens' store, and Mr. Sweetser is well known as late of the firm of Goodwin & Sweetser. Personally also, we very much regret to lose friend Stevens from our business circle; while we wish the best success to both parties in their new positions.

MRS. MCFARLAND, on whose account her divorced husband killed Mr. A. D. Richardson, in New York, is thus noticed in the Keene Sentinel.

Mrs. McFarland is a native of Manchester, this State. For a time after her marriage she lived happily with her husband, but he became intemperate, and when in liquor was very cruel in the treatment of his family. Reduced to a state of poverty, his wife wrote for the stage and appeared as an actress to support herself and family. The conduct of her husband at last became unbearable, and she left him by the advice of her friends and went to live with her father. She is represented as a pure-minded and exemplary woman, who has the respect and sympathy of all her acquaintances. Mr. Richardson is known as a man of good character and of fine talent. Mrs. McFarland had recently obtained a divorce from her husband to be married to Mr. Richardson. On the part of McFarland the shooting appears a deliberate murder.

☞ It is well known that a very long string of very nice and costly split granite wall, has within a few years been laid on the road, at the March farm in Greenland. The stone was quarrfed at Raymond, and the fence built at an expense of many thousand dollars,—and at a recent sale of a portion of the land, the tomb field actually brought less than the marginal wall about it cost; and in fact we think less than the stone would sell for now, to be removed.

☞ Passengers, just through from San Francisco by railroad, report the mountains and plains both free of snow; but, after passing the Missouri river, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan and Canada were found as in mid winter. The Mississippi river is full of floating ice, and navigation is stopped. Sleighs were out in Chicago, last week, and the ground was covered with snow in Michigan, to the depth of one or two feet.

☞ The meeting of the Republican State Committee at Concord on Thursday evening, was largely attended, entirely harmonious, and the proceedings of interest to the party. Messrs. Harriman, Ela and Rollins spoke briefly, but well, and to the point.

☞ About 20 Divorce suits will be entered at the December Term of the S. J. Court at Dover.

BIG PEAR.—The Norfolk Virginian had a notice of a big pear taken from the orchard of G. F. B. Leighton Esq., weighing 24 1-2 oz., and asks who can beat it? Mr. Leighton formerly a citizen of Eliot, Me., is largely in the fruit culture, with hundreds of pear trees. He made us a friendly call this fall, and presented us with a pear weighing 15 oz, the growth of the tree three years from the setting; the fruit was the richest we ever tasted. JOSEPH FROST.

☞ The Riverside Echo, temperance paper of Maine, which was the organ of the Hichborn party, has recently withdrawn itself from that connexion and become a family temperance paper as formerly.—Thereupon Rev. Mr. Sawyer, the editor, resigns, and another political campaign paper is suggested.

☞ The Democratic State Convention will be held at Concord Jan. 5th, the Army Veteran Anniversary Jan. 6th, and the Republican State Convention Jan. 7th. The sixth annual State musical Festival will commence Jan. 11th. All at Concord.

MARRIAGES.

In this city, Dec. 2, by Rev. Mr. Kelsey, Mr. STEPHEN H. QUINN and Miss MARY LOUISE GERRY, both of Kittery, Me.

DEATHS.

In Concord, Dec. 1st, Mr. IRA HASELTON, of this city, aged 71 years.

☞ The Funeral will take place at his late residence on Islington St., this day (Saturday) at 12 o'clock.

In East Boston, Dec. 1st, Mrs. EDMUNDS, wife of Mr. Samuel Edmonds, aged about 55 years. Her remains were brought to this city for burial, and the Funeral was held at the Advent Chapel on Friday morning.

MALT EXTRACT—

Is a beverage particularly adapted to persons of weak and debilitated constitutions, and those suffering from dyspepsia, loss of appetite, general debility, etc. It takes the place of and is SUPERIOR to ale, porter, and spiritious liquors in all cases where nourishing beverages and tonics are needed. Eminent physicians of New York say: "We have used HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT in practice, and the result have been such as to fully justify the claims made for it; we feel certain that it is destined to supply a want long felt." eodlmdl

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

AN EXPERIENCE WITH WHITE-WEED. In 1863 I plowed four acres of land, which produced only a light crop of grass, and was too low to plant, intending to dress and seed down immediately. The fall was wet, and it was found impossible to get on the manure; succeeded in harrowing tolerably well; sowed a part of the seed that season, the remainder the spring following. The first year it was not worth mowing. The first day of June, 1865, noticing that the land looked very green, I went to it, you may judge my surprise and indignation to find the land occupied with white-weed.

We had never had it upon the farm before; when it blossomed, it was no wonder that the attention of the passers-by was attracted to it. I have seen many fields of white-weed, but none equal to this; it stood three feet in height. When in bloom, the whole surface was covered with flowers. It would have been difficult to have found a square yard upon the whole piece that had not a bunch of roots a foot across; oftener two or three such would be found. I resolved to be rid of it, although many told me that it could not be done.

We cut the crop in June while in bloom, before the seeds were ripened sufficiently to germinate; we got a fair crop, the majority of it was white-weed. We plowed the field as soon as we could after haying. The season favored us; the summer and fall were hot and dry, the succeeding winter cold—little snow with sudden changes. In the spring we harrowed the surface thoroughly, which was continued at intervals of a few days until August, digging up all that showed itself. When we seeded down, we gave the land a good dressing of leached ashes. This was followed by a good catch and a heavy crop of grass.

The next season our enemy appeared in force. I purchased refuse salt, applying a handful to the roots wherever it made its appearance; broke off the flowers that there might be no mistake when we had been over the entire field. This was continued so long as any blooms appeared. Three days after the application, nothing would be found except the place where it "recently was;" the stalks, roots and everything were burned over a space as large as a man's hand.

The second year but little could be seen, but which I treated in the same manner. This year a few heads appeared, which yielded to the salt. To all appearances we are rid of the pest, which yielded only to determined and continued labor. Without the aid of salt it would have been a more difficult task. (I would add that the Turk's Island salt was the best.)

Messrs. Editors, what is a suitable punishment for a scoundrel who will raise and put upon the market such seed as this, for it was obtained in a sack of red-top? For the sake of putting about a couple of dollars in this man's pocket, I am put to more than a $100 expense. The State prison is the only place for such fellows, where their labor would be applied to the benefit of the State.

Since then I have closely examined the seed before purchasing; 50c. or $1 on a bushel has not been any object when clean seed could be had. In this way the experience has not been wholly valueless. An old gentleman in this vicinity used to keep white-weed and other foul seeds, in a box; before purchasing he would look at it, and was able to detect any of the more common kinds. The clean appearance of his fields at the time of his death was conclusive evidence that the plan was a good one.—W. BROWN, in Country Gentleman.

FROM JOSH BILLINGS' FARMERS' ALMANAC.—When the roosters are observed before daylite in the morning soreing among the klouds, and uttering lamentashuns, then look out for some sudden weather and a severe pucker in the money market.

When you see 13 geese walking Injun file, and toe in, you can deliberately bet yure last surviving dollar on a hard winter and a grate fluctoousness during the next season in the price of cowhide boots.

If pigs squeal in the night, and grasshoppers come oph ov their roost and mingle in a free fight, you may hope for high winds in a few weeks, and also the typus fever in yure naborhood.

When spiders are seen climbing up the wall backwards, and frogs cough az they had the hickups, look out for rain. This iz also a sure sign that children will hav the measles light.

If bees hang around their hives, and mules are seen in a brown study, a storm of sum kind iz cooking, and yu will notis the market for herring is very cadaverous and chilly.

Jist before a heavy sno storm, ov 3 feet deep, chimbly swallows are unkommon skarse, and in the moral world there iz a grate lazyness in the agytashun of the temperance question.

When hens lays 2 eggs a day, and men cease to bragg and wimmin cease to cackle, then Injun summer draws ni, and the Millenium aint far oph.

Love iz sed to bee blind, but i kno lots of phellows in love who can see twice as mutch in their sweethearts as I kan.

It is very difikult for a poor man to be superiar tew his fortune, and more difficult for a rich one.

—The Boston Post in an article on the approaching municipal election says:—

It is complimentary to the city that so many distinguished men can be found who are thought qualified to fill its highest official positions.

Does the Post intend its readers to infer that "distinguished men" are generally not thought qualified for such positions?

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office Washington, under the act of 1837,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Examinations made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. EDDY as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in asserting to inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them the earliest and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

The Chronicle.

THE NEW YORK INDEPENDENT, of Dec. 2, is a triple sheet of 12 gigantic pages, containing two curious illustrations;—one entitled The Independent's Charge or the Modern Jericho;—and the other The Birth Day Banquet.

The Banquet picture represents contributors, editors and friends, drinking, (in bumpers of ice water,) cheering toasts to the prosperity and perpetuity of the Independent, and some of the likenesses are excellent.

The Charge, represents Truth, a sturdy human angel with strong wings, blowing a Ram's Horn Trumpet; before which a stone wall is falling, and corruption, deception, tyranny and bigotry are tumbled down; but the grog shop, legal decisions bought and sold, and Vanity Fair, still stand, and behind them are Tammany and the Ecumenical Council.

Back of the Angel are, the old Confederacy, Slavery, &c., with an old wounded serpent of the copperhead species, crawling amohg them.

The Independent has now reached its 21th Birth Day, and from small beginnings has become very prosperous, influential and independent in reality as well as in name.

On the first Thursday of each month in 1870, a triple sheet will be issued, illustrated by the best artists:—and many inducements are offered for new subscriptions.

BUSINESS STAGNATION. — Some of the English journals attribute the present great stagnation in business, to the operation of the trade's union principle—that the work to be done shall be equally divided among good and bad workmen; the clumsy artisan being put on a par with the skilful workman.

The effect of this regulation is, to destroy all enterprise and competition among workmen, and to depreciate the avearage quality of the work done by them. This opens the way for the continental artisan to beat the English, even in their own market. And thus the very end for which Trades Unions were instituted—to improve the condition of working men—is defeated by the means unwisely adopted to reach that end.—Traveller.

—In a recent letter John Stuart Mill says that the institutions of the United States are the most potent means that have yet existed of spreading the most important elements of civilization down to the poorest and most ignorant of the laboring masses. Consequently he does not fear evil from the immigration of Chinese to the slight extent which is likely to occur.

Col. Forney says that Gen. Butler "is classed among the foremost advocates of the tariff that saves us from competition with pauperized Europe."

BEST CABINET ORGANS,
AT LOWEST PRICES.
That the MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS are the best in the world is proved by the almost unanimous opinion of professional musicians, by the award to them of SEVENTY-FIVE GOLD and SILVER MEDALS or other highest premiums, at principal industrial competitions within a few years, including the MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION and by a sale very much greater than that of any similar instruments. This Company manufactures only FIRST-CLASS INSTRUMENTS, and will not make "cheap organs" at any price, or suffer an inferior instrument to bear their name. Having greatly increased their facilties for manufacture by the introduction of new machinery and otherwise, they are now making BETTER ORGANS than EVER BEFORE, at increased economy in cost, which, in accordance with their fixed policy of selling always at least renumerative profit, they are now offering at prices inferior work. FOUR OCTAVE ORGANS, Plain, Walnut Case, $50. FIVE OCTAVE ORGANS Double Reed, Solid Walnut Case, carved and panneled, with FIVE STOPS (VIOLA, DIAPASON, MELODIA, FLUTE, TREMULANT), $125. Other styles in proportion.
Circulars with full particulars, including accurate drawings of the different styles of organs, and much information which will be of service to every purchaser or non organ, will be sent free and postage paid, to any one desiring them.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. Such a reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o218w

ILLICIT STILLS SEIZED.—Thirteen stills with pumps and other paraphdrnalia together with thirty-four barrels of whiskey, were captured by the revenue officers and military in Brooklyn Friday. A large body of Irish people interested in the confiscated property followed the troops to the navy yard, where it was taken, frequently firing bricks and stones, by which three or four of the party were injured. One of the officials, a German, was badly cut in the head by an axe in the hands of one of the mob. Several arrests were made. Several thousand gallons of whiskey were let loose from the vats of the illicit stills, and the contraband manufacture of whiskey received the most serious blow ever given to it in that vicinity. The whole raid was under the management of General Pleasanton, now the revenue collector of that district. The troops returned to their quarters in the evening.

☞ Sounds natural—the auction bell o' nights.

A TEMPERANCE PARTY.—To be, or not to be, that is the question.

Rev. Dr. Barrows, of this State, has written and published, in Zion's Herald, an earnest and eloquent plea in favor of a State and National Temperance Political Party, in which he refers to the success of the Anti-Slavery party as an example and a precedent.

But (says Uncle Toby) those who reason thus would do well to consider that Slavery was sustained by statute law, and that no slave was or could be in favor of it,—while the drunkard, the tippler, and the most moderate drinker, are unanimously in favor of the liquor trade, and opposed to prohibition. If they are slaves to drink, they sold themselves; and thus the relation between them and the dealers is a widely different thing from that between chattel slaves and their masters,—and the political aspects of the two cases are also unlike for the same reason.

Dr. Barrows appears to be thoroughly in earnest, and confident of his duty. He says:—

Now the cry is, "What do you want of a national Temperance party?" even from the ever-ready and sprightly Cuyler. We say, "Let our national Republican party put Prohibition through her District and her Territories, and every Republican State will follow trippingly in her wake;" and so will the usually correct Cuyler, and with him, the National Temperance Advocate, that ought to be our leader, and not our opponent.

It has often been our lot to be in the minority on moral, religious, and political questions; and we are not able, always, to agree with the many or the great:—but then, when we ask what will be the probable effect of a political temperance movement, we should weigh well the reply of the old, active and well-tried friends of Temperance. Hear what Rev. T. L. Cuyler, in the N. Y. Independent, says to the friends of temperance and prohibition:—

If the coming years are to be spent in holding conventions and passing empty resolutions against grog shops without doing anything at home to convert people from grog drinking; if any more "third party" fooleries like that in Maine are to be enacted as the settled policy of the temperance reform, then I, for one, must be counted out of any national prohibitory party. Other people may build castles up in the air, if they admire such architecture. I prefer in my humble way to dig in the mud on the foundations of a permanent reform. I prefer to use pulpit, pew, purse and tongue, to convert people to total abstinence.

When they are thus converted, they are saved from drunkenness; they will oppose drinking customs; they will never give a penny to support the accursed liquor traffic; they will be likely to vote against the advocates of rum selling for office. When men's minds are enlightened, and their consciences are aroused to vote against legalizing dram shops, we shall have such legislation; and not before. For the present, let us dig deep in the public conscience and lay foundations. A mighty educational work is to be done, and at once.

This is sensible language, in view of the results of past efforts among temperance men in other States, and may well apply to New Hampshire.

☞ Professor Marsh, of Yale College, has been examining the stone giant of Syracuse, and says it is cut from a block of gypsum, similar to that found in Onondaga County and at other localities, of the saline formation in the State further west. The peculiar position of the body and limbs, which has occasioned so much remark, was apparently determined in a great measure by the form of the block of stone, which was water-worn on at least three of its side before the sculptor began his work.

☞ Secretary Cox has reversed a decision by the Commissioner of Pensions that where a pensioned widow died leaving more than one child, the children were entitled to receive eight dollars per month, and two dollars additional for each child, save one. The Secretary has decided that the children are entitled to receive eight dollars, and two dollars each. Those families of orphan children from which two dollars a month has been withheld will now be entitled to receive it.

☞ The Boston politicians are lively. Mayor Shutleff was elected and reelected by the Democrats, who have now nominated Alderman Baldwin for the office, because Dr. Shurtleff couldn't be used by them. Now the Republican candidate has withdrawn, and Dr. Shurtleff has been re-nominated by the Republicans and Citizens party.

☞ The Democratic State Convention will be held at Concord Jan. 5th, the Army Veteran Anniversary Jan. 6th, and the Republican State Convention Jan. 7th. The sixth annual State musical Festival will commence Jan. 11th. All at Concord.

—Among the sensations attendant upon the opening of Congress today, will be the appearance of a full-blooded negro member, who was elected from one of the south-side districts last July.

☞ The Riverside Echo, temperance paper of Maine, which was the organ of the Hichborn party, has recently withdrawn itself from that connexion and become a family temperance paper as formerly.—Thereupon Rev. Mr. Sawyer, the editor, resigns, and another political campaign paper is suggested.

STEAMERS SOLD.—The American Steamship Co. Boston, sold the steamers Ontario and Erie, 2880 tons burthen, on Tuesday last to close the affairs of the company. The vessels brought $251,700 each, being about one third of their cost. One of the vessels has never been to sea, and the other has made three trips to Liverpool.

—A scoundrel in Canterbury, Conn., recently jumped through the window of a chamber occupied by a Mrs. Backus, seventy-two years of age, and her niece, and with pistol in hand he demanded, "Your money or your life!" "You will have neither," replied the plucky old lady, as she seized him by the throat and held him till the niece called in the neighbors, who took the fellow to jail.

—Commissioner Delano will, in his forthcoming report, recommend the continuance of the income tax. He believes that ultimately the tax on incomes, tobacco and whiskey, should form the basis of the entire income from internal revenue, and that other taxes can be largely dispensed with.

—The guardians of John C. Bigelow, the boy who was injured in the Carr's Rock railroad disaster, have obtained a verdict of $15,000 against the Erie company, in the Orange County (N. Y.) Supreme Court.

THE BEST AND CHEAPEST ORGANS.—An illustration of the advantages of a large production of any article, enabling the manufacturer to avail himself of the aid of machinery and most complete division of labor, and so to produce the best work at lowest cost, is afforded by what the Mason & Hamlin Organ Co., are now doing. It is well known that the Cabinet Organs of their manufacture have for some time enjoyed the reputation of being the best in the world; and the demand for them from all countries has so increased that the Company have now occasion to produce one hundred and fifty organs per week.

This has enabled them to introduce a variety of ingenious machinery for the production of the various parts of the instruments, by which they get increased perfection in their work, and make a considerable saving in the cost. It is a part of their system to sell always at least remunerative profit, depending on increased amount of business for a satisfactory result to themselves. Accordingly, they have recently reduced prices, and it is said, are now selling their famous organs at even less than it costs a small maker to produce inferior instruments. The public are thus the gainers by getting the best article at less than, without such advantages, they would have to pay for inferior work. This Company will not make the so-called "cheap" organs at any price. All their work is of the very best.

Mr. A. Pearson is the Agent in Portsmouth for the superior instruments.

CONSUMPTION.

The Three Remedies, "SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP," for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and every form of Consumption. The peculiar action of this medicine ripens the ulcer in the lungs, promotes the discharge of the corrupt matter by expectoration, purifies the blood, and thus cures Consumption, when every other remedy fails.

"SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC," for the cure of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and all diseases arising from debility. This tonic invigorates the digestive organs, supplies the place of the gastric juice when that is deficient, and then enables the patient to digest the most nutritious food. It is a sovereign remedy for all cases of indigestion.

"SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS," one of the most valuable medicines ever discovered, being a vegetable substitute for calomel, and having all the useful properties ascribed to that mineral, without producing any of its injurious effects.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of Pulmonic Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter, discharges it, and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, remove all obstructions therefrom, give the organ an healthy tone, and cure Liver Complaint, which is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption. The Seaweed Tonic invigorates the powers of the stomach, and by strengthening the digestion and bringing it to a normal and healthy condition improves the quality of the blood, by which means the formation of ulcers or tubercles in the lungs becomes impossible. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of Consumption, if the remedies are used in time, and the use of them is persevered in sufficiently to bring the case to a favorable termination.

Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing a full treatise on the various forms of disease, his mode of treatment, and general directions how to use his medicine, can be had gratis or sent by mail by addressing his Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-Weed Tonic, each, $1 50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen; Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. d3dlm.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Notes for December, addressed to the Feeble and Debilitated.

This is a trying season for invalids, indeed for all who are not blessed with robust constitutions and iron frames.

Cold has come upon us suddenly, sealing up the open pores, and sealing in as it were, any seeds of disease that may have been lurking in the system, but which remained undeveloped so long as the waste matter of the body and all acid and unwholesome humors were freely discharged by evaporation from the surface and through the bowels.

A tonic, aperient and alterative medicine is now needed to invigorate the vital powers depressed by the temperature; to stimulate the liver and the secretions, and to fit the body to endure, without inconvenience, pain or danger, the sudden climatic change which ushers in the Winter.

The only preparation which will fully meet this almost universal need, and will thoroughly and safely perform the important duty, is the tonic and alterative of the age, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This popular specific improves the appetite, invigorates the digestive organs, regulates the flow of bile, enriches the blood, calms the nerves, relieves constipation, promotes superficial circulation and evaporation, and being composed solely of wholesome vegetable elements, with a pure stimulant as their diffuse vehicle, they are have by the weakest without fear. The flavor is agreeable, for although the BITTERS are a potent medicine, they contain no nauseating element.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon, and Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly, Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It combines two medicinal properties, harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge in question, while in operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried the Erasmus Winslow's Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is now offered to the public, but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its worthiness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest sufferer or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy more, and recommend it to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. ol

☞ Good skating on the North mill pond, Saturday.

☞ Rehearsal of the Philharmonic Society at G. A. R. Hall, this Monday evening at half-past 7.

COLD.—Saturday was the coldest day of the season—mercury 8 degrees above zero.

☞ No stocks are quicker on the market than the National Banks. In this city, from $137 to $140 is about the figure.

☞ Ensign J.B. Smith is detached from Portsmouth Navy Yard, and is ordered to signal duty with Commodore S. P. Lee.

☞ Mr. Chas. H. Meudum has been chosen a Director in the National Mechanics and Traders Bank of this city, in place of Mr. E. A. Stevens, resigned.

☞ We hear the name of Mr. Chas. E. Plaisted, the only Republican member of the Common Council re-elected, mentioned for President of that body.

☞ A good fresh Codfish of 10 lbs, that formerly cost about as many cents as it weighed pounds, now brings half a dollar in this market, quick; and is hard to get, at that.

☞ The Grand Army Fair next week will be one of the biggest affairs of the kind ever held in this State. The preparations for the presentation of novelties for entertainments exceed in magnitude and detail all previous efforts.

LOOK IN and see the beautiful silver trumpet in the window of Messrs. Rowell & Hutchinson, on Market Square. It is from the manufactory of Newell Harding & Co., Boston, and will be given to the engine company receiving the most votes at the Grand Army Fair next week. It is worth $75.

☞ As will be seen by a notice in another column, there will be a Concert given here by Mr. Harley Newcomb, on the 9th inst., assisted by some of the most eminent artists in the land. Such entertainments as the one about to be given by Mr. Newcomb are always productive of great good, in that they are elevating in their tendencies, besides giving a tone to social interests; and we congratulate our citizens upon the fact that such a rare treat is in store for them. We can add no more testimony to the great powers of the participants in this entertainment than their names herald; and will only say that in the farewell appearance of Mlle. Alide Topp, a last opportunity is offerred of hearing the acknowledged leading lady pianist in the world.

WHAT PORTSMOUTH HAS. — Portsmouth boasts the possession of the oldest church organ in America, and the first lightning rod ever erected in the world. The organ is still in use in the Episcopal church, but is soon to be replaced by a modern one. It is a small instrument imported from England, and is now so wheezy in its old age that no choir could be induced to sing in the church without a promise of a new one. The lightning rod was put up by Benjamin Franklin himself, upon the mansion of Gov. Langdon, and this house, still occupied by the descendants of the patriotic governor, has the honor of being the first ever protected by Franklin's invention. It is a heavy iron rod, differing only in its size from rods now in use. Franklin personally superintended its erection. This mansion has other claims to notice, from the fact that Washington and Lafayette have honored it with their visits,—and the carpet stained with wine, spilled by him of whom Artemas Ward says that he "never slopped over," is still shown. Besides these and other notable antiquities, Portsmouth has in its Gazette the oldest newspaper in America. — Portland Transcript.

Partly true, says Uncle Toby, and partly not true, especially the talk about the old organ, which is a snarl of blunders. The oldest organ is in St. John's Chapel or Sunday School room; but in St. John's (Episcopal) Church, there is an Organ made by Ellit, of London, which was put up, new, when the present church edifice was erected, say 1807 or 8, and so is not so very old,—and by no means wheezy.—A Choir is easily procured to sing with it; it was deemed a fine instrument when built; and tho' it lacks some modern improvements, and may be replaced by a new instrument, yet it is by no means to be despised, and is, in the hands of the good organist there, agreeable to a cultivated ear.

The Governor Langdon mansion is not occupied by the Governor's descendants, and has not been for a generation.

☞ A Washington dispatch states that there is a deficit of $20,000 in the accounts of Paymaster B. J. Cahoone of this city, and that his name will be dropped from the rolls of the Navy. Paymaster Cahoone is too well known here to be suspected of any intention of defrauding the government, and he is, we firmly believe, more sinned against than sinning. He has evidently been the victim of designing knaves, and we trust will succeed in fastening the guilt where it belongs. Paymaster Cahoone is a man of generous heart, and has been very liberal with his own ample fortune. His mistake seems to have been in supposing all men to be honest; and being careless in keeping public and private accounts, has allowed others to defraud him and injure his reputation. It seems rather hard that Mr. Cahoone, who has been a respected officer of the U. S. Navy for 40 years, should now be victimized by those he trusted. G.

☞ The Boston Traveller's special from Washington, Saturday evening says "in the case of Paymaster Cahoone, recently defaulted in Portsmouth, the government was aware in 1867 that he was a debtor to the Treasury to the amount of $8993, and instead of proceeding against him and his bodsmen he was ordered to a new position as paymaster of the receiving ship at Portsmouth. In justice to Mr. Cahoone, it is well to say that his deficit was caused through rascally clerks.

☞ The annual Communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 1—Ancient and Accepted Masons, of this city, was held Wednesday evening; the following brethren were elected officers for the ensuing Masonic year.

John H. Cheever, W. M.; Wm. B. Grogan, S. W.; John W. Dame, J. W; Isaac Dow, Treasurer; Geo. P. Edney, Secretary; John R. Holbrook, Oliver G. Fernald, Standing Committee; Saml. S. Fletcher, Representative to M. W. G. L. of N. H.

MLLE ALIDE TOPP.—The reputation of this lady assures us the entertainment promised for next Thursday evening will be unsurpassed by anything in the musical line that has been or will be here this season. If music loving people omit the opportunity to listen to her first and farewell concert in this place they will deprive themselves of a treat that is seldom offered in the temple. The manager, Mr. Newcombe has spared no pains nor expense to procure with her the services of some of the very best artists in the country, only one of whom, (Mr. Arbuckle,) we believe, has been before a Portsmouth audience. M'lle Topp has been in this country about two years and is said to be the greatest pianist in the world. She has certainly won many laurels in America. She soon returns to Germany, and it is not likely she will for sometime at least come back to this country. The particulars of the concert will be found in the advertisement in another column.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

¶ During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others subject to check at sight, and allow interest of daily balances. 1md&wn23

MALT EXTRACT—

Is a beverage particularly adapted to persons of weak and debilitated constitutions and those suffering from dyspepsia, loss of appetite, general debility, etc. It takes the place of and is SUPERIOR to ale, porter, and spirituous liquors in all cases where nourishing beverages and tonics are needed. Eminent physicians of New York say: "We have used HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT in practice, and the result have been such as to fully justify the claims made for it; we feel certain that it is destined to supply a want long felt." eodlmdll

Wendell Phillips on "Prohibition."

"Thirty-four years ago, on the twentieth of October," said Mr. Phillips, in commencing, "I received my first lesson in the meaning of Republican institutions." On the afternoon of that day he saw a well-dressed mob drag one of the most illustrious of our citizens through the streets with a halter round his body. He saw the mayor of the city, cap in hand, almost on his knees, entreating the men who were his social companions to have the kindness to obey the laws.

This scene with all its accompaniments impressing his mind at the time only with indignation as a lawyer at sight of violated law; taught the speaker that there is no law in the country but the public opinion of the sidewalk; that the daily journals enact the law rather than the legislators; and that without the consent of the masses, there is no power to execute the statutes, no safety for life, no security for property, no sure foundation for civil rights. It is not with us as in England, where society and law are moored by the traditions and institutions of a thousand years. All with us is dependent upon the popular voice; and when a strain comes upon it and public passion is stirred by some great question like that of slavery or temperance, then we see that we have no institutions, and that the only tenure of our liberty is educating the masses up to be worthy of it.

Mr. Phillips said that he came to the discussion of the topics of temperance and prohibition not to consider their moral significance, but to look at them in their relations to a republican and self-governing people; to examine the subject as, for instance, a statesman on the other side of the water, might set himself to realize the experiment of self-government here. He cited the John Brown meeting in the Tremont Temple nine years ago, which was put down and turned out by a drunken mob, so that for four or five hours the grog-shops ruled Boston in open day. And when the indignant Legislature proposed to come to the rescue and meditated offering the Representatives' Hall that the meeting might be continued, the most popular and strongest Governor since John Winthrop—John A. Andrew—said to them: "I haven't the means of protecting the meeting from the drunkards of Boston. Do not have it in the State House."

This state of things was not, however, a particular disgrace to Boston; for it had never been possible for a republican government to preserve order by its own unaided authority in large cities where wealth and crime were massed. Witness San Francisco with its committee of public safety; witness Baltimore and New Orleans; and New York to-day is only and barely saved. If at all, from anarchy and mob law, by the interference of the State government. Self-government is still an experiment in the eyes of its earnest advocates in Europe, and when they look on our large cities, they hesitate to believe in its success.

Mr. Phillips then proceeded to consider the causes of this state of things—the elements, which the moment they are transplanted from the greensward to the pavement set every restraint at naught. We come of a Saxon or Teutonic stock, from a race which has always yearned and struggled for civil liberty, which has not been bent much to the temptations of licentiousness—that corner-stone of the Mohammedan religion—but which has its own peculiar vice and weakness. And what is that? Go back ten centuries in the history of a race, to a time before their reception of Christianity, and you can find what it loves from the heaven which it paints for itself.

Now, the Teutonic idea of Paradise was not that of the Southern nations,—all made up of beautiful women, of sunny fields, and flowers and music; it was a banquet-hall, upon which the sun neither rose nor set, which knew neither day nor night; where soldiers bloody with victory drank intoxicating liquor from the skulls of their enemies. And here we saw national vices epitomized. The German races never met a rival that they did not draw a sword; and they loved to crown the hilarity of success with the stupor of drink. That we are of this stock in our thirst for blood, the negros, Indians and Mexicans may testify: that we share its love for intoxicating drink, the temptations of our social life bear witness.

Mr. Phillips next depicted the overwrought and over-anxious life of the time, and the nervous excitements which result from its spirit of intense intellectuality. This spirit craves physical stimulus; and science holds out the means of intoxication to the poor at one-tenth of the former price. Now contemplate the power which is born of this great craving. In New York $200,000,000 are invested to gratify it. In Boston an amount variously estimated at from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 is engaged in the same way; there are 3000 liquor shops, and 5000 votes, a number always sufficient to turn the scale, are manipulated by the liquor interest.

And this little body of five thousand has stood like a solid column of soldiers for years in the midst of the light-armed friends of temperance. It has made the mayor and aldermen nothing but standing committees of grog-shops; has made it so that no mayor of Boston shall have eyes to see a grog-shop. But this he did not charge upon the chief magistrate of the city as a great offense, if only for this reason, that no man could have reached the point of being mayor if his soul had not been small enough to be sifted through the sieve of political availability.

Now, you cannot found a pure ballot-box on a drunken people. A republican government will always be impossible if this power is to be at liberty—if every man is at liberty to incite his neighbor to drink. If moderate license is right, we must give up republicanism in the great cities. In Billerica perhaps, in Aarvard, in Hull, or in Brookfield, you may be able to carry out the principles of pure self-government, but in the large cities republicanism will be a sham. But the great Yankee mind was sure to invent some way of governing Boston without going on its knees to the grog-shops and brothels.

Perhaps we have employed an engine which can't carry further than West Newton; perhaps that will do; but, if it won't, we shan't take up the rails beyond West Newton, or abandon the train; we shall merely change the engine. And the panacea which the Yankee wit had discovered was—prohibition. Prohibition was not going to make men moral, but it was going to make these streets so safe that masses fit for voting will walk in them. We cannot supply men who crave liquor with the moral force to pass by the grog-shops; but we can shut the doors of the grog-shops; and that's what we intend to do.

Mr. Phillips next drew a picture of the crime of Boston,—a city in which every tenth person was a criminal and every seventh a pauper. With one hand we spent immense sums of money in educating our children to be good citizens, and with the other we dragged down as many adults through our liquor-shops. And the question being how to keep the ballot pure in such a place, we were met with a suggestion of license; which was presented as if it were a bran-new new idea, just born of the last champagne bottle at Parker's. But a license law was in the first published statue-book of the Commonwealth. After that we had one-hundred and forty license laws, and at the end of that time three-quarters of our farms were mortgaged for drink; two-thirds of the pulpits were filled with drunkards; and the bench of justice was nearly vacant, because one-half the judges had died drunkards.

We had two hundred years of failure with license, and it was high time to try something else. It would be better to live in Great Britain, half owned as it was by one hundred and fifty men, or in France, where one could learn from the statute-book the exact limit of free speech, than to dwell in a land where the fickle mob was to decide it. But he hoped to see the day when men and women would nominate a man for mayor who knew what he thought and dared to say so; a mayor who would look to the State House, and not to the Tremont House bar, for instructions. We had had two hundred years of failure with license; why not try twenty-five years, or one generation, of prohibition?

The second great question of the morrow was the workingmen's claim to recognition. We had two special dangers to fear—a drunken mob and a moneyed aristoccacy. The whole tendency of the time was to the aggregation of wealth in the hands of a few; and thus it had come to such a pass that the laws of some States were made in the gambling-hells of gold speculators, or in the bank offices, rather than in the State Houses. The speaker described a manufacturing town where one great corporation ruled supreme, publishing the daily paper and regulating the preacher's sermon. Put your ear down close to the columns of the Daily Advertiser and you will hear the rustle of cotton or the chink of bank dollars. If you doubt this, go read its editorials in the light of State street, and you will read them with annointed eyes. This principle of aggregation was the necessity of the time, and in accordance with its genius. The problem was, how to reconcile it with individual freedom. We must do this, because it is impossible to preserve self-government while there is a permanent laboring class. We need not look at the subject from the moral points of view to see its importance, but only as lovers of republicanism, which requires for its material intelligent voters, and not mere mechanical drudges.

The last great question of the time was woman's rights. And treating this topic again from the political and not from the moral point of view—not considering woman's insecure rights to her wages and her incomplete rights of property, but looking merely at the security and health of the State—Mr. Phillips said that woman was needed to elevate the moral tone of politics, which to-day was a hundred years behind that of society, because women ruled in the latter, and had no part in the former. Formerly they had had little power in society, and had had no influence on either art or literature. Hence the corruption of both. The marbles and colors of Pompeii are often so obscene that the men of to-day blush to look at them; but in the day of Pompeiian art, respectable women scarcely went into the streets, and so had no restraining influence. So in literature. You cannot read Chaucer or the French story-tellers of his day to your wife and daughters, because Chaucer and his contemporaries wrote for the audience of men altogether — though the authors were really no worse in their hearts than Dickens or Thackeray. Nor had the change been in the women, who were as pure and good in the days of Queen Anne as now. The reason of the change was to be found in the fact that by a great law of the Creator the interchange of thought between men and women worked for the greater purity and virtue of both. Thus it would be in politics, which would be purified, when women came to vote, of their meanness and dishonesty. For men would be ashamed to let their wives and daughters see the vileness and petty cheats of politics which they winked at now in each other's society.

Mr. Phillips closed with an appeal to Massachusetts, which had contributed the only strong man in th Cabinet at Washington; to take the lead in these great movements.

Kennebunk had a $10,000 fire, Friday night.

RESOLUTION.

If you've any task to do,
Let me whisper, friend, to you.
Do it!

If you've anything to love,
As a blessing from above,
Love it!

If you've anything to give,
That another's joy may live,
Give it!

If some hollow creed you doubt,
Though the whole world hoot and shout,
Doubt it!

If you know what torch to light,
Guiding others through the night,
Light it!

If you've any debt to pay,
Rest you neither night nor day,
Pay it!

If you've any joy to hold,
Next your heart, lest it get cold,
Hold it!

If you've any grief to meet,
At the loving Father's feet,
Meet it!

If you've given light to see
What a child of God should be,
See it!

Whether life be bright or drear,
There's a message sweet and clear
Whispered down to every ear—
Hear it!

New Publications.

—"Put Yourself in his Place," Charles Reade's dramatic story, will, it seems, continue to delight the readers of The Galaxy Magazine during the greater part of the next year. The eminent novelist is evidently intending to make one of his most elaborate and powerful works of fiction. To enable new readers of The Galaxy to follow this story, the publishers—Messrs. Sheldon & Co., of New York—offer to give to all new subscribers, a copy of a handsome volume of about 200 pages, containing all of "Put Yourself in His Place" that has been published up to the January number. The Galaxy's programme for 1870 is, in other respects, a very inviting one. The editorial departments will be maintained and extended. The editorial force is very large, and includes some of the best talent in American periodical literature. A new feature will be a comprehensive monthly review of the literature of the world, which must be of the highest value to all intelligent readers. Among the Galaxy's list of contributors are nearly all the most famous of American, besides many of the most popular of European writers. This magazine evidently proposes to make the campaign of 1870 a vigorous and successful one.

How to Cook and How to Carve, two very useful arts, are handsomely taught in a new manual just published by Dick & Fitzgerald, New York; price 50 cts. The same publishers have also just issued, in a similar Manual, The Laws and By-Laws of American Society, a condensed but thorough treatise on etiquette and its usages in America, containing plain and reliable directions for deportment in every situation in life.

BEST CABINET ORGANS,
AT LOWEST PRICES
That the MASON & HAMLIN CABINET and METROPOLITAN ORGANS are the best in the world is proved by the almost unanimous opinion of professional musicians, by the award to them of SEVENTY-FIVE GOLD and SILVER MEDALS or other highest premiums, at principal industrial competitive trials in the last years, including the MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION and by a sale very much greater than that of any similar instruments. The Company manufacture only FIRST-CLASS INSTRUMENTS, and will not make "cheap organs" at any price, or suffer an inferior instrument to bear their name. Having greatly increased their facilities for manufacture by the introduction of new machinery and otherwise, they are now making BETTER ORGANS than EVER BEFORE, at increased economy in cost, which, in accordance with their fixed policy of selling always at least renumerative profit, they are now offering at prices inferior work. FOUR OCTAVE ORGANS, Plain, Walnut Case, $80. FIVE OCTAVE ORGANS Double Reed, Solid Walnut Case, carved and panneled, with FIVE STOPS (VIOLA, DIAPASON, MELODIA, FLUTE, TREMULANT), $125. Other styles in proportion.
Circulars with full particulars, including accurate drawings of the different styles of organs, and much information which will be of service to every purchaser of an organ, will be sent free and postage paid, to any one desiring them.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopoeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o218w

KITTERY, ME., Dec. 6.

Messrs. Editors :—As the following paragraph from a Democratic paper refers to our town, and contains Statements wholly incorrect, will you oblige me by publishing it, and what follows?

Somebody over in the happy land called Kittery, has written us a long account of the rascally doings of the "saints" thereabouts who run the Maine law. According to the history he gives us, it would appear that the Radicals manage the law in the interests of the liquor dealers who belong to the party of great moral ideas. They used the law to break up the business of Democrats, and the officers encourage and patronize dram-shops kept by good loyal Republicans. It's curious how these things are managed.

The above, to anyone conversant with the facts, need not be answered; but as all are not conversant with the facts, I will give the truth of the matter, misrepresented in that paragraph. If I mistake not, every liquor and beer shop in the town, before the late crusade against rum, was kept not by any member of the "party of great moral ideas"—the Republican—but by Democrats of the old school; certainly none but Democrats now deal misery and death to their fellow men—calling it "liberty." And because this is so, they have the warm sympathy of their political friends.

It is strange that any reasoning man can be found to support and justify the traffic in rum, which reduces its lovers to slavery the most abject, is the source of three-fourths of all the crime committed and the sufferings endured in our midst at the present day, and the most merciless tyrant that Hell ever sent to devastate and destroy. Yet men do support it from political causes, often with falsehood and slander of its opponents, as well as in other ways. I could almost wish that the dealers were Republicans, if that would secure the opposition of the present supporters of the accursed and debasing trade. God hasten the time when not a man in any party can find an excuse for rum-selling—when no otherwise worthy men will live drunkard's lives—no more of our great men fill drunkards' graves.

PENSIONS.—Why should the people of this country be called upon to pay immense sums every year to officers on the "retired list," and others who might as well be there, who return no equivalent for the money received by them? It is impossible for me to find a reason for it at all, though I have tried hard to do so. I can see reason why we should give pensions to crippled or broken-down officers or soldiers; for no sum of money can compensate a man for loss of health. I can see reason why we should pension the widows and orphans of men who lose theirs for our country. But that men who are past service should still receive pay, for no other reason than that they were once "in the service," is preposterous.

It is no argument to say that they have been all their lives in the country's service; for, if they have, they have all their lives been paid,—well paid, and in numberless instances over-paid,—for such service. Many a bank officer, merchant-ship master, clerk or other civilian, serves a lifetime in one position, doing far more work, for far less pay than many of the drones who draw honey from the national hive receive; but no one ever thinks of their receiving pensions for their services. They have been paid for them once; and if they have not saved enough of their pay to live on after they are no longer useful, that is no one's fault but their own. Why should public servants be treated differently? If they choose to spend their liberal salaries in living in a style above the common herd, they have a perfect right to do so; but the common herd are fools to encourage them in doing so by giving them money to which they have no shadow of reasonable claim, when they are done work. That an officer is entitled to be well paid after he becomes useless from old age, simply because he has been well paid all his life, reminds me of a man who, when removed from some subordinate office under government, applied for a reinstatement because he had held the position 22 years—and actually got another appointment!

If those who are well-paid and constantly-employed are to be pensioned, those who receive but little employment and moderate pay have a double claim on the national generosity. Why are not the working men pensioned when from any cause they are discharged from the U. S. employment? I see no reason why not. They serve the country as faithfully and cost her far less than the aristocracy,—yet they are turned off at any time without warning, and without "furlough pay," or pension.

A short time ago a man at this Navy Yard lost both his thumbs "in the service." He was at once discharged,—crippled, at the commencement of our long winter, to shift for himself as he may,—starve, if he likes. An officer whose conduct proved that all the brutal tyrants do not sail in merchant ships, being convicted of savage inhumanity to seamen, is sentenced to receive $750 a year for doing nothing! I think it would have been as well had the disabled laborer received a portion of that "furlough pay," and the savage been allowed to take scalps for a living, if he wished.

Laborers' wages have been reduced by our Navy Department in times past, from motives of economy,—and 20 per cent. added to the line officer's legal salary, when on shore duty, and 33 1-3 per cent. when he is afloat,—probably from the same motives. Hundreds of men who receive so many cents a day for their labor, have lately been discharged from the Navy Yards; but not one of the many who receive thousands of dollars yearly for doing nothing, has had to go. Our aristocracy must be preserved.

It is about time for the American people to introduce republican principles and practices into the navies, national and mercantile. At present there is not a shadow of republicanism in either, from one end to the other. PAKEHA.

It is believed that all the Republican candidates for Congress in Mississippi are elected.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

A supplement containing numerous full-sized patterns of useful articles accompanies the paper every fortnight, and occasionally an elegant Colored Fashion Plate.

HARPER'S BAZAR contains 16 folio pages of the size of HARPER'S WEEKLY, printed on superfine calender paper, and is published weekly.

HARPER'S BAZAR contains, besides pictures, patterns, etc., a variety of matter of special use and interest to the family; articles on health, dress, and house-keeping in all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is interest and instruct; and it has besides, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is not surprising that the journal, with such features has achieved in a short time an immense success; for something of its kind is desired in thousand of families, and its publishers have filled the demand. The young lady who buys a single number of HARPER'S BAZAR is made a subscriber for life.—New York Evening Post.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

MESSRS. CHARLES A. SMITH & Co., Boston, make a most interesting announcement to gentlemen in our paper to-day. The finest imported goods, of latest styles, are offered at the lowest possible figures. The reputation of this firm is second to none in New England for the style and quality of their garments.

THE MOST UNHAPPY PERSON in the world is the Dyspeptic. Everything looks dark and gloomy; he feels "out of sorts" with himself and everybody else. Life is a burden to him. This can all be changed by taking Peruvian Syrup (a protexide of Iron). Cases of 27 years' standing have been cured by it.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—Chas. A. Durgin deposed: I have been familiar with sewing-machines for many years. The Wheeler & Wilson Machines are vastly superior in their adaptation and use upon all classes of work for domestic purposes. One great consideration in the use of sewing-machines is the expense of repairs. From the ease of all its mechanical movements, the Wheeler & Wilson Machine is subject to but slight wear and the expense of repair is very slight in comparison with other machines! am fully convinced that they do not cost one fifth of that of any other two-thread machine.

The wife of Socrates was said to be a great scold. Had her husband furnished her with Renne's Pain-Killing Magic Oil to cure a painful toothache and headache, she would, no doubt, have been one of the best women of that age.

CONSUMPTION.

The Three Remedies, "SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP," for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and every form of Consumption. The peculiar action of this medicine ripens the ulcer in the lungs, promotes the discharge of the corrupt matter by expectoration, purifies the blood, and thus cures Consumption, when every other remedy fails.

"SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC," for the cure of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and all diseases arising from debility. This tonic invigorates the digestive organs, supplies the place of the gastric juice when that is deficient, and then enables the patient to digest the most nutritious food. It is a sovereign remedy for all cases of indigestion.

"SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS," one of the most valuable medicines ever discovered, being a vegetable substitute for calomel, and having all the useful properties ascribed to that mineral, without producing any of its injurious effects.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of Pulmonic Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter, discharges it, and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, remove all obstructions therefrom, give the organ an healthy tone, and cure Liver Complaint, which is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption. The Seaweed Tonic invigorates the powers of the stomach, and by strengthening the digestion and bringing it to a normal and healthy condition improves the quality of the blood, by which means the formation of ulcers or tubercles in the lungs becomes impossible. The combined action of these medicines, as established, will cure every case of Consumption, if the remedies are used in time, and the use of them is persevered in sufficiently to bring the case to a favorable termination.

Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing a full treatise on the various forms of disease, his mode of treatment, and general directions how to use his medicine, can be had gratis or sent by mail by addressing his Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-Weed Tonic, each, $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen; Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. d3dlm.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Notes for December, addressed to the Feeble and Debilitated.

This is a trying season for invalids, indeed for all who are not blessed with robust constitutions and iron frames.

Cold has come upon us suddenly, sealing up the open pores, and sealing in as it were, any seeds of disease that may have been lurking in the system, but which remained undeveloped so long as the waste matter of the body and all acid and unwholesome humors were freely discharged by evaporation from the surface and through the bowels.

A tonic, aperient and alterative medicine is now needed to invigorate the vital powers depressed by low temperature; to stimulate and purify the secretions, and to fit the body to endure, without inconvenience, pain or danger, the sudden climatic change which ushers in the Winter.

The only preparation which will fully meet this almost universal need, and will thoroughly and safely perform the important work, is the tonic and alterative of the age, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This popular specific improves the appetite, invigorates the digestive organs, regulates the flow of bile, enriches the blood, calms the nerves, relieves constipation, promotes superficial circulation and evaporation, and being composed solely of wholesome vegetable elements, with a pure stimulant as their diffuse vehicle, may be taken by the weakest without fear. The flavor is agreeable, for although the BITTERS are a potent medicine, they contain no nauseating element.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—North, South, West and Canada. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon, and Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as pleasant to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It combines two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destroyed in the process form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless, pleasant to take, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Wholesale agent, John F. HENRY, No. 8 College Place, New York City.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is to be obtained only, but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the strongest evidence of its superiority and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincontroling properties. It is perfectly innocuous and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. o1

YOUNG, M. D. This is really a valuable and interesting work. It is written in plain language for the general reader, and is illustrated with numerous Engravings. All young married people, or those contemplating marriage, and having the least impediment to married life, should read this book. It discloses secrets that every one should be acquainted with; still it is a book that must be locked up and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any address on receipt of 50 cents. Address, Dr. WM. YOUNG, No. 416 Spruce street, above Fourth, Philadelphia.

☞ AFFLICTED AND UNFORTUNATE.—No matter what may be your disease, before you place yourself under any one of the notorious QUACKS—native and foreign—who advertise in this or any other paper, get a copy of Dr. Young's Book and read it carefully. It will be the promeans of saving you many a dollar, your health and possibly your life.

Dr. Young can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his publications, at his office, No. 416 Spruce street, above Fourth, Philadelphia.

HARLEY NEWCOMB,

OF BOSTON, WILL GIVE A GRAND CONCERT, AT THE TEMPLE,

On THURSDAY Evening, Dec. 9th.

The Artists engaged for this concert (which is one of the series of M'lle Alide Topp's farewell Concerts) are of the highest order, and the opportunity offered the people of Portsmouth to hear such talent as is rarely heard inside of our largest cities should be appreciated.

M'LLE ALIDE TOPP, acknowledged the greatest pianist in the world.

MISS HENRIETTA BEEBE, of New York, Soprano, a general favorite in New York Musical Circles.

MISS JENNIE E. BULL, of New York, Mezzo-Soprano. The New York Musical Review says: To an exquisite voice Miss Bull adds the charm of beauty and loveliness of person.

Mr. M. ARBUCKLE, the great Cornet Soloist

Mr. J. A. HOWARD, a thorough accompanist.

No pains will be spared to make this Concert the greatest musical success of the season, and the Director hopes that the taste and good judgement of the people of Portsmouth will not allow the great Alide Topp to visit here for the first and only time she appears, (as she soon returns to Germany,) without a generous recognition. Although the expenses of these concerts are very great, the price of admission is placed within reach of all.

ADMISSION 50 cents; Reserved seats 75 cents—to be had at PRESTON'S, Congress Block, THACHER'S Market Square, and at the Hall, Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 6 and 7.

☞ Gallery reserved for Children of Schools, at 30 cents each.

The concert grand piano used is from the celebrated makers Messrs. George Steck & Co., New York. n27

THE INDIAN DOCTOR

HAS RETURNED!

The Leaves of the Forest were for the Healing of the Nation!

DR. L. CONGDON,

THE NARRAGANSETT

INDIAN PHYSICIAN!

Has taken Rooms

At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,

Where he will remain

Until December 28th.

He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the

and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung diseases, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, unless by their request. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and not let modesty fail you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

Also DR. CONGDON'S

GREAT INDIAN REMEDY!

which has such a far-famed reputation from east to west; the same remedy he used upon the Fair Ground for the permanent cure of Deafness, Neuralgia and Rheumatism, Piles, &c., which can be had at his Office or of all Druggists.

☞ Thespians, this afternoon.

☞ The first sleighs were seen in our streets Dec. 6th. There is pretty good slipping in this vicinity for light teams.

☞ The steam box at Raynes' Ship Yard caught fire on Saturday night last. It was discovered by the teamster and extinguished before much damage was done.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—Augustus A. Warren, sailmaker, has been ordered to special duty at this Yard.

The statement that the watchmen on the Yard were to be discharged and their places filled by seamen from the Vandalia, is erroneous, as no such action has been contemplated.

☞ During the war, but few Line officers were usually stationed at Portsmouth Navy Yard. Now, when there is of course much less work to do, there are a score or two of officers of all grades. A discharged workman suggests that it might be a good plan to discharge from the service a lot of the surplus Liners, especially of the bummers on the retired list, who never did any "service," but continue to draw good pay. There are none of this sort on the Yard however.

Communication.

P. M. L. A.—Mercantile Hall will prove an attractive place this winter, for the fortunate ticket holders, with its Course of interesting Lectures by some of the principal men of this city, including as it does merchants, ministers, farmers, lawyers, physicians, &c. There will also be occasional lectures by former members residing in other cities.

The Library is to be increased by an addition of the newest publications of the day—a portion of its funds being voted for this purpose last Wednesday evening.

"Seribo," and others who believe the Association past resurrection, and the Library to be given away, should be furnished with free tickets on making themselves known. TELZAH.

☞ The Concert by Miss Bernard and assistants was a first-class entertainment, but lacked life. The selections, with a single exception, were not animated enough to inspire either singers or audience. Miss Bernard has a pleasing voice, which shows culture and much improvement; and both she and Mrs. D. C. Hall were beautifully and simply dressed, and appeared to good advantage on the stage. The latter lady performed her part nicely, of course; as did also Mr. Prescott, tenor. Mr. Wallach does all that is possible with his mouth harmonica, but there can be but little variety to it, after several hearings. Mr. Payson, the new basso here, did finely, and in buffo is about equal to any singer we ever heard. The lady pianist accompanied well, but is no display performer. Some glees or quartets introduced, would have added interest to the really fine, but rather tame programme.

PORTSMOUTH SAVINGS BANK.—This institution, has done so much to encourage persons of small means to husband and increase those means, by laying by a portion of their earning for future use, closed the 46th year of its existence on July last. The new Treasurer has furnished us with the following statement of the business of the Bank during these 46 years:

Total amount Deposits	$3,945,455.66
Reg. Dividends have been	831,886.84
Extra Dividends have been	407,056.13
	$5,183,898.63
Of which there has been withdrawn	3,810,755.55
Deposits July 21, 1869,	$1,373,143.08

By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that loans are now made by them on good collaterals. The law passed by the last Legislature, obliges Savings Bank to make one-half of their future investments within the state; but it is the intention of officers of this Bank not to confine themselves to the limits of the law, but to go as much beyond the one-half as they can consistently with the interests of depositors.

☞ Miss Annie S. Whitten, advertised to sing at the Temple this week under Mr. Harley Newcomb's management, died in Boston on Saturday of pneumonia, at the age of 27. Miss Whitten was one of Boston's most favorite vocalists, and she will be sadly missed in musical circles and among those whose privilege it was to know her more intimately.

The House was called to order by Speaker Blaine and the roll was called. All the New England members were present except Mr. Banks. The galleries were crowded.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

Since closing the GREAT CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD LOAN, which meets all these requirements, we have carefully examined many others, but have found no other which would fully do so, until the following was placed in our hands:

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 159 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $195,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS,

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received. Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others subject to check at sight, and allow interest of daily balances. 1md&wn22

DUTY.

From the Meriden (Conn.) Recorder.

"James, I hear you are getting interested in Martha Wenham!" said good old Mrs. Mathews, tremblingly to her only son, as they sat by the fire one evening after he had returned from a hard day's work.

He had been her only support for four years, ever since her kind husband died. His sister Nellie, sweet but fragile, had leaned upon his strong arm for help, for she was unable to support herself.

Mrs. neighbor Clayton, had been over telling James' mother what she had heard about the young people; that they had been seen to walk very leisurely home from singing schools and prayer meetings, and that at the last church picnic, he and Martha, regardless of all the others, had sauntered off to a cool, cozy nook, and were seemingly very happy, and very much absorbed, as people are wont to be under such circumstances. Martha was a very excellent girl, the daughter of a well-to-do village merchant, would make one of the best of wives, and James would be fortunate to get her, but poor Mrs. Mathews saw herself and Nellie cast upon the world, for in case James married, he could no more than support his wife, and the little ones that would probably be born to them. He had been a faithful son, leaving school and books that he loved, to work with his hands and earn his bread. He had been able to pay their rent, get them a few neat clothes, and buy all necessary food.

Sometimes he seemed rather quiet, as though he longed again for the school days, that he might realize his ambition, to be a prominent man in the world. When either mother or daughter caught a glimpse of any such feelings, they tried to make the home pleasanter for him. Mrs. Mathews baked things he liked, and Nellie took a little picture from her scantily furnished room to hang in his, or gathered a few flowers for his table.

No wonder the dependent mother spoke anxiously about his interest in Martha Wenham.

"Yes, I like her very much, mother. I think she is the noblest girl I ever saw!"

Mrs. Mathews trembled more and more. She wanted to ask him if he ever thought of marrying her, but she could not.

Finally, after long silence, James said, as though he had been weighing the thing in his own mind, "Do you think she would make me a good wife, mother?"

"I, I, think she might, James, but what would your poor mother do?" and the tears gathered in her eyes. "I'm afraid I'm a burden, James! Won't you wish there were no obstacles in the way? Oh, James, I wonder God arranged it so!" and the good mother could have longed to be out of the way, that her boy's happiness might be completed.

James Mathew's big heart was full. He had never thought of leaving his mother, and though he loved Martha, duty was first with him always, so he put his hard hands upon his mother's gray head and kissed her, bidding her not to fear; that he should never leave her, and that she was better than all the Marthas in the world, and as for Nellie, he'd work his fingers off for her, before any other girl should take her place.

That night there was a timid knock at Martha's door, and James Mathews was cordially welcomed. Several times, before all the common-places were talked of, he tried to tell her his errand in coming, but his courage as often failed. Martha broke the ice for him when she said, "I think, James, that day spent at the picnic was the pleasantest of my life." What could be more delightful, than to hear from her own lips, the very confession he had hoped to bring, viz: that his presence was a pleasure to her; that she, perhaps, in some measure returned his affection.

"It was a very happy one to me;" responded James. "I have often wondered if it gave you pleasure, Martha; perhaps you do not know that I have loved you for a long time, and perhaps it is wrong for me to tell you of it, seeing that I cannot marry anybody."

"And why not?" said Martha, a blush spreading over her fair face, and losing itself in her golden hair.

"Because my mother and sister are dependent upon me, and as long as they live, and I hope it may be many years, I shall take care of them. I could love you always without marriage, but that is the only bond that can keep you mine alone and forever. Others will be seeking one so good as you are. I could not ask you to be engaged, for you might wait for years before I was able to support a third in our home, and support you as nicely as I should wish to do. You have had too many comforts to receive poverty at my hands."

"You know I am young, James, only seventeen, and I can wait a great many years for you. I love you very much, and I have a good home to wait in, so what matter so long as we are near each other. I'll wait till I'm an old lady, James, if need be."

The noble girl had answered as her pure heart had prompted.

Many a man knows how rich, and happy, and satisfied, James Mathews felt that night, as he came home in the moonlight. How strong his arms felt for work, and how strong his good principles seemed.

He could do anything now for mother, and sister, make any sacrifice, for did not one wait for him whose encouragement was more than money, to live with whom for one year even, would recompense for a score of years of labor.

Mrs. Matthews and Nellie grew happier as they saw him so cheerful, and as his wages increased with his larger experience, and more of the comforts of life were obtained, Nellie, with less anxiety and more ease, grew better.

Two years had passed, and changes had come to Martha Wenham. Her father was dead, his property gone, and her health impaired by long and weary care of him. What was left for her but to claim the hand of him, for whom she had waited these two years? Refusing all others, she had been true to him. Now comes the time of trial to both.

Martha was helpless, and had no where to look but to him. His heart clung to her now more than ever, but who could support the two who seemed to be left providentially on his hands? Many an evening he passed with her, feeling every time as though the day of parting, if it must come to that, would be unbearable, till finally he resolved to marry her, take her to his home, and do all in his power for the three. It could be only a scanty subsistance he could earn for them, and by taking another upon himself, would he not spoil the happiness of them all? He might have but one meal a day for himself, and he was willing, but what poor reward for the girl who had lost so many good places in life, to share penury with him!

Concluded to-morrow.

New Publications.

Godey's Lady's Book for January, 1870.—This valuable and popular Magazine has reached its 40th year and really renews its youth. L. A. Godey, publisher, Philadelphia. $3 per annum. This first number of the eighth volume contains, of illustrations, a portrait of the publisher, a splendid steel-plate title-page, and the usual reliable colored fashion-plate. There is also a beautiful design for a gentleman's slipper, and a handsome engraving in tint of a young lady taking her first lesson in skating. A large sheet of embroideries, numerous designs of the latest fashions, and a great variety of articles for fancy work. The literary matter has been contributed by Marion Harland, Louise Dorr, Ino Churchill, and other well-known popular writers.

Janet's Two Homes, by L. O. M. H. This is a fine juvenile tale of near 200 pages, neatly got up, with a fine frontispiece—published by Mrs. J. Hamilton Thomas, Philadelphia.

The same publisher, Mrs. J. Hamilton Thomas, has just issued an elegant little presentation quarto, of 223 pages, entitled Thoughts that Cluster round our Homes;—an admirable Christmas and New Year's Book.

Howe's Musical Monthly, No. 6.—Boston: published by Elias Howe.

The Radical for November opens with an essay, by C. C. Shackford, entitled, The Modern Problem Social, not Political.

The American Odd Fellow has a varied and attractive table of contents, including an original story, entitled, Eva Ashley, or the Triumph of Virtue.

Coach Maker's Journal for December.

Manufacturer & Builder for November: prime number.

Peters' Musical Monthly for December,—Christmas Music.

Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine for January, 1870, has two fine engravings. The first one is called "Parted by Fate," and is accompanied by a very powerful story by Frank Lee Benedict. The second is called "A Bitter Morning," and represents two children skating on the ice. It is a superior number. Chas. J. Peterson, pub lisher, Philadelphia. $2 per annum.

—A public lecturer in New York recently argued that "religion was useless, because man's existence on earth is momentary. Science teaches us that in 6,300 years more, a grand deluge will end his race and make him a fossil. You may think this an idle tale, but it is not. Astronomy shows that the earth is oscillating in the angle of its axis to the sun in periods of 21,000 years. The zones are undergoing a constant change. Now, at the North Pole it is growing colder, and at the South Pole warmer, each year. Thus, an immense accumulation of icebergs at the North Pole will result, while at the South they will not form at all. In 6,300 years the glaciers will have accumulated so much that they will suddenly overbalance the earth. Then the waters of the sea will rush from the south to the north, and there will be a deluge." It looks as if this gentleman was trying to produce a panic in real estate.

FIRE AND SUPPOSED LOSS OF LIFE.—On the night of the 1st, in Bradford, two barns on the old county road leading to and on the border of Hillsborough, owned by George Murdough, were destroyed by fire. The two barns were located close together and Mr. M.'s house was on the opposite side of the road. The barns contained about twenty tons of hay, but no stock or any great amount of tools or grain that we are able to learn. Nobody is known to have been in either of the barns for a week or more, and the fire can hardly be accounted for. After the fire had burned out, something about four feet long by two wide was found which had the appearance of human remains, and is thought to have been the body of a man who had got into the barn to sleep, and caused the fire with a pipe or other means. Considerable excitement was caused by the discovery.—Concord Patriot.

☞ A Philadelphia lady writes thus from Frankfort, concerning her visit to Mrs. Lincoln:

"We have passed many happy, sad hours together. The first night we spent in Frankfort we sat talking all night long, until the bright day dawned in at the window of her cheerless, desolate room. Not having seen her since I met her in her sick room, after Mr. Lincoln's death, of course the meeting quite overcame her. For a while tears and sobs, such as I never witnessed, rent her anguished heart. She is as great a mourner now as she was the day she lost the best of husbands. The Duke of Nassau and many of the nobility have called upon her, but she declined receiving them. Her life is the loneliest I ever saw."

BEST CABINET ORGANS,
AT LOWEST PRICES.
That the MASON & HAMLIN CABINET and METROPOLITAN ORGANS are the best in the world is proved by the almost unanimous opinion of professional musicians, by the award to them of SEVENTY-FIVE GOLD and SILVER MEDALS or other highest premium, at principal industrial competitions within a few years, including the MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION and by a sale very much greater than that of any similar instruments. This Company manufacture only FIRST-CLASS INSTRUMENTS, and will not make "cheap organs" at any price, or suffer an inferior instrument to bear their name. Having greatly increased their facilties for manufacture by the introduction of new machinery and otherwise, they are now making BETTER ORGANS than EVER BEFORE, at increased economy in cost, which, in accordance with their fixed policy of selling always at least remunerative profit, they are now offering at prices inferior work. FOUR OCTAVE ORGANS. Plain, Walnut Case, $80. FIVE OCTAVE ORGANS, Double Reed, Solid Walnut Case, carved and panneled, with FIVE STOPS (VIOLA, DIAPASON, MELODIA, FLUTE, TREMULANT), $125. Other styles in proportion.
Circulars with full particulars, including accurate drawings of the different styles of organs, and much information which will be of service to every purchaser of an organ, will be sent free and postage paid, to any one desiring them.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sability feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism, it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o218w

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 8, 1869.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE to Congress is a plain, straight-forward document, in which but few words are wasted. From its perusal, impartial readers can but acknowledge that President Grant desires earnestly and honestly to carry out the laws of the land as they exist, while recommending changes which he deems necessary, but which others may oppose as needless. The document is thoroughly American, and the President leaves no doubt in the minds of its readers that he firmly supports the principles of the grand old Union party which carried on the war to a successful conclusion and made him President.

He commences by expressing gratitude to the Giver of all good for the many benefits we enjoy. We are blessed with peace at home, and are without entangling alliances abroad. Harmony is being rapidly restored within our borders. Seven States which passed ordnances of secession have been fully restored to their places in the Union. The eighth, Georgia, violated the constitution they ratified, by unseating the colored members and admitting members disqualified in their places. It is best, without delay to enact a law authorizing the governor of Georgia to convene the members originally elected to the legislature, requiring these members to take the oath prescribed by the reconstruction act, and none to be admitted who are ineligible under the third clause of the fourteenth amendment.

The return to specie payments should be sure and gradual, by an act to authorize the Treasury to redeem its own paper at a fixed price wherever it is presented, and to withhold from circulation all currency, so redeemed, until it is sold again for gold.

The public debt consists largely of bonds running 5 to 20 years. Already when a great part of them may be taken up,and is rapidly approaching when all may be. It is believed that those which are now due may be replaced by bonds bearing a rate of interest not exceeding four and a half per cent., and as rapidly as the remainder become due that they may be replaced in the same way.

The revenues of the country are greater than the requirements, and may, with safety, be reduced.

The income tax should be reduced to 3 per cent., and this tax should expire in three years.

The taxes and the revenues from imports may be reduced safely from sixty to eighty millions per annum.

The report of the Secretary of the Treasury shows the receipts of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1869, to be $370,943,747, and the expenditures, including interest, bounties, &c., to be $321,490,597.

However much we may personally sympathize with Cuba, nothing has yet occurred to justify the according of belligerent rights.

The Darien canal is a subject well worth considering.

The matter of the seizure of the Spanish gunboats will be settled by the courts.

The time has arrived when the Alabama claims may be negotiated by both parties without bitterness.

Reciprocity with Canada is not favorably considered.

The repeal of the tenure-of-office act is earnestly urged.

The Post Office department has a deficiency of $5,933,620 less than last year. The abolition of the franking privilege is recommended.

A liberal though not extravagant policy towards the naval branch of the public service is recommended.

The estimates for next year amount to $224,470,665.

A YOUNG SCOUNDREL.—During the past fall, says the Newport Argus, Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham, an aged couple in Unity, have suffered from a series of villainous depredations. Four or five of their sheep were found dead, with their throats cut; their windows were at another time broken in in the night; and on Sunday, the 21st ult., their house was entered by a robber, who demanded money, and after obtaining a few dollars, left the house. During all this, a boy named Lewis Jennings, who had previously lived with Mr. and Mrs. C., pretended to be greatly interested in their favor, and caused the arrest of two innocent persons, who were discharged for want of evidence. Suspicion finally fell upon Jennings himself, and he was made to confess that he had committed all the mischief under a disguise. He is now in jail, awaiting trial.

—A little boy lost his balloon. "Never mind," said his little sister, "when you die and go to heaven you'll dit it."

XLIst CONGRESS.—2d SESSION.

On Monday, in the Senate, a bill providing for the execution of the laws against polygamy in Utah was introduced, Laid on the table.

The President sent in about 350 nominations.

In the House, a bill amendatory of the banking act, so as to establish a free banking system,' was referred to the committee on banking.

The Committee of Republican Senators chosen by the caucus to revise the Committees of the Senate have decided to place Mr. Morrill of Maine, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, and Mr. Cragin of New Hampshire, Chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, Mr. Anthony having declined the promotion.

The Citizens' National Bank at Middletown, Maryland, was robbed of a large amount of government and Pacific Railroad bonds, Friday night.

In Philadelphia, Saturday, a peddler, to exhibit some patent oil which he claimed was non-explosive, poured some into an open dish and lighted it. It exploded, severely injuring two boys and a young lady named Oldham.

Lynn is probably growing as rapidly as any city in New England. A house a day through the year, is the present rate of increase in this city of 25,000 people.

A FRIENDLY CAUTION.—The Boston Recorder says:

New Hampshire having rejected the State Constabulary law, the State Temperance Committee are considering the expediency of running an independent ticket at the next election, with the hope of obtaining control of the legislature by distinct senatorial and representative tickets. It will be well first to consider very carefully, whether such a course would not hurt the cause politically rather than help it.

ROCKINGHAM AGR. SOCIETY.—At the Annual Meeting of the Exeter Agricultural Society — which was advertised and held in that town on Saturday, (the numerous stockholders in Portsmouth and vicinity receiving no official notice of the meeting or invitation to attend,) Darius Towle of Kingston presided.

The report of the Treasurer shows the receipts at the Fair held this season (including $156 from the previous Treasurer) to have been $2,114; expenditures, $1,846; cash on hand, $267. It was stated that this was the first Fair held for years that did not involve a loss. This year, the net profit of the Fair was $111.

It was voted that the number of directors be increased from five to seven. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

President—Darius Towle, Kingston.
Vice-Presidents—Benjamin F. Haley, Newmarket; W. Norris Dow, Epping; George W. Sanborn, East Kingston; James R. Leavitt, North Hampton;
Secretary—Andrew J. Hoyt, Exeter.
Treasurer—Jacob Carlisle, Exeter.
Directors—Charles E. Smith, South Newmarket; John S. Bennett, Newmarket; J. Frank Lawrence, Epping; Henry P. Wingate, Stratham; Ezra Currier, Fremont; Gideon Webster, Kingston; Harrison Rowe, Kensington.

The News Letter says: "Some discussion was had, pointed towards retrenchment in expenses, but we think it was the opinion of most persons present that the running expenses could be made but little if any smaller. A thorough investigation and comparison with the transactions of the past would demonstrate this beyond cavil or dispute. Remarks were made upon the subject of admission fees and free or complimentary tickets, and motions were made in favor of certain restrictions, but these motions were lost and the whole subject left to the Executive Board. There was a general manifestation of satisfaction at the course taken by the Board in charging all persons, members included, an admittance fee, thus barring out fraud. The meeting passed a resolve in favor of holding a Fair on the 13th, 14th, and 15th days of September, 1870, the place to be designated by the Executive Board."

James Dunn, who some years ago lived in Manchester, but recently at Great Falls, left his wife with a babe only six weeks old, and for some time past has been living in Manchester with one Annie Jones, in direct violation of the law. The true and lawful wife, who has been at work for $1 a week, in a Great Falls hotel, went to Manchester in pursuit of her husband, who she heard was living with Miss Jones. She succeeded in finding him and obtaining sufficient evidence to convict him of adultery, and then reported to the Marshal's office. An officer found Dunn and took him to the station. Here he had an opportunity to be confronted by his true and lawful wife, a good looking Scotch lady, and to feel the upbraiding which an injured woman can administer.—The case was heard before the Police Court, and both held for trial.

As Hon. Aurin M. Chase and wife were near Whitefield, driving at a smart pace, the bolt uniting the body of the carriage with the forward axle broke, letting the front of the carriage drop to the ground. Mr. and Mrs. Chase were pitched out head-foremost to the frozen ground. Mr. C., who is a very heavy man, was hurt on the left side, and Mrs. C. had her face badly mutilated, her right wrist dislocated and the arm broken just above the wrist.

A dwelling house owned and rented by James Flynn on Stratham road was destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning about 3 o'clock. The occupants saved a bed and some crockery. All else was consumed. Loss about $300. No insurance. The fire was plainly seen from this city.

Dea. Moses Cheney and wife of Ashland have spent fifty-seven Thanksgivivg together.

—The theological argument in support of the gallows is twofold: 1. The old Mosaic injunction of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and blood for blood; 2. That in view of the death penalty to which one is convicted, he generally becomes very penitent, contrite, prayerful for forgiveness, and thus prepares his soul for eternal felicity; and when he escapes the gallows by the commutation of his sentence to imprisonment, all his pious feelings are dissipated, and he relapses into his former evil habits; therefore, humanity suggests the prompt hanging of the pious convict, in order that he may make his exit to the eternal world under the favor of saving grace.

☞ The schooner E. C. Morrison of Eastport — 50 tons—from Portsmouth for Portland, was abandoned by her crew Saturday night, it being feared she would go ashore on Cushing's Island, having parted both anchors and was drifting rapidly toward a rocky shore. The crew were picked up by another schooner. The vessel did not go ashore, however, and was secured by wreckers and carried into Portland with her rigging badly damaged.

CONSUMPTION.

The Three Remedies, "SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP," for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and every form of Consumption. The peculiar action of this medicine ripens the ulcer in the lungs, promotes the discharge of the corrupt matter by expectoration, purifies the blood, and thus cures Consumption, when every other remedy fails.

"SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC," for the cure of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and all diseases arising from debility. This tonic invigorates the digestive organs, supplies the place of the gastric juice when that is deficient, and then enables the patient to digest the most nutritious food. It is a sovereign remedy for all cases of indigestion.

"SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS," one of the most valuable medicines ever discovered, being a vegetable substitute for calomel, and having all the useful properties ascribed to that mineral, without producing any of its injurious effects.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of Pulmonic Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter, discharges it, and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, remove all obstructions therefrom, give the organ a healthy tone, and cure Liver Complaint, which is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption. The Seaweed Tonic invigorates the powers of the stomach, and by strengthening the digestion and bringing it to a normal and healthy condition improves the quality of the blood, by which means the formation of ulcers or tubercles in the lungs becomes impossible. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of Consumption, if the remedies are used in time, and the use of them is persevered in sufficiently to bring the case to a favorable termination.

Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing a full treatise on the various forms of disease, his mode of treatment, and general directions how to use his medicine, can be had gratis or sent by mail by addressing his Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-Weed Tonic, each, $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen; Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. ddlm.

The Pain Killer is sold by all Druggists and dealers in Family Medicines.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Notes for December, addressed to the Feeble and Debilitated.

This is a trying season for invalids, indeed for all who are not blessed with robust constitutions and iron frames.

Cold has come upon us suddenly, sealing up the open pores, and sealing in as it were, any seeds of disease that may have been lurking in the system, but which remained dormant so long as the waste matter of the body and all acid and unwholesome humors were freely discharged by evaporation from the surface and through the pores.

A tonic, aperient and alterative medicine is now needed to invigorate the vital powers depressed by low temperature; to stimulate and purify the secretions, and to fit the body to endure, without inconvenience, pain or danger, the sudden climatic change which ushers in the Winter.

The only preparation which will fully meet this almost universal need, and will thoroughly and safely perform the important work, is the leading tonic and alterative of the age, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This popular specific improves the appetite, invigorates the digestive organs, regulates the flow of bile, enriches the blood, calms the nerves, relieves constipation, promotes superficial circulation and evaporation, and being composed solely of wholesome vegetable elements, with a pure stimulant for their diffusive vehicle, may be taken by the weakest without fear. The flavor is agreeable, for although the BITTERS are a potent medicine, they contain no nauseating element.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its reputation became far and wide; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON.

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,
Capt. D. FOSTER.

Capt. FOSTER is a ship owner and builder, residing at Port Burwell, Canada.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obtained. A vegetable preparation of alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of calomel that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this pleasant remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the debilitated are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Wholesale agent, John F. HENRY, No. 8 College Place, New York City.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. o1

FRIGHTFUL DEVELOPMENTS!

At last the people have got the fact "through their hair," that hair dyes impregnated with acetate of lead and other metallic salts are

MURDEROUS PREPARATIONS.

When they see the metallic sediment at the bottom of the bottles, they know that the disease they have purchased thickened with Poison. They ask therefore, for a

Harmless Vegetable Dye,

and find it, pure and efficacious, in

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

offered under the sanction of Professor Chilton's guarantee that it contains "nothing deleterious." CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. Try it. 1md&cwo1

MARRIAGE GUIDE,

Being a private instructor for married persons or those about to be married, both male and female, in everything concerning the physiology and relations of our sexual system, and the production and prevention of offspring, including all the new discoveries in literature before given in the English language, by WM. YOUNG, M. D. This is really a valuable and interesting work. It is written in plain language for the general reader, and is illustrated with numerous Engravings. All young married people, or those contemplating marriage, and being the least impediment to married life, should read this book. It discloses secrets that every one should be accquainted with; still it is a book that must be locked up and not left about the house. It will be sent to any address on receipt of 50 cents. Address, Dr. WM. YOUNG, No. 416 Spruce street, above Fourth, Philadelphia.

☞ AFFLICTED AND UNFORTUNATE.—No matter what may be your disease, before you place yourself under any one of the notorious QUACKS—native and foreign—who advertise in this or any other paper, get a copy of Dr. Young's Book and read it carefully. HARLEY NEWCOMB,

OF BOSTON, WILL GIVE A

GRAND CONCERT,

AT THE TEMPLE,

On THURSDAY Evening, Dec. 9th.

The Artists engaged for this concert (which is one of the series of M'lle Alide Topp's farewell Concerts) are of the highest order, and the opportunity offered the people of Portsmouth to hear such talent as is rarely heard inside of our largest cities should be appreciated.

M'LLE ALIDE TOPP, acknowledged the greatest pianist in the world.

MISS HENRIETTA BEEBE, of New York, Soprano, a general favorite in New York Musical Circles.

MISS JENNIE E. BULL, of New York, Mezzo-Soprano. The New York Musical Review says: To an exquisite voice Miss Bull adds the charm of beauty and loveliness of person.

Mr. M. ARBUCKLE, the great Cornet Soloist

Mr. J. A. HOWARD, a thorough accompanist.

No pains will be spared to make this Concert the greatest musical success of the season, and the Director hopes that the taste and good judgement of the people of Portsmouth will not allow the great Alide Topp to visit here for the first and only time she appears, (as she soon returns to Germany,) without a generous recognition. Although the expenses of these concerts are very great, the price of admission is placed within reach of all.

ADMISSION 50 cents; Reserved seats 75 cents—to be had at PRESTON'S, Congress Block, TRACHER'S Market Square, and at the Hall, Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 6 and 7.

☞ Gallery reserved for Children of Schools, at 30 cents each.

The concert grand piano used is from the celebrated makers Messrs. George Steck & Co., New York. n27

THE INDIAN DOCTOR

DR. L. CONGDON,

THE NARRAGANSETT

INDIAN PHYSICIAN!

Has taken Rooms

At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,

Where he will remain

Until December 28th.

He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the

and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung diseases, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, unless by their request. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and not let modesty fail you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

Also DR. CONGDON'S

which has such a far-famed reputation from east to west; the same remedy he used upon the Fair Ground for the permanent cure of Deafness, Neuralgia and Rheumatic Pains, &c., which can be had at his Office or of all Druggists.

THE OLD LIGHTNIGG ROD.—Messrs. Editors:—You corrected the errors about the old organs, &c.—Allow me to correct another, as to the first Lightning Rod, put up by Dr. Franklin, in Portsmouth. This was not on the Governor Langdon House, which was not built at the time, but on the Jonathan Warner (brick) House in Daniel street, which house is now occupied by heirs and descendants of the Warner and Sherburne families. X.

Communication.

MR. HARLEY NEWCOMB deserves the thanks of the music loving people of our city for giving them an opportunity of attending, at home, such an entertainment as we are wont to go to Boston or New York for. Such celebrities as he is to bring, seldom deign to visit the smaller cities and towns. The world wide reputation of M'lle Alide Topp as the greatest pianist in the world, is still undiminished. Mr. Arbuckle needs no word of introduction, or commendation. Many of our citizens saw and heard him at the Peace Festival. The other artists of the company have been received in a very flattering manner by the public of our largest cities.

C. L. O.

MONDAY'S SNOW STORM was a creditable one, as far as quantity and quality were concerned. It came with a northeast wind, which whirled it merrily 'round. Monday night was a festive occasion for the wind-god, and the pranks he played "till morning light appeared" could better be imagined by somnolently disposed individuals, than described. The gentle zephyrs howled and moaned, shook old houses and rattled windows and blinds right merrily. The early risers looked upon an unbounded waste of pure white, which had spread o'er hill and dale. If such a scene of beauty does not awaken silent praise in the heart of him who witnesses it, he hath no "sweet hopes of glory" in his soul.

The freight train over the P. S. & P. R. R. arrived here Tuesday morning, at 4 oclock, several hours late. Conductor Philbrick's early morning train started for Boston on time, at 6.15, but ran into a snow bank near the Hayes farm. A second engine, with a snow-plough ahead, followed, but stopped in time to prevent damage; but a third engine, with a smoking and baggage car attached, ran into the second one and drove it with considerable force into the helpless train, and smashed things generally; but as Philbrick's train had no passenger cars attached, no great damage was done. The track was afterwards cleared in season for the 8.25 upward train from Portland to go through at 10 o,clock. The Boston train arrived here at 11.40 A. M., and the other trains were only an hour late. The Concord trains were on time.

THE WORST FALL.—Our readers may remember that in one of the great storms several weeks ago, many meeting houses were damaged, and some entirely blown down. Among the latter was the orthodox Congregational meeting house in Malden, Mass., which had just been repaired at great cost.

This was, of course, a sore affliction to the Church and Society; but now they have something vastly worse, viz., that their minister, Rev. Chas. E. Reed, who has been their pastor twelve years, has been committing unnatural crimes for years and years, with little boys of his congregation, who were invited to his house for instruction and amusement.

Reed has been a popular preacher, and was last year chaplain of the Senate in Massachusetts. He has fled, leaving behind an estimable wife and three children.

New Hampshire Items.

The Dover Weavers are still striking—but not a blow of work, though plenty of the other sort of blowing. Jenny Collins has an association formed, to be known as the Workingwomen's League of Dover, to become a part of the National Labor Union, and the League will soon receive a charter. The Great Falls Journal says public sympathy was wholly on the side of the operatives, and the citizens came forward liberally in support of them. It is rumored that the directors have ordered the corporation closed until the operatives accede to the reduction. The strikers are, in good spirits, and assert that they will "fight it out on this line." But as most of the Mills in the country are losing money by running, we wonder how long before the strikers will get their point.

The hours of labor have been cut down to eight hours in Elwell's Furniture Shop, Concord, are from half-past seven o'clock to half-past four, with an hour's nooning, and a proportionate reduction of pay, as at Abbot & Downing's. Harvey, Morgan & Co. have not yet reduced their hours and will not for two months at least. They hope to continue on full hours and full pay all winter, and will do so if possible.

Abbot & Downing, at Concord are now finishing some carriages which are well worthy of mention, both as being of substantial make and elegant adornment. Among them is a pair of covered pony-express wagons for Brick Pomeroy's Democrat newspaper of New York, $350 each. A tremendous wagon is nearly finished for A. & W. Sprague of Providence, R. I. It is the largest and heaviest ever built by the firm. A number of mail carriages are in course of manufacture for Texas. Both seats are placed in the middle. A number of carriages for Australia are nearly packed. Two omnibuses, for the Ebbitt House, Washington, $900 each, nearly ready.

"A REPOSITORY OF FASHION, PLEASURE and INSTRUCTION."

HARPER'S BAZAR.

A supplement containing numerous full-sized patterns of useful articles accompanies the paper every fortnight, and occasionally an elegant Colored Fashion Plate.

HARPER'S BAZAR contains 16 folio pages of the size of HARPER'S WEEKLY, printed on superfine calender paper, and is published weekly.

Critical Notices of the Press.

HARPER'S BAZAR contain, besides pictures, patterns etc., a variety of matter of especial use and interest to the family: articles on health, dress, and literary matter of all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is interest and instruct; and it has besides, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is no surprising that the journal, with such features has achieved in a short time an immense success—for something of its kind is desired by thousand of families, and its publishers have filled the demand. The young lady who buys a single number of HARPER'S BAZAR is made a subscriber for life.—New York Evening Post.

The BAZAR is excellent. Like all the periodicals which the Harpers publish, it is almost ideally well edited, and the class of readers for whom it is intended—the mothers and daughters in average families—can not but profit by its good sense and good taste, which, we have no doubt, are to-day making very many homes happier than they may have been before the women began taking lessons in personal and household and social management from this good natured mentor.—The Nation.

It has the merit of being sensible, of conveying instruction, of giving excellent patterns in every department, and well stocked with good reading-matter.—Watchman and Reflector.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

Since closing the GREAT CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD LOAN, which meets all these requirements, we have carefully examined many others, but have found no other which would fully do so, until the following was placed in our hands:

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 150 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety, and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken. Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others subject to check at sight, and allow interest of daily balances. 1md&wn22

DUTY.

From the Meriden (Conn.) Recorder.
Concluded.

"James, I have a plan to propose to you, though you may not second it, and indeed I do not know if it be right or best," said Martha to him one night, "William Stillson, you know, has loved me from the time we were children together, and has always been a warm friend to me, even after I refused him. In these days of anxiety and prospective want, he has offered me again himself and his lovely home. I respect him, James, but you have my heart and he knows it. All rests with you. Shall I marry him, and thus free you from what must necessarily be a burden?"

James could not answer, and when she put her cheek upon his, and held his hand, he said, "Oh, Martha, I cannot give you up!"

"My will is yours," she said, and kissed him good night.

It troubled him after he came home. She might be so comfortable with William, so cramped with him. His duty was plain before him. He took a pen and paper, and hastily wrote,

"MY MARTHA:—I release you! I know what is best for you! Marry William, and be happy. There is no other course. I shall be happy, because you are. My blessing go with you!
YOUR JAMES."

Four weeks after, Martha, a woman through her sufferings, and true to her womanhood in acting honestly, gave her hand to William Stillson, promising to be his faithful wife. James heard the words that separated them forever, and seemed to grow stronger for his duties at home. He never visited her, but when she bore a beautiful boy to her husband he felt that he might love the child, and this wee one became his plaything for many a month, 'till they moved to a distant part of the country. Then, for the first time, though he missed the boy and the sweet face of the mother, he was no longer under restraint. He could have her in his thoughts better than in sight.

Many a year went by quietly, even happily to James, for we find our highest happiness in doing our daily duties. He had earned his mother and sister a lovely home, which is much for any man single handed to do; was respected in the community, well read through his industry and perseverance, and a genial and good principled citizen.

Nellie had married a widower with several motherless children, and she was doing for others what had been done for her. Then the good mother, when her time was fully come, died and was buried, and James was left alone.

Everybody supposed he would marry now; wondered why he was a bachelor! All the married ladies pitied him for daughters' sakes, and ladies of uncertain ages looked wistfully in his direction. An old lady kept his house neatly, while in books, and memories, and social converse, days went by rapidly.

One morning the house went through an extra cleaning and arranging. An old school friend, a bachelor like himself, was coming to spend several days with him, and the good housekeeper, a spinster herself, but old enough to be the mother of both of them, could not help feeling a little tremulousness with regard to the new comer. James secretly felt more than ordinary interest in his visiting, from the fact that Mrs. Stillson lived in the same place.

"I believe I have a friend in your vicinity," said James to his friend, the first evening at the supper table.

"Ah! I suppose some flame—a maiden lady about your age, probably!"

"No. A Mrs. Stillson, I refer to. We were very excellent friends when we were young."

"Indeed! Know her very well. Have done considerable law business for her since her husband's death. She has four children, and is in quite straitened circumstances."

James Matthews felt a sudden increase of circulation about his heart.

So she was free to wed him now if she would, he thought to himself. Now he could be a father to those children, and do for them all he had longed to do for her.

When the lawyer went home, much to his surprise, Mr. Matthews accompanied him.

The knock at Mrs. Stillson's door was answered by a bright, noble looking boy of eighteen. The mother, with the same sweet face as in her girlhood, was called in.

"Oh, James!" she said, and the tears gathered in her eyes. "I am so glad to see you once more."

Perhaps she thought he held her hand too long and earnestly, for a man who probably had a wife and children at home.

"I have thought," she added, "if I could only see you in our present circumstances, you might be induced to take our youngest, a boy of six, and adopt him as your own."

"Martha, may I take the boy, and take his mother with him?" said James Matthews, his heart almost too full for utterance.

The cheek was laid to his as in other days, and the old answer given, "Your will, James, is mine!"

He was satisfied now, with a happiness interwoven with it, that none know, except those who have waited long and been rewarded. The old housekeeper felt a little unpleasantly, when a lady and four children were so suddenly added to their family, but soon recovered her equilibrium, and did everything possible for their comfort, living with them till she died.

There was considerable gossip for a time. Everybody knew now, why he had not married earlier. The maiden ladies were quiet, the married ladies very polite, and James and Martha very happy in themselves, and in their children.

EXPOSURE OF THIEFTS IN CONCORD.—Much excitement was caused in Concord, on the forenoon of the 3rd inst., by a report that the greater part of the tools recently stolen from the carriage factory of S. M. Griffin, and a portion of the shoes stolen from the shoe shop of William B. Fairfield, both of Concord, were in the possession of Mr. Carroll Sanborn, a prosperous wheel-wright in that city. The City Marshal investigated the matter, and arrested Sanborn at his shop. The accused confessed at once that he had committed both robberies, produced most of the stolen tools, and being taken to his house, brought forward a portion of the shoes he had taken. Being granted permission to step into an adjoining room to get the rest, he succeeded in making his escape, leaping a high wall in so doing. The police have made every effort to recapture him, but up to the evening of the 5th the search has been useless. Sanborn is about 40 years old, has a wife and three children, and was doing quite a large business in his legitimate trade.

He is a native of Alexandria, served in one of the New Hampshire regiments, and was wounded in the foot at Fredericksburg. It is said that in early life he shot a sister dead, in a fit of passion, and that he once broke into a store in Bristol.

Subsequent examinations of Sanborn's house and shop revealed a "large and varied assortment" of stolen property, showing that he has long made a regular business of theft. Among the articles were a half barrel of pork, a jar of butter and several cans of preserves, stolen on the evening of the 2nd inst., from the house of Mrs. Mary C. Atkinson; a harness, stolen last winter from Asa Parker; a number of things stolen from James B. Fellows a year ago; property stolen from Hon. Ira A. Eastman and Abel Hutchins; and a variety of unclaimed articles, silver door-knobs, &c. It is now suspected that the Stewart house-breaking, and the robberies on the premises of Capt. Robert Thompson, James Robinson and Mrs. Bodwell, were all committed by Sanborn.

This wholesale thief has borne a good reputation in Concord, and the discovery of his depredations excites great surprise. It is said that Mrs. Sanborn fainted away when informed of her husband's guilt.

New Hampshire Items.

The Rochester Courier says a prominent Adventist of Gonic village stepped out last week, leaving sundry mourning creditors. It is not supposed he has gone to the New Jerusalem, but rather to Canada, that haven of weak-kneed patriots.

Mrs. Fanny Morse, of Weare, one hundred years old on the 12th day of last March, is still in good health.

Mrs. Dorcas Rice, of Jaffrey, will be one hundred years old on the 10th inst; she sees and hears well, and is active and neat.

In Manchester at about five o'clock, last night, as Mr. Flanders, teamster, was coming out of the Stark, with a team of three horses attached to a heavy wood wagon, the animals, excited by the cars, could not be held, but dashed across the track, receiving a stroke of the engine, which separated the leader from the wheel horses, letting him run on in safety, while the other horses, wagon and driver were carried some rods and hurled against the fence, and were piled up in a frightful manner. Mr. F. escaped unharmed, and his horses appeared to be but little injured.

Mr. Gannon's shoe shop in Candia, was broken open on Thursday night, and ten pairs of shoes stolen.

In Conway, Mr. George Whiting and Mr. John Wood, were skating on the mill-pond. Wood saw two large air-holes and turned out of his course to avoid them. Mr. Whiting was behind, and thinking the ice looked safe between the two holes, tried to catch up by keeping in a direct course. Mr. Wood heard a cry and looking back saw Whiting in the water. He did not lose his presence of mind, but with the aid of a long pole managed to get Whiting on the firm ice, after sinking twice, in a half-frozen condition.

The Town of Raymond has laid out a new burying ground of 6 acres, north of the road leading to Epping, bounded on the east by Lamprey River. The land is undulating and admirably adapted for the purposes to which it is to be appropriated. Two acres are to be for the general public, the remainder sold in lots to families, the proceeds of which it is estimated will go far towards the purchase and fencing expenses.

W. W. Taylor of Kingston manufactured in September 7,072 pairs of shoes, and the Messrs. Clifford 6,240 pairs. These manufacturers make four-fifths of all that are made in that town. The shoes are cut and made ready for workmen in Haverhill, to which place they are returned.

The News Letter says, "within a few days parties in Exeter and in Boston have been 'buying up' the stock of the Exeter Foundry and Machine Company. What the ostensible object of this movement is, is best known to the buyers themselves."

Dover Landing is losing one of its ancient landmarks — the store formerly and last occupied by Mr. Mellen was sold to Richard Rothwell for $80, to be moved to Young's wharf, to make a machine shop. It is probably about one hundred years old. On the opposite side of the street is the Hale building, which dates back to 1786; Geo. F. Rollins & Co., still hang out as good as new. While strolling around in that section, the Gazette editor was shown a precious morceau in the shape of a log book, worthy of Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner," of a voyage of the good brig Gustavus, F. F. Blunt, master, in 1798, from Portsmouth to the West Indies. It is a rare old gem and should be put in the public archives.

The Courier figures that Rochester would save enough on grain and flour in ten years by the building of the railroads from that place to that city and Nashua, to pay back the appropriation by the town for building said roads.

A recent reduction in the pay of the Farmington shoemakers caused a total cessation of work for four days. The old prices are now paid, as the bosses concluded to cave in.

Five brothers named Benj. S., Bradbury C., John B., Yelman and Samuel J. Tuttle, at a recent meeting in Lake Village, got weighed, and found the sum total of their averdupois to be nine hundred and twenty-nine pounds and a half.

BEST CABINET ORGANS,
AT LOWEST PRICES
That the MASON & HAMLIN CABINET and METROPOLITAN ORGANS are the best in the world is proved by the almost unanimous opinion of professional musicians, by the award to them of SEVENTY-FIVE GOLD and SILVER MEDALS or other highest premiums, at principal industrial competitions within a few years, including the MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION and by a sale very much greater than that of any similar instruments. The Company manufacture only FIRST-CLASS INSTRUMENTS, and will not make "cheap organs" at any price, or suffer an inferior instrument to bear their name. Having greatly increased their facilities for manufacture by the introduction of new machinery and otherwise, they are now making BETTER ORGANS than EVER BEFORE, at increased economy in cost, which, in accordance with their fixed policy of selling always at least remunerative profit, they are now offering at prices inferior work. FOUR OCTAVE ORGANS, Plain, Walnut Case, $30. FIVE OCTAVE ORGANS Double Reed, Solid Walnut Case, carved and panneled, with FIVE STOPS (VIOLA, DIAPASON, MELODIA, FLUTE, TREMULANT), $125. Other styles in proportion.
Circulars with full particulars, including accurate drawings of the different styles of organs, and much information which will be of service to every purchaser of an organ, will be sent free and postage paid, to any one desiring them.

AROMATIC VEGETABLE SOAP,

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organs; it irritates neither the stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o216w

ANECDOTES OF DR. WEST. — It was Rev. Dr. Samuel West of (what is now) New Bedford, who once, as he was jogging along on horseback, met a friend on the road and said, "Ah! how d'e do? My wife and I are on our way to make a visit at your house." "Well, I'm very glad of it, very glad of it indeed," was the reply, "but I don't seem to see Mrs. West; where is She?" "She," replied the Doctor, turning round in his saddle in surprise; "why, I thought she was on the pillion behind me!" She had got herself ready to go with him, but in his absence of mind he had gone off without her. The same Dr. West,—whose first wife was Experience, a daughter of Consider Howland, and was a very tall woman—used to say that he had "learned from long Experience that it was a capital thing to be married."

On one occasion this same Dr. West called on Dr. Whitridge of Tiverton, R. I., and, just at the dusk of evening, mounted his horse to go home, when Dr. Whitridge walked out to the front gate bareheaded, to see him off. Just then a new topic of conversation was started, and the horse after walking a few steps stopped, and the talk continued. They kept on talking thus, until both were alarmed by what they took for a terrible conflagration in the East,—which, as they had extended their remarks through the whole night, turned out to be the break of day!—Recorder.

Secretary Robeson's Report.

The report of the Secretary of the Navy details at length the employment of vessels in active service, as follows: North Atlantic squadron, 12 vessels and 76 guns; South Atlantic squadron, 4 vessels and 43 guns; Pacific fleet, 14 vessels and 120 guns, including the frigate Guerriere, now fitting out at New York; European squadron, 6 vessels and 106 guns; Atlantic squadron, 10 vessels and 75 guns.

The commanding officer of the South Atlantic squadron has been directed, while preserving strict neutrality between the contending forces in Cuba, to permit no injustice to citizens of the United States, to prevent interference with our commerce, and at once to repel and punish any disrespect or violation of our flag.

The other squadrons all need reinforcements, and the action of Congress is invoked for means for largely adding to their efficiency. The service needs, says the Secretary, and the position of our country requires, a great increase in the effective force of the Navy,—not so much in the number of ships that constitute it, but in the number and character of those employed. He recognizes the necessity for close economy in expenditure under the present circumstances of the country, but the Naval expenses make but a small part of the national appropriations, and the true wealth of the country will not be increased by neglecting the means of national safety, nor money saved by refusing adequate protection to commercial enterprise.

The Secretary earnestly urges the propriety of commencing at once the building of sea-going iron-clads suitable to cruise on foreign stations, and able to protect our commerce and vindicate our principles in any emergency. This will ultimately require no less than ten, and without attempting to build them all at once, should commence immediately on four, one for the Asiatic, one for the Pacific and two for the European squadron.—He recommends that plans for boilers and engines for these vessels be submitted by persons outside of the navy, the best of which may be adopted. These with some additions to our wooden vessels, and proper employment of such effective ships as we now have, and with our monitors and torpedoes for harbor defence, will give us the nucelus of a navy sufficient to command respect abroad, and to afford time in case of sudden war to organize and apply the resources of our country and energies of our people.

The Secretary also urges that the monitors be provided with additional armor and the late harbor improvements in ordnance for harbor defence; and means be given for the protection of the system of submarine torpedoes; that a large number of costly vessels and a vast amount of expensive machinery now on hand and unadapted to the naval service be sold; that inducements should be held out to our merchants and shipbuilders to build ocean steamers on plans approved by the Navy Department, subject in case of necessity to be taken by the Government at an appraised value. The improvement of Navy Yards and the building of more dry docks are recommended, as is the refitting of the Pensacola Yard; a great increase in the capacity of Mare Island Yard; the immediate commencement of work at League Island, in Deleware river, and at New London; an increase in the size of the Gosport Yard and the establishment of another yard on the Southern Atlantic coast; passage of a stringent law for the protection of the timber lands, and the adoption of measures for an increase of the personnel of the Navy including the training of boys, education of men for warrant and petty officers and the registration of all seamen in the United States.

The estimates for next year are made on the basis of twelve thousand men—an increase of four thousand—which it is hoped will be approved. The actual expenditures for the year ending Dec. 1, are $20,081,295. The estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1871, are $28,205,671.

The Dover Gazette says concerning the strike: We go in for fair play and no gouging, and think that the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., in view of their present position, with $150 on a share paid back to the stockholders within a year or two past, the present value of their stock at the board, which is $750 —$250 above par—the past fat dividends of $80 per share, 16 per cent, and the hundreds of thousands of dollars expended in new machinery and additional buildings—we say, in view of these facts, the Directors can afford to be generous and not haggle with their poor, defenceless women for the cut down of 12 per cent.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The democrats of Springfield elected William L. Smith to the office of mayor on Monday, but the republicans elected five of the eight aldermen and will have a working majority in the lower board. Mrs. Randolph E. Ladd was chosen on the republican ticket for school committee. The Republican says that "there are several ways of putting the result of Monday's election. Perhaps the simplest and most truthful is to say that it was a triumph of the Boston and Albany Railroad." Ex-Governor Trask, hitherto a republican and a prominent prohibitionist, voted the democratic and "free-rum" ticket.

The municipal election held in New Bedford Monday was warmly contested, and resulted in a decided triumph for the party of prohibition, that principle being the point at issue. The vote for mayor (3467) is the largest ever cast in the city, by two hundred votes. George B. Richmond, who had been supported for the mayoralty twice before, is elected, having received 1776 to 1689 for his opponent, Mr. Hathaway, who was on the citizens' ticket. The prohibitionists also elected their candidates for aldermen and seven of the common councilmen.

In Fall River, Samuel M. Brown, republican, was reëlected mayor over Edward P. Buffinton, citizens' candidate, by about 300 majority.

In Taunton, Daniel L. Mitchell, liberal republican, was elected mayor over Judge Bennett, republican, by 210 majority.

In Lawrence, Mr. Melvin, democrat, was elected mayor over Atkinson, republican, by 153 majority.

CONSUMPTION.

The Three Remedies, "SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP," for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and every form of Consumption. The peculiar action of this medicine ripens the ulcer in the lungs, promotes the discharge of the corrupt matter by expectoration, purifies the blood, and thus cures Consumption, when every other remedy fails.

"SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC," for the cure of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and all diseases arising from debility. This tonic invigorates the digestive organs, supplies the place of the gastric juice when that is deficient, and then enables the patient to digest the most nutritious food. It is a sovereign remedy for all cases of indigestion.

"SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS," one of the most valuable medicines ever discovered, being a vegetable substitute for calomel, and having all the useful properties ascribed to that mineral, without producing any of its injurious effects.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of Pulmonic Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter, discharges it, and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, remove all obstructions therefrom, give the organ its healthy tone, and cure Liver Complaint, which is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption.—The Seaweed Tonic invigorates the powers of the stomach, and by strengthening the digestion and bringing it to a normal and healthy condition improves the quality of the blood, by which means the formation of ulcers or tubercles in the lungs becomes impossible. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of Consumption, if the remedies are used in time, and the use of them is persevered in sufficiently to bring the case to a favorable termination.

Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing a full treatise on the various forms of disease, his mode of treatment, and general directions how to use his medicine, can be had gratis or sent by mail by addressing his Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Preparatory Medication.

The human system, the most delicate and sensitive of all created things, should be duly prepared to meet the shock occasioned by a sudden change in the temperature of the air. Even the solid metals contract and expand under cold and heat—so that if man were composed of iron, instead of frail tissues and fibres, circulating fluids and brittle osseous matter, his frame would not be proof against the vicissitudes of climate. As it is, it behooves every one, especially the feeble, to fortify the frail tenement of mortality against the inclemency of the present season. A wholesome strength-supplying vegetable tonic and alterative is the preparatory medicine required, and among medicinal agents of this character, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stand supreme. In a successful career of nearly a quarter of a century, the preparation has never been equalled or approached, and its sales are now larger than those of any half dozen articles, purporting to belong to the same class, that has ever been advertised in this country. As a remedy and preventive of DYSPEPSIA, and all its complications, it may be said to have lived down competition and to be the standard specific of the Western Hemisphere. A course of this genial restorative at the commencement of Winter is the surest safeguard against all the complaints which are caused or aggravated by exposure to cold. d9

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,
Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as pleasant to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two bitter vegetables, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede the nauseous and hazardous, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than Ten thousand of these Lozenges, which were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in itself, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy; and the irregularities to which the feeblest sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. o1

DR. L. CONGDON,

THE NARRAGANSETT

INDIAN PHYSICIAN!

Has taken Rooms

At the Franklin House, Portsmouth,

Where he will remain

Until December 28th.

He treats successfully all curable diseases to which the human system is subject.

DR. CONGDON was here eight weeks ago, and remained only one week, and performed some of the Most Remarkable Cures Ever Known! and now, by request of some of the most prominent citizens, he has returned.

DR. CONGDON'S medicines are purely vegetable, gathered from the hills and valleys which have long been the haunts of the red man. He has had great success in Providence for the last ten years. Dr. Congdon has had cases where others thought there was no hope, such as consumption, dropsy, asthma, bronchitis, lung disease, coughs, liver complaints, female complaints, &c., which he has taken, and his treatment has made perfect cures.

He takes none under his treatment whom he cannot cure, unless by their request. His office has been thronged with patients wherever he has made stops this season. Give him a call, for his advice is free, and not let modesty fail you, for he treats diseases that afflict both sexes.

Communication.

☞ Altho' the attempt to furnish our Citizens with a course of public lectures was a failure, we are glad to know that the young men of the Mercantile are so successful in securing some of our best native taleut to appear before that Institution. The only regret is that the attendance must be limited to the capacity of the Hall where they hold their weekly meetings, as the entertainments are free. Long live the Mercantile. L.

☞ A friend, who has just visited Hampton Academy, makes the following notes of its present condition. Hampton Academy, which was established in 1810, is in a prosperous condition, under the care of Rev. D. W. C. Durgin, the Principal, and Miss S. Jennie Chase, of Newfield, the Preceptress. The number of students attending the present term is nearly 70. By the munificence of the late Christopher S. Toppan, Esq., of this city, this institution has a fund used to confer scholarships on meritorious students.

SALEM, Dec. 8.

MR. HARLEY NEWCOMB.—Dear Sir; We employ this means to extend to you an expression of our opinion in regard to your eminently satisfactory Concert. We believe it is fully endorsed by every person who was present, and we freely assert that no concert has been given in this city for many years so meritorious, and we most cordially recommend your entertainment to all lovers of music.

We thank you most heartily for favoring us with this visit, and allow us to express the hope that you may soon favor us again. We assure you of our most cordial support, and believe that the citizens of Salem will generously sustain you. Trusting that you may meet with the success you richly deserve, we are, most truly,

Your obdt' servants,

For the Chronicle.

☞ All who attended the last Assembly of the P. I. W. A. Society agree that it was a complete success, in the company assembled, the music and the order of dances. The latter has given satisfaction to all, for though every alternate dance is a fancy one, yet there is the usual number of plain dances, so that all have an equal chance for enjoyment. Mr. Cushing, the band-leader, promises to bring out some new fancy-dance music this (Thursday) evening, and Irving Hall will be as pleasant a place to spend a few hours in as can be found.

The C. B. B. Club, whose parties now rank among the leading assemblies of the season, announce their fifth dance at Congress Hall on Tuesday eve'g, Dec. 14, under the entire management of the lady members, who gave such satisfaction on a previous occasion, that at the request of many they have kindly consented again to officiate. A magnificent Silver Medal is being made in Boston (and will be on exhibition in the window of Mr. W. I. Trafton's store on Friday,) to present to the best fancy-dancer among the ladies on that occasion. The dances assigned for trial are the Waltz, Polka, Varsouvienne and Redowa, and no partiality will be shown to any competitor for the honor and the prize. H. L. Loo.

☞ Auction of nice Furniture, Piano, &c., at house No. 28 Cabot St., this morning, by Mr. Wendell. See advertisement.

☞ There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Committee of the G. A. R. Fair at the music room of Mr. E. A. Tilton on Daniel Street, Friday afternoon. All who are willing to aid in the good cause are invited to be present. Work will be given out to all who desire it.

A NEW DAILY.—The Committee having in charge the coming Fair have decided to issue a daily during the fair. Parties wishing to insert advertisements will please leave them with Mr. Daniel J. Vaughan. Terms, $3 a square for each insertion, cash in advance.

☞ The Concert for this evening has been so thoroughly put before the people, and the great merits of the performers are so well known that we shall only add, that if such an entertainment does not prove attractive and popular with the musical public, it is hard to select one that would. Seven first-class artists, (for list of whom see advertisement,) will take part in the varied and rich programme.

☞ Mr. Frank W. Robinson announces that the late issue of his little Gem newspaper, will be the last number as he is too busy to devote the time necessary even for such a miniature sheet. Few persons except those who have tried it, are aware how great is the labor of getting up a paper. The Gem has been a very nice little publication, and its issue reflects much credit on Mr. Robinson as an amateur printer, for his good taste and industry.

4. The North British Review,

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
November 8, 1869.

To Our Customers and Correspondents:

The surprising development of our national resources and the rapidity with which the government is now enabled to reduce the national debt, by weekly purchases, render it apparent that the time is approaching when the Five-Twenty Bonds may be funded at not over four or four and a half per cent interest.

Meanwhile their high price, as compared with other classes of securities paying an equal rate of interest, is leading to general inquiry for more profitable forms of investment in which money may be safely invested.

During the war the necessities and perils of the government, and the consequent cheapness of its securities, rendered them so attractive that, from this cause, combined with the patriotic faith of the people in their safety, they absorbed almost the entire floating capital of the country, and diverted attention from other classes of securities which had before been deemed sufficiently conservative and sound to meet the wants of the most cautious investors.

The government is no longer a borrower. It no longer needs the country's capital, but desires gratefully and honorably to repay it.

The rapid accumulation of capital for investment, and the reduction of the national credit—rendering it certain that hereafter but a comparatively low rate of interest can be derived from investment in government bonds—is compelling the search for other safe and well-guarded channels into which capital not employed in business may wisely flow.

The enterprises of Peace, no less needful in their time and place, for the common welfare, than were the waste and cost of War, now call for the capital which the government no longer needs, and offer for its use a remuneration which the government need no longer pay, and in some cases a security as stable and enduring as the faith of the nation itself.

The desire to capitalize the premium which may now be realized upon Five-Twenty bonds, and which a material decline in Gold toward par, and the ability of the Government to fund them at a lower rate of interest, may at any time extinguish, is felt by many holders who desire some satisfactory assurance as to which of the many lower-priced securities in the market would afford the necessary safety to justify an exchange.

The applications for information and advice which are addressed to us daily, show how universal is the desire for this assurance, as to what forms of investment more profitable than Government securities at present market rates, are entitled to the confidence of investors.

The pressure of this want has led us to feel the importance of directing our own attention as bankers, our large experience, and our facilities for obtaining reliable information—to the work of supplying it in some measure, and to offer the results of our inquiries to those who may be disposed to confide in our good faith and judgment.

We are unwilling to offer to our friends and the public anything which according to our best judgment is not as secure as the national obligations themselves, with which we have hitherto principally identified ourselves.

Since closing the GREAT CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD LOAN, which meets all these requirements, we have carefully examined many others, but have found no other which would fully do so, until the following was placed in our hands:

FIRST MORTGAGE

SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

OF THE

WESTERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

OF CALIFORNIA.

The Western Pacific Railroad, connecting Sacramento with San Francisco, furnishes the final link in the extraordinary fact of an unbroken line of rail from the shore of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific.

It is 159 miles in length, including a short branch, and it will be the

METROPOLITAN LINE

OF THE PACIFIC COAST,

connecting its chief cities, and traversing the garden of the rich and growing State of California, receiving, in addition to an immense and lucrative local traffic, the through business over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads—between the Eastern States and Sacramento.

It is completed, fully equipped, and in successful operation, and its earnings in October, the first full month, amounted to $105,000 in coin. The net earnings will, by a moderate estimate, amount to $600,000 per annum, in coin, while the interest on its Bonds will be but $168,000.

The value of the property and franchises is not less than

and the amount of the mortgage is $2,800,000.

The bonds are of $1,000 each, have thirty years to run, and will be sold at

Ninety and Accrued Interest,

in currency. They are made payable, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST, IN GOLD COIN, in the city of New York. Coupons due January and July 1st.

The near approach of the time when the United States can probably fund the greater portion of its Six-per-cent. debt, is naturally causing inquiry for other forms of investment, which will afford satisfactory security with the same rate of interest. THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS must have an immense advantage over all other securities based upon merely local or uncompleted railroads, and may be held with as much confidence as government bonds, or as first-class mortgages on New York City property.

The loan is small in amount. Its claims to confidence are apparent. It will be rapidly taken, Bonds will be delivered as the orders are received.

Government bonds received at their full market value in exchange.

FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

We buy and sell Government Bonds and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others subject to check at sight, and allow interest of daily balances. 1md&wn22

MASONIC.—The Washington Republican has a glowing account of the observance of St. Andrew's Day in that city, by the Royal Arch Masons, at which among others, Hon. T. L. Tullock, formerly of Portsmouth, was called upon to answer to the following toast:—

"New Hampshire—The State where they build up Masonry on a granite foundation."

Mr. Tullock, Collector of internal revenue of Washington District, responded as follows:

In response to the toast complimentary to the Masons of New Hampshire, permit me to say they are distinguished for their constancy as well as for their fervency and zeal. Our brethren and companions in the old Granite State did not quail before the storm of anti-Masonry. The communication of many lodges and the convocation of chapters were not suspended, or their work seriously interrupted during that memorable period in our history. The din of the conflict in other States was heard and felt there, but the brethren, unawed and undismayed, pursued their regular avocations and maintained their integrity.

The Masons of New Hampshire have contributed by the emigration and activity of her well qualified sons, their full quota towards extending the Order and promoting its interests. The Masonic institutions at the capitol of the nation have been strengthened by many worthy travellers from afar. Among the accessions from the State in whose behalf I speak, I remember with pleasure many now living and others who have gone to that bourne from whence no traveller returns. Honorable mention should be made of Burnham, Libby, Upton, Baker, Whitney, Duren, Babbitt, and French of Bedford, who gather at our festive board—all good and true masons, who exemplify the principles of our order.

I will, however, only allude to the present, and notice with commendation our liberal host, the hospitable Bunker, who is always ready to abundantly serve us with refreshments and administer kind offices; our vivacious, gifted and indispensable co-worker, Mason, by name as well as by initiation, the toast-master on this interesting occasion; the chivalrous Duncan and Bullock, both ready to draw their swords in the cause of justice and the innocent; our most excellent companion, the veteran French, who participates in the festivities of the evening, also hails from New Hampshire.

He entered into life, and was brought to light among its hills; he was raised within its jurisdiction, and from thence passed into a more extended field of usefulness; promoted by his brethren, exalted by its teachings, he lectured on its mysteries, until we witness in him those knightly and courtly qualities becoming his marked proficiency. I was about to claim our distinguished visitor, Sir Knight Richardson, but Massachusetts holds him as her son, while New Hampshire cherishes and venerates the name and shields with pride the ancestral home.

Companions, the edifice reared by our ancient brethren is sublime in its vastness and durability—a structure designed by a grand artificer, founded upon a substantial basis, supported by pillars of transcendent beauty, adorned with designs of artistic grace and purity, standing eminent among the noble institutions of earth, commanding the admiration of the thoughtful and skillful craftsman, who, witnessing its symmetry and goodly adaptations, looks with pride and hope to its ultimate completion,—to the time when the cap-stone shall be brought forth with shoutings and with praise.

Companions, I rejoice in our prosperity. The present is promising; may our future be even more auspicious.

At the celebration of St. Andrew Society, also, next day, Mr. Tullock was called up, on the sentiment, "Scotland and Scotland's great men deserve our admiration and respect," and thus responded:

Mr. President, I am the son of a Scotchman who came to this country while yet a lad, about the year 1792, and became an experienced and successful navigator. I am, therefore interested in our Society, and in all that relates to Scotland. Its history is replete with heroic achievements of deep and thrilling interest. My heart warms in the presence of those whose sympathies are with my ancestral home, either by birth or origin. We are all proud of Scotland, and admire the intrepidity of her clans, the prowess of her chieftains and the renown of her sons.

We admire the songs of her bards, the writings of her men of genius and erudition, the piety and learning of her divines, the valor, frugality, industry and the many noble qualities which characterize her sons and daughters. May the St. Andrew Societies of America keep green and fragrant the memory of our ancestors, emulating their virtues, venerating their devotion and patriotism. May our society be instrumental in increasing additional interest and fraternal relations among the sons of Scotland, and their descendants who gather at the metropolis of the nation. I am gratified at our present prosperity, and may it be auspicious of our future. Strengthened by accessions, advanced in usefulness, influence and resources, may our membership fully realize the blessings for which the Society was instituted.

Two boys broke through the ice on a pond on Hanover common, in Manchester, on the 28th ult. They were fished out with considerable difficulty.

A MUSICAL FAMILY.—Fifty years ago Dr. Jacob B. Moore of Andover, was famous as a musician, poet and physician. Dr. Coffin Moore, the father of Jacob, was the physician who practiced medicine in Candia. Dr. Jacob Moore formed one of the earliest musical Societies in New Hampshire, and for him the first clarionet in the State was made. His wife, Mary, was an excellent soprano singer, and was of a musical family, the Eatons, in Candia. Their son Jacob B. Moore, was born at Andover, N. H., October 1797. He was noted in very early life for his studious habits, and entering the printing office of the Patriot at Concord soon, became famous as a writer, and after a while the partner of Isaac Hill, and married his sister.

Mr. Moore secured the respect of all by his industry; he attended strictly to his duties as an apprentice by day, and often burned the midnight lamp as an earnest student by night. Up to this period of his life he had manifested wonderful musical talent, was an excellent singer, and could play several instruments with much perfection. It was through his labors that the first Concord Band acquired its name and fame—a band which flourished for many years and their regular avocations and maintained their integrity.

An incident occurred while yet Mr. Moore was an apprentice, which at once ended his musical career, though he was ever as fond of music as one out of practice could be, and through life made it a point to foster music and encourage musicians and musical societise by most substantial contributions. During his apprenticeship Mr. Moore was frequently asked to play accompaniments for the voice by Mrs. Hill, and always willingly assented, though at times he would have desired to be excused on account of this interference with his studies and duties. On one evening Mr. and Mrs. Hill having many friends assembled, a dance was proposed, and Jacob was of course expected to furnish music. Piano-fortes were not then known in Concord and very few could play the violin. Young Moore, expecting what might be required of him, deliberately opened the stove door in the printing office, and before the invitation arrived, gave up his music and his violin and bow to the devouring element, fire! remarking that music though dear to him as life, must never be allowed to interfere with his other duties. When the call came, for him to play for dancing in the private parlor of Mrs. Hill, he truthfully returned answer that though sorry to disappoint her and the friends assembled, he had that day given up forever the practice of music, and had burned not only his music but his instrument; he never used another!

—An old gentleman died in Canterbury, Conn., the other day at the age of seventy-five, and was buried in a suit of clothes which he procured when a young man, and had constantly worn as a Sunday suit for more than half a century. He has been married four times, and on each occasion wore the same suit.

A Practical Farmer on Farming.

Col. D. M. Clough of Canterbury, N. H., who has this year raised two thousand bushels of Indian corn, gave the following talk at a farmers' meeting, which we copy from the Manchester Mirror:

My experience convinces me that we have upon our own farms the means of bringing them up to a bearing condition, if we only make use of those means. I don't wish to say anything to the detriment of those people who manufacture artificial fertilizers, but I do not believe we can bring up our poor farms with foreign manures; we must do it with muck, marl and the manure of hogs and cattle. I have brought up my farm by means of the resources I had upon it.

On land that for many years did not yield a ton of hay to the acre, I have cut three tons to the acre; and I have done it by the use of muck and marl. I think I can safely say, by experiment, that I would rather have one cord of muck, one cord of marl or clay and one cord of barnyard manure, well mixed by the hogs, than to have three cords of clear stable manure. I think I should reap more lasting benefit from it, on porous soil.

Now, in relation to phosphates, I have used them of different kinds, and I am satisfied that a little put in the hill to give corn an early start is very beneficial, and amply pays for the outlay. But my method of using it has been to somewhat dilute it. It takes so much time to go over a large field that I think I can hardly afford to put it in in a raw state. My course has been to go to the leachery and fill my cart half or two thirds full of leached ashes, and a quantity of plaster and lime, if I have any, put in a quantity of the phosphate, and mix and pulverize them together.

Then I take my cart upon the lot, and put the manure into the dropper. In this way I get a fertilizer that starts my corn early and gives me a good crop. I think this manure can be applied with less expense than we can apply manure in the old-fashioned way, in the hill. I think the cost and labor of manuring in the hill, in the old-fashioned way, would equal the cost of this phosphate and its preparation in the way I have described. That has been my experience. * * *

We need legislation for the promotion of the interests of agriculture. The power is in the hands of the farmers and mechanics. There is no need why our Legislature should come together and be controlled by lawyers and professional men. The power is in the hands of the farmers, if they will only exercise it, and we may have legislation that will benefit this important branch of industry, if we will only attend to it.

Instead of paying big premiums to the man who raises the best "trace" of corn, or the greatest crop of potatoes or anything else, the premiums should go to the man who has the best farm, from one end to the other. I have known men to get premiums whose fences were tumbling about in such a way that if you looked at them, you would have the night-mare when you went to sleep, unless you had a strong head. (Laughter and applause.) That is not what you want.

I would propose that instead of spending $20,000, or $30,000 a year for a militia that is not worth a snap, we appropriate the money for agricultural purposes; that we give premiums for the best farms, and have a Farming Bureau appointed or elected, and let them go and examine these premises through and through, let them see how the fences are, and let the man who has the best farm receive the highest premium. Let that $20,000 be divided in this way, and you will see an interest among farmers; you will begin to reap a reward for your labors, and your young men will begin to feel there is something in it. * * *

Now, our young men are having their attention turned to other employments. They are going West, and it has a fearful look. I hope, young men, you will put your hands to the plough, and say, "This is the way to do it." The road to competence through the farm is just as plain as the road to the mill or the meeting house. A life of industry and economy here on our hard soil is just as sure to bring a competency as the wheels of time to roll round.

I have pursued the business of farming from my boyhood, and if I were going to live my life over again, I would take that in preference to anything else. No matter whether stocks go up or down, you have got the heavens to send their showers down, and the sun to shine upon your land, and the earth to return the trust you commit to it. Depend upon it, young men, the man who tills the soil is the man who renders the most service to his fellow men. And, young men, do not be discouraged in this business. I recommend you to pursue farming. It is a most substantial and reliable business. The man who cultivates his fields, builds up his fences, cares for all he has, keeps everything moving in systematic order, gathers the harvest into his granaries, giving a portion to the poor—if any man shall hear the plaudit, "Well done, good and faithful servant," surely it is that man.

BEST CABINET ORGANS,
AT LOWEST PRICES
That the MASON & HAMLIN CABINET and METROPOLITAN ORGANS are the best in the world is proved by the almost unanimous opinion of professional musicians, by the award to them of SEVENTY-FIVE GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS or other highest premiums, at principal industrial competitions within a few years, including the MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION and by a sale very much greater than that of any similar instruments. The Company manufacture only FIRST-CLASS INSTRUMENTS, and will not make "cheap organs" at any price, or suffer an inferior instrument to bear their name. Having greatly increased their facilities for manufacture by the introduction of new machinery and otherwise, they are now making BETTER ORGANS than EVER BEFORE, at increased economy in cost, which, in accordance with their fixed policy of selling always at least remunerative profit, they are now offering at prices inferior work. FOUR OCTAVE ORGANS, Plain, Walnut Case, $36. FIVE OCTAVE ORGANS Double Reed, Solid Walnut Case, carved and panneled, with FIVE STOPS (VIOLA, DIAPASON, MELODIA, FLUTE, TREMULANT), $125. Other styles in proportion.
Circulars with full particulars, including accurate drawings of the different styles of organs, and much information which will be of service to every purchaser of an organ, will be sent free and postage paid, to any one desiring them.,
